This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. And on Pewabic Dock Front, Hancock, Mich.

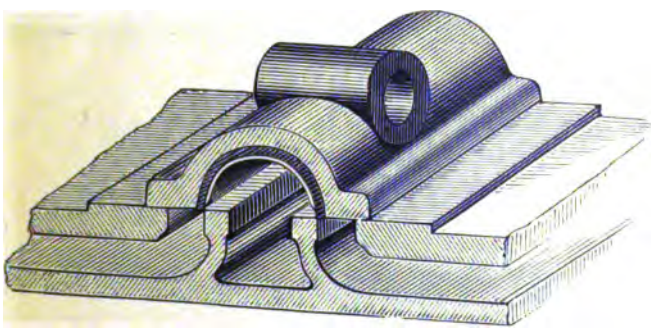
Proprietor (in part) and manufacturer of the Celebrated "TURNER IMPROVED STEAM VALVE."



Patented October 8th, 1872.

This important invention consists in conveying the exhaust steam from the back of the piston to the front, just before it has completed its stroke for the purpose of forming a cushion. The live steam usually employed is thereby saved, and the Engine passes the centres quietly and smoothly. This invention can be applied to existing Engines at a small cost beyond the royalty.

The testimonials subjoined, will show the saving effected and the advantages gained by using this Valve.

TUG "JOHN OWEN," DETROIT, Dec. 21st, 1874.

SAM'L F. HODGE, Esq., Dear Sir:—We have applied C. B. Turner's Patent Slide Valve to the engine of our boat, and it has given us good satisfaction; the engine makes more revolutions with the same pressure of steam which we carried before the change was made. It effects a saving of from 15 to 20 per cent. in fuel; and the jarring motion we formerly noticed has entirely disappeared, so much so that we can write with ease. We have tried this Valve five or six weeks, and consider it a perfect success.
(Sgd.) J. P. YOUNG, Master. OWEN WILLIAMS, Engineer. J. E. EDWARDS, Part Owner.

D. A. ROSS & CO., LUMBER MERCHANTS, DETROIT, Aug. 12th, 1874.

SAM'L F. HODGE, Esq., Dear Sir:—The new valve, "Turner's Improved Steam Valve," that you put on our engine July 1st, last, is very satisfactory to us. It makes a saving of 20 per cent. in steam, and rather more than that in fuel. It also saves us the labor of one man in firing. The engine works very much easier than ever before. We feel highly pleased with it, and most cheerfully recommend it to your patrons.

Very respectfully yours, D. A. ROSS & Co.

ENTERED ACCORDING TO ACT OF CONGRESS, IN THE OFFICE OF THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS, WASHINGTON, D. C., APRIL, 1875.

PUBLISHERS' PREFACE.

ABOUT two years ago the first issue of the MICHIGAN STATE GAZETTEER AND BUSINESS DIRECTORY was presented to the public and was received with decided favor. The plan of the work was to give a succinct description of every city, village and hamlet in the State, with lists of the firms and individuals doing business at each. The hope was to establish such a permanent biennial publication as would fully meet the wants of the business community and protect them from the catch-penny swindles which, under the pretense of being State and local directories, were being commonly employed by unscrupulous adventurers to rake in a temporary harvest of profits. The first issue having proved an eminent success, notwithstanding the losses and delays occasioned by the burning of the office at which the printing was being done, and where a large portion of the sheets were stored, the publishers are prompt with the second issue according to the original programme.

In the present volume it has been sought in every possible way to improve on that of 1873. A much larger number of places have been individually canvassed; all the sketches and descriptions have been re-written from fresh and original material, the former work having been in no sense copied in this; the lists of business houses and professional men are very much more complete, embracing as they do not less than thirty thousand different names; a township map of the State corrected up to the latest moment has been inserted; a complete Shipper's Guide has been added, and a number of other minor features introduced or improved upon, all tending to render the work much more complete and valuable than its predecessor.

No unforseen event preventing, in due time a third issue will appear, in which still further improvement will be honestly, conscientiously and energetically attempted, though even now it is believed there is no similar publication in the United States in every respect as complete and reliable as this.

Much, but not all, of the editorial work of this volume has been done by Mr. James E. Scripps, editor of The Evening News, of this city, and one of the original projectors of the scheme. The entire general management of the work, both financial and editorial, has been in the hands of Mr Ralph L. Polk, who jointly with Mr. Scripps edited and compiled the former issue. Mr. Polk as one of the publishers of the Detroit City Directory and the proprietor of several similar publications in various western cities, brings to the work an immense fund of practical experience with an established reputation. The printing has been done by Mr. William A. Scripps, whose specialty is book printing and whose facilities and standing are second to those of no other office in the State. To the postmasters of Michigan the thanks of the publishers are due for, in many instances, quite valuable assistance.

Neither have the publishers in this, nor shall they in any future issues of the State Gazetteer, ask or authorize the collection of any moneys in advance or until the delivery of the book. They are led to mention this here, from the fact that intimations have come to them that parties have fraudulently represented themselves as acting for the State Gazetteer, and have solicited payment for books and advertising.

THE DETROIT TRIBUNE.

The Great Michigan Newspaper.

In its various editions the DETROIT TRIBUNE has become a constant visitor in every nook and corner of the State.

THE DETROIT DAILY TRIBUNE

Circulates largely among the most enterprising business classes of the State—the merchants, bankers, manufacturers, professional men, and large dealers of every kind. Its full telegraphic and general news, its unrivalled commercial department (the most accurate and reliable for Detroit quotations in the State), its State news (in which it far surpasses any other journal in Michigan), and its fair and candid editorial discussion of all topics of public concern—all combine to make it what it unquestionably is—the most popular and widely-read newspaper that is published in Michigan. Terms to mail subscribers, $10.60 per year; $5.30 for six months; $2.65 for three months, postage included.

THE TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE,

Published every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning, contains almost all the matter that is contained in the daily edition. It circulates extensively among the less heavy class of dealers, and is found in all parts of the State. Terms, $5.30 per year; $2.65 for six months; $1.35 for three months, postage included.

The Detroit Weekly Tribune,

The largest newspaper in the State, and having a circulation more than twice as large as that of any other Detroit paper. It is rare that a journal attains so great popularity throughout an entire State as has the WEEKLY TRIBUNE. It probably is found in every school district within the bounds of Michigan. It contains the cream of the news of the Daily paper, an Agricultural Department prepared expressly for its columns by an experienced and practical agriculturist, choice stories, poetry, literary selections, etc., furnishing weekly a bill of fare for its readers that is not equaled by any other paper in the Northwest. Terms, $2 per year, postage paid. Club rates can be ascertained (when clubs are raised), on application at the office.

THE MICHIGAN ALMANAC,

An annual publication of about 100 pages, all the matter original and prepared expressly for it. Its astronomical department has been furnished for several years by Prof. J. C. Watson, professor of Astronomy at the University of Michigan. Its other departments contain elaborate political and statistical tables and facts relating in the main to Michigan. The circulation of this popular hand-book is increasing steadily from year to year, as it is rapidly rising in favor among all classes to whom its important and timely statistics have become invaluable, and with whom it has become a manual of constant reference. Price 15 cents.

All the above publications are to be had by addressing

THE TRIBUNE,
No. 42 Larned St. West, DETROIT, MICH.

POSTOFFICES IN MICHIGAN.

The following is a complete list of Postoffices in Michigan, arranged alphabetically, and corrected up to December 1, 1874. County seats are indicated by c. h. and italics. Money Order offices are designated by a star (*). Those included as Money Order offices in late treaties with Great Britain, Germany and Switzerland are marked by capital letters, (B) meaning British, (G) German, (S) Swiss.

Ninth—D. E. Comstock, of Paw Paw, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Kalamazoo County—First Monday in February, fourth Monday in April, third Monday in August, second Monday in November.

Van Buren County—First Monday in January, fourth Monday in March, third Monday in June, first Monday in October.

Tenth—W. S. Tennant, of Saginaw, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Saginaw County—The last Saturday of January, the first Monday of February, the second Monday of May, and the third Monday of October.

Gratiot County—The second Tuesday of January, the first Tuesday of May, and the second Tuesday of October.

Midland County—The fourth Monday of April and the first Monday of October.

Isabella County—The third Tuesdays of January and June.

Clare County—The fourth Tuesdays of January and June.

Eleventh—Daniel Goodwin, of Detroit, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Menominee County—First Monday of May and first Tuesday of September.

Delta County—Second Monday of May and fifth Tuesday of August.

Chippewa County—Fourth Monday of May and fourth Monday of August, in each year.

Cheboygan County—First Tuesday of June and second Tuesday of August.

Mackinac County—Second Tuesday of June and first Tuesday of August in each year.

Manitou County—Second Monday of June and fourth Monday of July.

Twelfth—James O'Grady, of Marquette, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Houghton County—First Tuesday of January, first Tuesday of April, first Wednesday in September, third Wednesday in November.

Marquette County—First Wednesday of February, second Wednesday of May, second Wednesday of October, third Wednesday of October.

Keweenaw County—First Tuesday of March, first Tuesday of July, first Wednesday of December.

Ontonagon County—Second Wednesday of June, fourth Wednesday of September, third Wednesday of December.

Schoolcraft County—First Wednesday of June, second Wednesday of November.

Thirteenth—Jonathan G. Ramsdell, of Traverse City, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Grand Traverse County—First Tuesday of November, first Tuesday of May.

Leelanaw County—Second Tuesday of November, second Tuesday of May.

Antrim County—Third Tuesday of November, third Tuesday of May.

Charlevoix County—Second Tuesdays of January and July.

Emmet County—First Thursday after second Tuesday of January, first Thursday after second Tuesday of July.

Kalkaska County—Fourth Tuesday of January and second Tuesday of August.

Missaukee County—Second Tuesday of February, third Tuesday of August.

Fourteenth—Augustine H. Giddings, of Newaygo, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Muskegon County—First Tuesdays of February and May, and third Tuesdays of September and November.

Newaygo County—Third Tuesdays of January, May and October.

Mecosta County—First Tuesday of January, third Tuesday of April, and first Tuesday of October.

Oceana County—Second Tuesday of March, first Tuesday of September, and second Tuesday of December.

Fifteenth—E. W. Keightley, of Constantine, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Branch County—First Tuesday in March, first Tuesday in June, third Tuesday in September, second Tuesday in December.

Allegan County—First Tuesdays of February, April, September and November.

Ottawa County—Second Tuesdays of January, March and August, and third Tuesdays of October.

MICHIGAN.

Of the thirty-seven states forming the Union, Michigan is the twenty-sixth in order of admission, the eleventh in size and the thirteenth in population.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

Michigan is situated with reference to the older portion of the country, or that part lying west of the Missouri, about midway between that river and the Atlantic seaboard, and is adjacent to the northern boundary line of the country. In latitude it extends from 41° 40′ to 47° 35′ north, or covers about the same range in this respect as New York and the New England states. In longitude it extends from 82° 23′ west of Greenwich to 90° 30′ west, corresponding nearly to Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

It is popularly known as the "Peninsula State" from its being almost entirely surrounded by the waters of the great lakes, possessing in fact a greater extent of shore line than any other State in the Union. It consists of two detached peninsulas, the lower of which is bounded by Lake Michigan on the west, Lake Huron and the Straits of Mackinac on the north, lakes Huron, St. Clair and Erie on the east, and the states of Ohio and Indiana on the South. The upper peninsula is bounded on the north by Lake Superior, on the south by lakes Michigan and Huron and the Straits of Mackinac, and extends from the Montreal river on the west to the St. Mary's river on the east. The lower peninsula is about twice the size of the upper. Altogether the State contains an area of 56,451 square miles and contains according to the census of 1874, a population of 1,334,031.

The southern portion of the lower peninsula consists of excellent farming lands, unsurpassed for grain and fruit culture. Coal, limestone, gypsum and salt also are abundant. The northern half of this peninsula leads all other sections of the Union in the extent of its pine forests, which are to a very large extent still untouched. The upper peninsula is rough and rocky, approaching in some parts to the mountainous. It possesses a thin unpromising soil, and though there is plenty of timber it is generally of an inferior quality. The great wealth of this region lies in its iron and copper deposits, which are probably surpassed in richness no where in the world. Michigan is thus immensely rich in natural resources, probably embracing a wider range in this respect even than the wealthiest of her sister states.

The name of this state is said to be a corruption of Michaw-Sagegan, the Chippewa expression for "Great Lake."

HISTORY.

The region now forming the State of Michigan was visited by French explorers as early as 1610. The lower peninsula was circumnavigated by Marquette and Joliet in 1673. The earliest settlements were those at Mackinac and Sault Ste Marie, followed soon after by that at Detroit. This was in 1701. Another important settlement was at the mouth of the St. Joseph river, on Lake Michigan. These settlements were maintained in part as trading posts and in part as Catholic mission stations for the conversion of the Indians. The interior was little if at all explored.

In 1760, as the result of the so-called "French war," all the French possessions in the north were transferred to the British crown. The Revolutionary war gave Michigan to the United States, but it was not till the supplemental treaty of 1796 that possession was fully given. It was then incorporated into the northwestern territory, which included everything north of the Ohio river. In 1802 Ohio became a State, and the remainder of the former Northwestern territory became the Territory of Indiana. In 1805 this was divided and the territories of Michigan and Illinois organized. Subsequently Wisconsin, then spelled Ouisconsin, was attached to Michigan.

The first considerable cession of lands to the government by the Indians was in 1807, when the present counties of Monroe, Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, and perhaps some others adjacent were thrown open to settlement. In 1811 the population of the territory was 4,860, mostly of French origin.

The war of 1812 gave Michigan again to the British, but it was only for one year, when it was recovered by Gen. Harrison. In the course of the next ten years villages began to be located in the interior, Utica in 1817, Mt. Clemens and Pontiac in 1818, and Flint and Port Huron in 1819.

In 1821 the Indian title was extinguished to all the territory south of Grand river, and immediately there commenced a rage for settlement and speculation in lands.

Saginaw City was founded in 1822, Dexter and Ypsilanti in 1823, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh and Grand Rapids in 1824, Adrian and Royal Oak in 1825, Sturgis in 1827, Niles and Constantine in 1828, and Grass Lake, Coldwater, Cassopolis, St. Joseph and Kalamazoo in 1829.

Originally the entire settled portion of the State was embraced in the county of Wayne. Monroe county was set off as a separate county in 1817, Macomb followed in 1818, Oakland was the next in 1820, and St. Clair in 1821. In 1826 the counties of Lenawee and Chippewa were organized, and in 1829 Cass and St. Joseph counties.

The next decade was one of rapid settlement and wild speculation. Kalamazoo county was organized in 1830, Berrien in 1831, Jackson in 1832, Branch and Calhoun in 1833, Hillsdale, Allegan and Saginaw in 1835, Washtenaw, Genesee, Livingston and Kent in 1836, Van Buren, Ottawa, Ionia, Eaton and Shiawassee in 1837, Ingham and Clinton in 1838, and Barry in 1839.

In 1834 the population of the territory was 87,273, and the following year a constitutional convention met with reference to the organization of a state government. A quarrel with Ohio concerning the boundary line prevented the admission of Michigan, however, and it was not till January, 1837, that Michigan finally became an independent State.

In this year, 1837, a free banking law was passed, which led to the establishment of hosts of wild cat banks in this State. These, though for a time they stimulated business and aided the development of the State, brought great disaster a few months later.

The first railroad chartered was the Detroit & St Joseph in 1831, but it was 1838 before any part of the road (now the Michigan Central) was completed and in operation. The Erie & Kalamazoo had meanwhile (in 1836) been completed between Toledo and Adrian. The Detroit & Pontiac was chartered in 1834 and completed to Royal Oak in 1838, and in the same or following year, the Detroit & Shelby Railroad was completed to Utica, several other roads were chartered and some partly constructed.

In 1837 the legislature provided for a complete system of internal improvements, embracing three railroads stretching across the State, and several canal and slack-water navigation enterprises. These works involved the young State in serious financial embarrassments, and for a time gave it a bad reputation in the money centers of the world.

In 1845 the mineral wealth of the Upper Peninsula was first brought into notice.

In 1846 the Michigan Central and Michigan Southern Railroads were sold by the State to private companies.

In 1847 the capital was transferred from Detroit to Lansing.

In 1850 the present constitution was adopted.

In 1856 the United States made a valuable grant of lands to certain projected railroads in this State, the result of which has been the construction of the Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw the Flint & Pere Marquette, the Grand Rapids & Indiana, and the Peninsular Division of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroads.

In 1858 the Detroit & Milwaukee Railroad was completed to Grand Haven.

In 1859 salt was first successfully made in this State.

The war of the rebellion caused a stagnation for a few years in the material growth of the State, but at its close Michigan took a fresh start and for ten years past development has been very rapid in every respect. Population has increased from 805,379 in 1864 to 1,334,031 in 1874, railroad mileage has increased from about 900 miles in 1865 to 3313 miles in 1875. In the four southern tiers of counties the mileage of railroad in proportion to the population is twice as great as in the well developed State of Massachusetts, In these ten years settlements have pushed far up into the wilderness, comprising the northern half of the lower peninsula. Villages have been located and townships and counties organized very much with the rapidity that prevailed in the decade between 1830 and 1840. Mining and manufacturing interests have been greatly extended and the wealth of the State immensely increased.

WEALTH AND RESOURCES.

It is to be regretted that the results of the official census of 1874 which should furnish exact statistics have never yet been prepared for publication, and are studiously kept from the public. Means of reliable information in regard to production are therefore unfortunately in some cases very limited. It is known, however, that the lower peninsula is becoming one of the largest grain producing regions in the West. Of wheat alone over a million and a quarter of acres are now grown annually, the crop of 1874 being put down at 19,115,000 bushels. Large as this is the corn crop surpasses it, the yield for 1874 being 20,793,000 bushels. Other grains are raised to a less extent, the total combined yield of oats, rye, barley and buckwheat being 13,210,000 bushels.

The fruit product is difficult to arrive at but in value it runs up into the millions.

Hay also is an important agricultural product, and potatoes are quite a staple crop. The latter are largely shipped south.

Dairying is also largely attended to in this State, cheese factories being quite numerous in the southern tiers of counties. No definite statistics of the product are attainable, but there is good authority for stating the annual product of butter at 28,000,000 pounds.

Sheep raising has been largely practiced, though perhaps relatively less in the last few years than previously. The present annual clip does not vary much from 8,000,000 pounds, and mostly of very choice grades.

The fisheries of Michigan are no small source of wealth. The census of 1870 puts them down as 243 in number, employing an equivalent to 388 hands for twelve months in the year, and yielding in value near $600,000 of product.

Plaster or gypsum is mined at Grand Rapids and at Alabaster, on the shore of Lake Huron. It is easily taken out and the supply is equal to any possible demand for generations to come, even without further discoveries. According to the census of 1870 two plaster beds gave employment to seventy hands and produced plaster to the value of $131.400, but this must be very much below the present yield.

Limestone is found in great abundance everywhere, and quarries of valuable building stone are not infrequent. Marquette furnishes a brown sandstone very popular in Chicago and other western cities for fronts of buildings. On the shore of lake Huron also there are valuable quarries of stone, out of which the finest grindstones and whetstones are manufactured.

Rich slate quarries have lately been opened on the shore of lake Superior, but they are new and but little developed as yet.

Coal is very abundant in the central portion of the lower peninsula, but except at Jackson and to a less extent at one or two other points, has never yet been mined on any large scale.

At almost any point in the southern part of the State, flowing wells can be had by boring a few hundred feet, and the waters thus obtained are in nearly every instance found to possess valuable medicinal properties, varying, however, in different localities. The most important of these mineral waters are found at Mt. Clemens, St. Louis, Lansing and Eaton Rapids, though there are perhaps twenty other places where the waters are equally as valuable.

Salt wells are secured by boring anywhere along the Saginaw river, and also in parts of Huron county. Saginaw already rivals Syracuse in the salt markets of the country. The annual product is over 1,000,000 barrels.

The iron deposits of Marquette county are very extensive, if not wholly inexhaustible. There are about 34 mines in operation, the yield of which for 1874, was about 900,000 tons, and this was much below the product of 1873, owing to the prevailing stagnation in the iron market. The iron is mined from the surface, the ore is very rich, and the metal produced from it of a very superior quality.

The copper mines of Michigan are in the counties of Houghton, Keweenaw and Ontonagon, principally in the first named. The aggregate product for 1874 was near 22,000 tons, valued at $9,000,000. Unlike the iron, the copper is mined at great depths, some of the mines being down over 1,000 feet. The copper is found in a pure state, sometimes in large masses weighing several tons. There are 32 mines in operation.

MANUFACTURES.

With such immense natural resources, with such ample advantages for shipment, and with streams everywhere affording water power, in some instances of almost unlimited extent, as might naturally be expected Michigan is peculiarly a manufacturing State. The State census of 1874 should supply some statistics of these industrial interests, but unfortunately the facts and figures are locked up in the Secretary of State's office, with no prospect of their being published until their value is lost by age, and they have become comparatively useless to the public as a source of information. Going back to the census of 1870, the following very incomplete statistics are obtained:

	Number of Establishments	Capital Employed.	No. of hands employed reduced to full time.	Wages paid per annum.	Value of manufactured product.
Lumber	1506	$26,355,816	10,893	$6,364,519	$33,169,066
Flouring Mills	512	6,938,830	1,291	679,831	19,061,356

*There are now two Rolling Mills.

It will be observed that the leading manufacturing interest is that of lumber. As the pineries of Maine, New York and Pennsylvania have become exhausted, Michigan is looked to not only for the best grades of lumber, but for the most abundant supply. The business has increased immensely since 1870, the date of the above statistics, the product being shipped to every part of the country.

The table above given shows a manufactured product in 13 branches alone equal to about $75,000,000. Most of these branches of manufacture, however, have vastly increased within the five years that have elapsed since the census was taken, and many other very important branches are wholly omitted. Among these latter may be mentioned ship building, car building, wagon and carriage building, the manufacture of staves and barrels, furniture, sash, doors and blinds, handles, wooden ware, wooden bowls, agricultural implements, organs, billiard tables, mouldings and frames, matches, steam boilers, fire and burglar proof safes, stoves, brass work and plumbers' fittings, galvanized iron work for buildings, hemlock extract, boots and shoes, cider and vinegar, preserved fruits, tobacco and cigars, cotton fabrics, paper, bleaching salts and other chemicals, sheet copper, brick, etc., all of which are carried on very extensively in various portions of the State. At a rough estimate the State of Michigan must turn out manufactured goods to the value of some hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

OTHER INTERESTS.

Michigan is thus rapidly growing in population and wealth. Its cities and villages are marked by evidences of thrift and prosperity. Churches are scattered everywhere and there is no settled portion of the state that is not supplied with common schools. Indeed Michigan is eminently proud of her school system. Besides the common and graded, and high schools, there are colleges at Adrian, Hillsdale, Kalamazoo, Olivet, Albion, Holland and Benzonia, an agricultural college at Lansing, a normal school at Ypsilanti, two medical colleges at Detroit, and crowning all, a University at Ann Arbor, which, in standard of scholarship, number of students and general usefulness, ranks with Harvard and Yale, as one of the best in the country.

The benevolent and reformatory institutions of the state are numerous and in a healthy and vigorous condition. They include a state public school for pauper children, a reform school for incorrigible boys, an intermediate prison for minor offenders, and a state prison for the more hardened class of criminals. There are also two insane asylums (one now building), an institution for the deaf, dumb and blind, a system of free public libraries, and other institutions indicative of the most advanced civilization.

Lansing is the capital of the State, Detroit its commercial metropolis. For full descriptions of these and every other city, village and hamlet in the state, reference is had to the ensuing pages of this work.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

FOR

1875-6.

In the following section of the work, the cities, villages and post-offices of Michigan, are arranged in alphabetical order, and a description is given of each place, with an alphabetical list of all persons doing business therein. In all the larger places the names have been procured by personal canvass, but in the smaller they have been furnished by postmasters. Great care has been taken to ensure correctness as well as completeness.

ABRONIA.

A postoffice and railway station in Watson township, Allegan county. It is on the Kalamazoo Division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., six miles east of Allegan. It is situated in a level wheat country and is the location of a sawmill, a stave factory and a wooden bowl factory. Lumber, staves and honey are largely shipped. Population 50. ADRIAN.

The county seat of Lenawee County, the largest and most thriving city in the southern tier of counties, and the most important place on the main line of the Michigan Southern R. R. It is located on the south branch of the river Raisin, nearly in the center of the county, and 33 miles west of Toledo, 74 southwest of Detroit and 210 east of Chicago. It is 83 miles from Lansing.

It is surrounded by a splendid farming country, which contributes largely to its trade. Its population, according to the census of 1874, was 8,866, a falling off of 1,206 from the returns of 1870, a phenomenon accounted for, in part, by the imperfect system in use for taking the State census, and, in part, by the recent removal of a large portion of the railroad shops to Elkhart.

The assessed valuation of the real and personal property of the city is $1.640,104, its real value being over $5,000,000. The corporation limits have not been extended within the past two years, or since the last issue of this work, nor have any new churches or other public buildings been erected in that time.

There are 12 churches, with property valued at $300,000.

The public schools consist of a central building and four large ward schools. Aggregate value of school property, $140,000. Number of children of school ages, 3,000 Number of teachers employed, 30. Aggregate amount of teachers' salaries, $14.500. Number of volumes in school library, 1,400.

The college under the auspices of the Methodist denomination is in a flourishing condition. Rev. Geo. B. McElroy, D. D., is now president.

Among the principal manufacturing enterprises, are the Adrian Car Manufacturing Co. and the Illinois Car Manufacturing Co., each employing a large number of hands; two large planing mills, two machine shops, two furniture factories, two carriage and wagon factories, and a number of smaller concerns in various branches. The railroad shops still remaining employ, constantly, about 200 men.

The moneyed institutions of Adrian comprise one national bank, one private bank, two savings banks and the Michigan State Insurance Company. The latter has a capital of $150,000, and a surplus of $187,990.

The newspaper press is represented by the Times and Expositor, an afternoon daily and weekly Republican paper; the Press, established in 1873, by Wm. A. Whitney, daily and weekly, independent in politics; the Journal, a weekly Democratic paper, and the Anzeiger, a German publication.

Adrian has the best steam fire department in the State, outside of Detroit. A sufficient supply of water is procured from wells and cisterns. The city is lighted with gas.

The lack of railroad competition has, no doubt, been prejudicial to the growth and prosperity of Adrian, and a direct and independent connection with Detroit is a great desideratum. As it is, the city is wholly dependent upon the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Road for an outlet, though it enjoys the advantage of being at the junction of two important branches, with the main line, viz: the Detroit branch and the Jackson branch. But for the depression of railroad interests for a year or two past, the Detroit and Adrian road might have been completed. It is, however, only a question of time when it will be built.

The site of the City of Adrian was purchased of the government by Addison J. Comstock, in September, 1825, and in the following year he moved on to the property. The village was platted in March, 1828. The first hotel was built on the site of the present Lawrence House in the same year. In 1829 the first store was established, and in 1832 the first church (Presbyterian). The first newspaper, the prototype of the present daily Times, was established in 1834, and in the following year the county seat was removed from Tecumseh to Adrian. In 1836 the Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad was completed between Toledo and Adrian—the earliest railroad in the State. The Michigan Southern was finished between Monroe and Adrian in 1840. In 1843 it was opened to Hillsdale. Adrian became a city in 1853.

ALICE.

A discontinued post-office in Ocean county, 10 miles north of Montague and 1 south of Pentwater.

ALLEGAN.

The county seat of Allegan county, a flourishing village of about 3,000 inhabitants situated on the Kalamazoo river, in the south central part of the county. It is 25 miles north of Kalamazoo and 30 south of Grand Rapids. Two railroads pass through Allegan, the Michigan Lake Shore R. R., extending from Battle Creek to Muskegon, and the Grand Rapids branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. A third road is in process of mpletion from Mansfield, O., to Allegan, ia Coldwater and Battle Creek. A steamboat plies on the Kalamazoo river between Allegan and the lake.

The village is situated mainly upon a peninsula formed by a horse shoe bend of the Kalamazoo river. It is surrounded by high table lands extending back into the country and having a productive soil. There are several spacious business blocks, built of stone and brick and having fronts of good style and finish. Ample accomodations are thus furnished not only for merchandising and other industrial pursuits, but for professional offices.

Allegan has eight churches, a library association, a flourishing union school, two newspapers, the Journal (Republican), and the Democrat, and two first-rate hotels. The manufacturing interests embrace two or more each of saw mills, flouring mills, sash and door factories, foundries and machine shops, pump factories, carriage factories, cooper shops, breweries, etc. A fall of eight feet in the river furnishes a splendid water power.

The incorporated companies include the Allegan Manufacturing company, capital $25,000, james T. Ganson president, Wm. S. Crosby secretary, and H. B. Peck treasurer; the Allegan Car Company, capital $100,000, J. Fisk president, B. D. Prichard secretary and treasurer; and the First National Bank, capital $50,000, Benj. D. Prichard president, George B. Robinson cashier.

Holly water works, double machinery driven by water power, supply the village with water.

Allegan was laid out in 1835 by the Boston company, an eastern land company, who improved the water power, built a saw mill and procured the settlement here of a number of families. School houses, churches, hotels and manufactories sprang up, a bank was established and everything was going on swimmingly when the panic of 1838 swept the foundations from the speculative structure, and for years after it suffered from the back-set. Prosperity was again assured by the opening of the Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids railroad in 1868, since which the place has enjoyed a healthy growth in population and business.

ANN ARBOR.

The county seat of Washtenaw county and the seat of the University of Michigan, a city of 6,692 inhabitants, located on the banks of the Huron river, 38 miles west of Detroit. It is situated a little east of the geographical centre of the county and is an important station on the Michigan Central railroad, at present its only railroad outlet. The population of Ann Arbor, according to the census of 1874, shows an apparent decline of 671 souls, but this is believed to indicate merely the inefficient and much less thorough manner in which the State census is taken than the United States. The census of 1870 gave the city 7,363 inhabitants, and it claims a population now of about 8,000, though the census of 1874 gave it but 6,692 as stated above.

With its oak openings, rich gravelly soil, the beautiful undulating character of the surrounding country, and with the Huron river gently flowing along its border, no finer location could have been selected in the State for its great university. Established here in an early day, it has, by a careful management of its resources, grown to magnificent proportions, acknowledging no superior and few rivals on the American continent.

While speaking of the educational interests of Ann Arbor, the uppermost thought of its citizens, it may not be out of place to say that its union school acknowledges no rival in the State. It has a beautiful location on State street, only one block north of the university grounds. No other school in the country sends so many of its students into the various departments of the university. With five excellent ward schools as stepping stones, culminating finally in the classical, scientific and professional departments of the university, Ann Arbor could ask no more in the way of educational advantages.

Notwithstanding that the uppermost thought in the minds of the people of Ann Arbor is education, manufacturing interests are very far from having been neglected. An examination of its business interests reveals the fact that it is also a first-class manufacturing town. Among its principal enterprises we find the large agricultural implement works and foundry of Finnegan, Howard & Moore, and a similar institution, though on a smaller scale, of Moses Rogers, the foundry and machine shops of Tripp, Ails & Price, and of Sanford & Carpenter, the planing mills and sash works of the Luick Bros., of John G. Miller, of J Keck & Co, (who also manufacture furniture), and that of W. L. Noble, the large flouring mill of J. M. Swift & Co, and Swathel, Ails & Co., of J. T. Hallock, and of John Stratford; and in fact every branch of manufacturing usually found in cities of this size is represented here.

Aside from the manufacturing interests an eye to the production of the beautiful has been given in the estabiishment of the largest flower garden outside of Detroit, by James Toms. It is located on Miller avenue, and is a great ornament to the city.

Ann Arbor has shown enterprise also in the establishment of gas works, but a lamentable want of enterprise in not making better provision for the protection of the city from the ravages of fire. Two or three ordinary hand engines, with reservoirs that in a dry time are easily exhausted, constitute the entire protection the people have. The Holly water works or artesian wells and steam fire engines are sadly needed.

Like many other towns in Michigan, Ann Arbor is not without its fountain of health in the shape of mineral springs, whose waters are said to be highly impregnated with iron, sulphur, magnesia and other minerals. The proprietors, Messrs. Sutherland, Whedon & Co., have erected first class accomodations for those seeking relief from the ills of life.

The grounds of the Washtenaw county agricultural society, with fine buildings erected thereon, are within the city limits.

Not only can Ann Arbor justly boast of its schools, but it can also boast of its churches. The entire church property of the city is estimated at, at least, a quarter of a million dollars. The finest of these are the methodist, episcopal and presbyterian. The congregationalists are building a very fine house immediately in front of the university. The baptists, catholics, unitarians, lutherans, German methodists, colored methodists, each have good edifices, but of somewhat more modest proportions.

Of secret and other societies there is certainly a goodly number. Of the masons we count four, two subordinate, one chapter and one commandery; three odd fellows, two subordinate and one encampment; a good templar's lodge, a German laboring man's association, and a turn-verein; also a young men's christian association and a ladies' library association, with 2,000 volumes in their library.

The press of the city consists of the Peninsular Courier, published and edited by R. A. Beals, and the Ann Arbor Argus, published and edited by Carr & Goulet.

Ann Arbor has two chartered banks, the First National, capital $150,000, and the Ann Arbor Savings Bank, capital $50,000. Telegraphic facilities are afforded by the Western Union, the Atlantic & Pacific and the American lines. The American express company transact the express business. Postmaster, Charles G. Clark.

The Huron river furnishes a fine water power utilized in the driving of three of the first mills mentioned above and other manufactories.

BATTLE CREEK.

The largest and most prosperous city of Calhoun county. It is located in the northwestern part of the county, at the junction of Battle creek with the Kalamazoo river. It is the point of intersection of the Michigan Central and the Chicago and Lake Huron railways, being 121 miles west of Detroit, 163 from Chicago and 45 southwest from Lansing. The place was first settled about 40 years ago, was incorporated as a village in 1850 and as a city in 1859. The corporation is two miles square and is divided into four wards. The population has not increased during the past two years, being now reckoned at 6,000.

Battle Creek is essentially a manufacturing point. Besides six flouring mills, a woolen factory and two furniture factories, there are the Nichols & Shepherd Manufacturing Co., builders of threshing machines, capital $500,000; the Battle Creek knitting mills, capital $75,000, the Battle Creek Machinery Co., capital $30,000; the American Edge Tool Co., capital $30,000; the Upton Manufacturing Co., agricultural implements, capital $100,000, besides other manufacturing concerns in various branches.

Battle Creek is the headquarters of the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination, and here they have a college building costing $35,000 and a publishing house with a capital of $100,000, from which emanate several periodicals, besides tracts, books and pamphlets, printed in five different languages and circulating in all parts of the world. The Adventists are an exceedingly prosperous and happy people.

There are two banks, the First National, capital $100,000, and the City Bank, capital $50,000. The leading hotel is the Potter House, kept by Henry Potter. The Briley hotel, formerly the Morse House, is a well kept hotel. The public halls are the Opera House and the City Hall. Battle Creek boasts one of the finest school buildings in the State, its cost being about $80,000. There are some nine churches, the leading ones being the Congregational and Presbyterian, the Methodist, the Baptist, the Episcopal (St. Thomas), and the Dutch Reformed. There is also one daily newspaper, the Journal, and three weeklies. The American Express and the Western Union, Atlantic & Pacific and American telegraph lines have offices here. Postmaster, Wm. Wallace.

The country around Battle Creek is moderately undulating with a good soil, producing wheat, corn and all kinds of fruit. Wool also is a staple product. These, with flour and live stock, are largely shipped hence. The river and creek furnishes a valuable water power.

BAY CITY.

Bay City, the county seat of Bay county, is situated on the east bank of the Saginaw river, four miles from its mouth. The river is navigable to this point for the largest sized vessels. Bay City is the northern terminus of the Detroit and Bay City railroad, also of the main line of the Flint and Pere Marquette. The Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw railroad passes through it and it will be the eastern terminus of the Grand Rapids and Bay City railroad, not yet completed. Its commercial advantages are thus very great.

The population is now claimed to be upwards of 14,000 and rapidly increasing. During the first six months of 1873, $1,000,000 were expended in building improvements within the corporate limits of the city. These limits comprise an area four miles in length by two in breadth. The city contains 12 churches, a high school and five ward schools, 4 banks with a united capital of $760,000, about 25 hotels of all grades, 2 daily and 3 weekly newspapers, and one of the finest opera houses in the State.

Bay City is essentially a manufacturing city, though as yet these interests are confined chiefly to lumber and salt. There are however several foundries and machine shops and a very extensive wooden gas and water pipe factory. The city is lighted with gas and supplied with water by the Holly system. The pumps are supplied with pure water from Saginaw Bay through a conduit pipe of 30 inches diameter, 4½ miles in lenth, and is distributed in the city through over 20 miles of the wooden pipe manufactured in the city and which gives excellent satisfaction.

In public buildings Bay City can point with pride to architectural beauty and adornment combined with solidity, surpassed by no city in the State.

The city contains 77 manufacturing establishments with an aggregate capital of $4,086,789. Of these 28 are saw mills in which are 34 circular saws and 21 gangs. The lumber shipments of the city during the season of 1874 aggregate 350,000,000 feet, of a value of four and a half million of dollars.

Bay City is situated upon the great salt basin of the Saginaw Valley, the development of which commencing in 1860, with the shipment from the city of 2,000 barrels, has reached the enormous amount of 486,343 barrels shipped in 1874, value $700,000.

In population Bay City has increased from 800 in 1860 to 7,064 in 1870, and 13,676 in 1874, a rate of increase which enables her to rank fourth in point of numbers as compared with other cities in the State. The population is largely made up from the Eastern States, while the thrifty Germans, industrious Canadian French, Irish and Poles form a heterogenious population, the combination of which proves eminently satisfactory in the growth and progress of the city.

The aggregate value of property within the corporate limits of the city increased from $5,000,000 in 1870 to $9,000,000 in 1874. The school property of the city is valued at $125,000 including the handsome high school building, costing $40,000, and five ward buildings one of which is of brick, recently completed, and cost $12,000.

The water works have cost the city thus far $227,000, which will be increased to $300,000 by the full completion of the system, including the inlet pipe, costing $100,000. The completion of this system will leave Bay City second in the State in point of water supply, in its purity and abundance.

Its paid fire department consists of four hose companies of seven men each, taking their water supply from the hydrants, which are found at every street intersection.

The regular police force of the city consists of nine men, including the marshal and assistant marshal. When it is remembered that this force is efficient to preserve order in a city spreading over a distance of four miles in length by two in breadth, whose population is augmented in the spring of the year by thousands of transient men from the lumber camps in the adjoining counties, it may well be said to speak volumes for the good character of the population.

In street improvements Bay City ranks second only to Detroit among the cities of the State, Five of its principal streets are paved with the Nicolson and Wycoff patent wood pavements, of which about three miles in length has been laid. Over one mile of this is of white cedar blocks. The city has purchased the Wycoff patent, and the laying of two miles of paving is contemplated for the season of 1875. About four miles of the streets are planked.

The city enjoys the advantages of a public library, comprising about 5,000 volumes, from which by the report of the librarian there was given out between April 1st and December 15th, 1874, 14,500 volumes, with a loss of but three volumes.

The churches of the city will compare favorably with those of other cities of the State in number, value, and membership. That of the First Baptist Society, costing $80,000, can boast according to experts, "the most beautiful, symmetrical and perfectly proportioned spire on the continent." In membership the different societies are eminently prosperous.

The growth of Bay City is undoubtedly due to a great extent to the railroad facilities presented by the Flint and Pere Marquette, which here makes its northern terminus. The Detroit and Bay City Railroad connecting at Lapeer with the Port Huron and Lake Michigan, and the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw Railroad, which on its line from Jackson and the south to its ultimate terminus at Mackinac, crosses the Saginaw river to Bay City, making junction with the Detroit and Bay City Railroad. These several lines of road are connected at the southern limits of the city and again near the business center, by the Bay City Street and Transit Railroad, which, with its track of six miles, extending from Essexville at the mouth of the river to the south limits of the city, is calculated to enable the transfer of rail cars from the mills and manufactories on its line to the different roads; thus bringing the entire body of manufacturing establishments in the city into the enjoyment of all the privileges to be obtained from these lines of road connecting with all portions of the land, facilities enjoyed by the inhabitants of but few cities in the nation.

A recently published history of the city, by H. S. Dow of the Lumberman's Gazette, is a readable work of 100 pages, replete with valuable information of a historic and statistical nature.

BENTON HARBOR.

This thriving town is the center of the great fruit growing district, and the most important fruit shipping point on Lake Michigan. It is situated in Berrien county, Benton township, at the mouth of the Paw Paw river and on the C. & M. L. S. R. R., and is the lake terminus of the proposed Elkhart & Lake Michigan railroad, which will pass through the center of Berrien county, the most productive and densely populated section of the State, abounding in excellent timber for manufacturing and building purposes. Paw Paw river affords superior water power. The elegant churches, school buildings and private residences, attest the culture, and the ship canal (costing over $50,000), and other public works are evidences of the wealth and enterprise of the population which numbers some 1,500. According to statements given at the Custom House, the following shipments of fruit were made in 1874: 8,300 barrels of apples, 500,000 baskets of peaches, and 100,000 crates of berries.

The extensive zinc wash board and brewers bung works of Geo. R. Wright & Bro. are located here. J. P. Thresher, postmaster.

BIG RAPIDS.

The City of Big Rapids, the county seat of Mecosta county, is located on the Muskegon river, 56 miles north of Grand Rapids. The corporation extends over an area of six square miles, and contains excellent farming land, lying high and dry on both sides of the river, which runs diagonally through the city in a southeasterly course, and furnishes a water-power second to none in the State. Mitchell creek enters the corporation on the west, and empties into the river a little above the center of the city. The site on which the city stands, with a large tract of land adjoining it, was purchased from the government in 1854, by Frederick Hall, of Ionia, and in 1855, George B. Warren and Chauncy P. Ives, of Troy, N. Y., bought the site, and platted it in 1859 as the village of Big Rapids. They built a saw mill on Mitchell creek, near the river, and a few shanties Up to 1863, mails were brought in on horseback from Greenville, when a weekly stage commenced running from Grand Rapids, via Newaygo. The village grew rapidly until, in 1869, it was incorporated a city by the Legislature, and in 1870 contained a population of 1,300, the present population of the city is about 3,500. In July, 1870, the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad reached the city, and now runs through it to Petoskey on Little Traverse bay. In September, 1872, the railroad from Muskegon to Big Rapids, under control of the Michigan Central Co. was commenced and trains began running in July, 1873.

The city is supplied with water for fire protection and private use by means of the Holly water works, put in by the city in 1871, at a cost of $65,000.

The Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopalian denominations have large and thriving societies, each with a neat and elegant house of worship. The Methodist church was organized in 1865, and built their house in 1867. The Presbyterian church was organized in 1867, and have built a beautiful brick church at a cost of $12,000. The Episcopal church was organized in 1870, and the place of worship erected in 1871. The Baptist church was organized in 1871, and the church built the same year The Catholics have lately also built a church.

The county owns a block containing about three acres near the center of the city, in the center of which will be erected the court house. The corners of the block have been set apart for churches of any denominations which will erect church edifices thereon. One corner is now occupied by the Methodist church, another by the Presbyterian, and the other two are ready for claimants. The city park fronts this square on the east.

A literary association with 100 members was organized in 1871, and regular lecture courses maintained.

The manufactories of Big Rapids have assumed large proportions. The Tioga Manufacturing Company was organized in 1871, with a capital stock of $500,000. The company owns large tracts of pine land on the Upper Muskegon, a farm of 200 acres, the water power and a large number of city lots in the northern part of the city. A dam has been constructed across the river, with a long race on each side, and two saw mills with a capacity of 12,000,000 feet per annum, 1 shingle mill with a capacity of 4,000,000 per annum, two lath mills with a capacity of 8,000,000 per annum, and a large grist mill have been erected thereon. Private individuals have erected other manufactories on this water power, having purchased the right to do so from the Tioga company.

The Big Rapids Improvement Company was organized in 1871, with a capital stock of $200,000. The company owns the water power in the southeast part of the city, together with a large number of lots and business blocks in all parts of the city. It also owns large tracts of pine land in Mecosta and adjoining counties. The water power has been improved by the construction of a dam across the river and a long race on each side The company in 1872 erected a large saw mill and shingle mill, which will soon be followed by more extensive manufactories.

T. D. Stimson, Esq., who owns very large tracts of pine land on the Upper Muskegon river, erected a large saw mill on the east side of the river near the dam of the Big Rapids Improvement Company, in 1871, at a cost of $50,000, and with a capacity of 10,000,000 per annum. The mill property and stock in the yard are worth about $150,000.

The Big Rapids Boom Company was organized in 1872 with a capital stock of $30,000. The present capacity of boomage is 50,000,000, with facilities for 100,000,000 when needed.

The Big Rapids Iron Co. Is a new enterprise, having been started this year by Messrs Hill & Crawford, both of whom came here lately from Pennsylvania. Mr. Hill, of this firm, is one of the veterans in the business, having learned the trade and spent many years with the Presque Isle Iron Co., Stearns, Clark & Co., and Stearns, Hill & Co., all of which are now merged into the Stearns Manufacturing Co., with which he is still connected. He has traveled extensively through the country, amongst mill men, and thoroughly understands their wants. The building occupied by the company is 165 by 120 feet, two stories high, and built of brick. On the ground floor is a machine shop 50 by 60, a foundry 50 by 60, a storeroom and office 45 by 95; there is also a blacksmith shop, engine room, core room and cupola room. Up stairs is a pattern and wood working shop, another wareroom for light machinery 45 by 110, and a tin shop about 60 feet square.

The Big Rapids Furniture Manufacturing Company was organized in July, 1872, with a capital stock of $50,000. The company has a large factory on the west side of the river, near the dam of the Tioga Co., with a capacity for turning out $800,000 worth of

The Exchange Bank was organized in 1867, and incorporated in April, 1871, with an authorized capital stock of $150,000.

The Northern National Bank was organized in June, 1871, with a capital stock of $75,000.

The Pacific Hotel was built in 1858, and hence is the oldest hotel in the city. It has always enjoyed a prosperous business. It furnishes accommodation for about 75 guests.

The present Mason House is a new hotel, having been completed about January 1st, 1875. It is three stories high and fronts on Michigan avenue 100 feet, and on Maple street 125 feet. It is fitted up with all the modern improvements, and has a capacity for accommodating about 100 guests. The other hotels are the Montreal House, the Rose Hotel and the National Hotel.

There are two weekly newspapers published here—the "Magnet" and "Pioneer."

Nearly all branches of trade and industry are represented, and the city is surrounded by a rich country, with many old and well improved farms.

Both the American and United States Express Companies have offices here.

The Western Union Telegraph Company and the G. R. & I. R. R. Co.'s line furnish telegraphic facilities. Thomas Lazell, postmaster.

BIRMINGHAM.

In 1819 the first settlers cut their way through from Detroit to Birmingham, although it was many years later when the first ideas of a village at this point were entertained. Birmingham has now a population of 700 or 800, and is situated 18 miles from Detroit on the D. & M. R. R. The patriotic spirit of it and the surrounding country is attested by the erection of a $1,800 monument in the center of the village, bearing the names of the fallen soldiers of the four townships, of Troy (in which Birmingham is located), Bloomfield, Royal Oak and Southfield, They have a fine union school house, three churches—Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist—the former of which is said to be one of the very finest in the State outside of Detroit, and a lodge of Grangers. It has also a foundry, a grist mill and a saw mill. J. Allen Bigelow, postmaster.

The population of the town is estimated at 1,500, and with fair prospects of continued growth.

The farming country about is of excellent quality.

The river Raisin affords water power for a grist and saw mill, the balance of the manufacturing establishments being run by steam. They consist of a flouring mill owned by Love & Dunn, a saw mill by Henry Jipson, the tobacco manufacturing company, a large stave factory and cooper shop, giving employment to some 70 men, the foundry and machine shop of John Watson, 2 large furniture manufactories, one owned by Bliss & Son, and the other by M. Small, 3 large carriage shops, owned respectively by E. T. Rogers, Ford & Gilman, and Fred. Cannon, and the handle factory of Brown & Ellis.

Sportsmen here claim to have the finest half-mile training race course in the State.

The public buildings of the town consist of two good halls and two churches, Methodist and Presbyterian. A first class union school is in prospect. The Blissfield Advance is the newspaper representative of the place. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American and United States. J. R. Stearns, postmaster.

BUCHANAN.

Next to Niles and St. Joseph the largest village in Berrien county. It is pleasantly located on the M. C. R. R. about six miles west of Niles and about 87 east of Chicago. It has a population of between 2,500 and 3,000. The quality of the surrounding country is seldom surpassed, being well adapted to the growth of every class of farm products, including fruit.

The McCoy creek and the St. Joseph river, forming a junction here, afford the town a good water power.

The manufacturing interests of Buchanan include the Buchanan Wagon Manufacturing Company, the Excelsior Manufacturing Company, mnfrs of a patent carpet stretcher; Richards & Bates, mnfrs of a reversible clothes bar; the Buchanan bedstead and furniture factory, the bedstead factory of S. Black, the handle factory of A Richards, the flouring and custom mills of Pear & Rough, and the custom mill of Kingery & Co., the Zinc Collar Pad Company, and the sash, blind and door factory of Rose & Rough. Buchanan boasts of one of the finest school houses in the State, it having cost $35 000. There are also six churches: Methodist, Presbyterian, two Advent (old and new sects), United Brethren, and Disciple or Christian. The First National Bank of Buchanan was organized in 1872, with a cash capital of $50,000 and a liberal surplus. In private residences the town presents many evidences of excellent taste.

The Buchanan Record, published by Mr. Kingery, is the only local paper here. N. H. Merrill, postmaster.

ZINC COLLAR PAD COMPANY,

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers of

Curtis' Patent Zinc Collar Pad

Warranted to prevent Chafing, and to cure the worst cases of Sore Neck, the Medicinal and Cooling Properties of the Zinc Metal being a sure Guarantee against Chafing.

MANUFACTORY,

BUCHANAN, - - MICHIGAN.

Communications will receive prompt attention.

THE ZINC COLLAR PAD is fully warranted to cure any chafed or galled neck, if directions for use in the hands of dealers are followed.

They must be kept clean by scouring the part that wears on the animals neck whenever they become coated over with matter from the sore, or with sweat and dirt. Ashes, fine sand or anything that will clean them without scratching will answer. They must also be "covered" over the "top" with "cloth" or "leather", sufficient to fully shade them. These directions are indispensable in the use of the pad,

The medicinal virtue of the Zinc is lost if coated over with other matter, and they become heated when exposed to the rays of the sun.

BURR OAK.

Burr Oak is a village of 900 inhabitants on the L. S. & M. S. R. R., 18 miles west of Coldwater and 6 miles east of Sturgis. It is in Burr Oak township, St. Joseph county.

It is surrounded by an excellent farming country, and was said at one time to have been the second best grain market on the Southern road between Laporte and Toledo. In consequence of the modern growth, however, of other towns along the line, and the large number of crossroads, its former glory has much departed, though it is still a pleasant little town. It has an unusually fine block of seven brick buildings for a place of its size.

A very good water power is furnished by Prairie river, a branch of the St. Joseph.

An $18,000 school house was erected a few years ago, and the district on its completion found themselves out of debt and with $800 in treasury. Few districts in the state can say as much.

There are four churches, the Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist and Lutheran. Telegraph —Western Union. Express—United States. D. F. Parsons, postmaster.

CALUMET,

A large mining village, located at the site of the famous Calumet & Hecla mine, in Calumet township, Houghton county. It is reached from Hancock by the Mineral Range railroad, being 13 miles distant. Another railroad, 5½ miles long, belonging to the mining company, connects it with Torch Lake. The village has a population of about 4,000, nearly the whole of whom are directly or indirectly connected with the mine. The streets are straight and wide, and the buildings, mostly of wood, are neat and attractive. For so large a place there are but few stores, shops or factories. The place is well supplied with churches, and a large and handsome union school of brick and stone, capable of accommodating some 800 children, has just been erected by the munificence of the mining company.

The mine, the richest in the world, is worked in a vein of conglomerate, dipping to the west at an angle of perhaps 45°. The vein is eight or ten feet in thickness, and is uniformly productive. Eight shafts penetrate the vein to a depth of some 1,200 feet, the different shafts being connected by galleries or levels. Work is prosecuted night and day, and about 1,000 hands are employed. The machinery used for elevating the ore to the surface and crushing it, and for pumping and condensing air for the drills, is all on an immense scale and of the most perfect description. The ore is carried by rail to Torch Lake, where are located the extensive stamps of the company. The product of the mine is such as to enable the company to divide $1,600,000 a year, and there is no falling off in the product possible for years to come. The capital of the company is nominally $2,000,000, but the $25 shares sell readily in the market at from $120 to $160 each. The general superintendent of the mine is Mr. J. N. Wright, a gentleman of great executive ability.

The Mineral Range Telegraph Company afford telegraphic facilities. A. T. Streeter postmaster.

CASSOPOLIS.

The village of Cassopolis, the county seat of Cass county, is located nearly in the center of the county, and at the junction of the Chicago and Lake Huron (formerly called the Peninsular) railroad, with the Air line division of the M. C. R. R., 14 miles east of Niles, and 52 southwest of Battle Creek. Its population is about 1,000.

It has no water power, though there is an abundance of water near by, the village being located just on the bank of Stone lake, and only one mile west of a beautiful sheet of water known as Diamond lake. In the center of this lake is a cosy little island, a favorite locality for picnics etc. This lake and islands are also rapidly becoming a popular summer resort.

The fact of Cassopolis having been an inland town until recently, and without water power, together with its close proximity to Niles and Three Rivers, both railroad towns, and with first class water powers, is probably the reason for the almost entire absence of manufacturing interests.

The public buildings consist of a fair old wooden court house, in one room of which is found the postoffice; a brick jail, fire proof brick offices, a good wooden central union school building and one ward building, and three churches—Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist. The latter, a very nice wooden structure, was dedicated Nov. 22, 1874, and the society placed beyond any pecuniary embarrassment created by its building by the generous contributions of the people. There are no saloons in the village.

There are two newspapers here: The National Democrat, owned by C. C. Allison, and the Vigilant, by W. H. Mansfield.

The first settlement was made here in 1829. In 1832 the place became the county seat, but its isolated position kept it in the back ground until the completion of its two railroads in 1870, since which it has enjoyed a healthy growth. Joseph Harper postmaster.

CENTRAL MILL.

A village at the location of the Central mine, in the town of Sherman, Keweenaw county. It lies 7 miles back from Eagle River, the county seat, and 5 miles from Eagle Harbor. The place was first settled in or about the year 1857, and now numbers a population of about 1,000. Copper mining is the leading industry of the place. The country around is slightly broken and heavily timbered. Hay and potatoes are the principal agricultural productions. Copper alone is shipped. The production of the Central mine for 1873 was 1,120 tons, and it was surpassed in product only by the Calumet and Hecla and the Quincy mines. It divided the same year $160,000. The total dividends paid by it have reached $840,000 on an original investment of $100,000. Ship by water to Eagle Harbor. Its nearest railroad point is Calumet. T. B. Dunstan, postmaster.

CENTREVILLE.

Centreville, the county seat of St. Joseph county, is situated on the M. C. R. R. Air line, 6 miles east of Three Rivers, and 64 miles west of Jackson. The population of the town is somewhere from 1,000 to 1,200.

The soil of the county is a gravelly loam, and the timber mostly oak. But for its naturally good streets, the people would probably have had their town incorporated long before this. As it is, however, there is no power to compel the building of a sidewalk, nor even the purchase of a pail to aid in suppressing a conflagration. With a little more enterprise in this direction, Centreville would be an exceedingly pleasant town.

Hog creek, or Prairie river, as it is interchangeably called, affords a passable water power, susceptible of greater improvement.

The manufacturing enterprises consist of the Centreville Knit-Goods Manufacturing company, with a capital stock of $65,000. It has a large three-story brick building, erected last year. Some 65 hands are employed in the manufacture of knit-goods. An Alden and Jones fruit-drying establishment has recently been established, with $10,000 capital stock. Also the flouring mill of Kline & Holt, large foundry and machine shop of William Allison, the wagon and carriage shop of Dexter & Thomas. A cotton-batting company has just been organized in connection with the fruit-drying establishment, with an increase of capital to $20,000.

The public buildings of Centreville consist of a fair wooden court house, brick fire proof offices and a good brick jail. A $22,000 school house will soon be ready for occupancy.

The spiritual interests of the town are, or ought to be, well attended to with four churches, the methodist, baptist, united presbyterian and reformed, each of which has good wooden buildings, save the baptist, which is a very good brick.

The only newspaper published here is the Centreville Republican, owned by H. Egabroad.

CHAMPION,

A village of 200 inhabitants on the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon R. R., in the town of Ely, Marquette county, 31 miles west of Marquette. It is within a mile of the beautiful lake Michigammie, and was the location of the Champion hot blast furnace, which, however, was burned down in April, 1874, and owing to the depressed condition of the iron market, was not rebuilt, though much of the property was saved, and $15,000 to $18,000 would suffice to put it in operation again. The stoppage of the furnace has caused the village to decline in population and business, though the proprietors (The Morgan Iron Company) still keep a number of hands to work their farm in the vicinity. The Champion iron mine, located about a mile south of the village, and owned by the Champion Iron Company, is doing well, and has all the accessories of a first-class mine. The Keystone mine is in the same vicinity. Hay, oats, potatoes and vegetables are cultivated, but only iron and iron ore are shipped away. Christopher A. McRae, postmaster.

CHARLEVOIX.

The county seat of Charlevoix county, a village about 500 inhabitants, on the shore of Lake Michigan, about midway between Traverse City and Mackinac. It is 14 miles west of Petoskey the terminus of the G. R. & I. R. R. It has one or more saw mills, and a newspaper, the Sentinel. Certain propellers of the Buffalo and Chicago lines touch here several times a week, affording during the season of navigation ready communication with the outside world. During the winter season it has a tri-weekly mail.

(See index to names too late for insertion.)

CHARLOTTE.

Charlotte is a city of 3,000 inhabitants, situated in the center of the county of Eaton, one of the most flourishing counties in the State, of which it is the seat of justice. It is built upon a beautiful prairie skirted with woods, a lovely spot, and the "Loveliest village of the plain."

The Grand River Valley Division of the Michigan Central R R. crosses the Chicago & Lake Huron R. R. at this point, affording competition in traffic both east and west. No finer stores are to be found in any city of its size in the west, and its business men are live, active and thriving.

Charlotte has 2 excellent hotels, 2 banks, 5 churches, excellent school buildings, and some fine residences. In the manufacturing line it has two flouring mills, a large handle factory, which has also recently commenced upon an extensive scale the manufacturing of Willard's patent double stave barrels. The Charlotte Manufacturing Company, with a capital of 25,000, do an immense business in manufacturing staves. The Gipson fanning mill is also made here. There are three foundries and machine shops. The city has also a public circulating library, founded by Joseph Saunders, Esq., who furnishes free of rent the room which it occupies, His munificence will not soon be forgotten by a greatful public. The Eaton County Agricultural Society grounds are within the city. They are being nicely arranged and one of their most marked features is a grove of about ten acres. The county jail, situated here, is the admiration of all who see it.

Charlotte became a city in 1871, and elected Hon. E. S. Lacey its first mayor, to whom it is much indebted for the excellence of its governmental regulations. During that year many public improvements were made, and the like have steadily increased to the present time. It has a steam fire department and one of Silsby's third size engines.

No healthier place can be found and its inhabitants are moral and cultivated.

The Western Union Telegraph and American Express furnish telegraph and express facilities. F. E. Leiter postmaster.

CHASE.

The county seat of Lake county, a village of 100 inhabitants, situated on the Marquette river and the F. & P. M. R. R. Distance from Detroit 148 miles, from Ludington 40 miles. The place was only settled in 1867, but already has a good union school and the inevitable weekly newspaper (the Herald.) Lumber and shingles are the only shipments. The country around comprises fine beech and maple lands, adapted to the usual grain and root crops of northern Michigan. Thos. D. Talbot, postmaster.

The county seat of Cheboygan county, a village of about 2,751 inhabitants, situated at the mouth of the Cheboygan river, on the south shore of the straits of Mackinac. It will be the northern terminus of the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw railroad, when completed. Hence it promises some day to become a place of considerable importance. It now contains 6 saw mills, cutting annually 35,000,000 feet of lumber, 2 shingle mills, 2 foundries and machine shops, 2 planing mills, a furniture factory, a grist mill and some 30 or 40 stores. It also has a $10,000 union school house and two handsome churches. There are also 6 hotels and a weekly newspaper. The harbor is being improved by government. The first settlement was made here in 1846, and the village incorporated in 1871. It has a tri-weekly mail. Telegraph — Western Union. Express—McClure & Co's. A boat during the season of navigation plies between Cheboygan and Mackinac. Calvin A. Brace, postmaster.

CHELSEA.

The village of Chelsea is situated on the Michigan Central railroad, 56 miles west of Detroit, and 21 east of Jackson. It is in the township of Sylvan, Washtenaw county, in the best wheat district of the State. Its population is not far from 1,000. It has no water power, but considering its size it has a fair show of manufacturing enterprises, numbering among them a cider and planing mill, large brick and tile factory, pump factory, marble factory, barrel and stave factory, foundry and machine shop, carriage and wagon shops and others.

A good union school under the management of Prof. G. A. Brown and five assistants is in successful operation.

There are five church edifices in town—Congregational, Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran and Catholic.

Chelsea is not without its local paper—the Herald, under the management of A. Allison, being published here. Geo J Crowell, postmaster.

CLARKSBURGH.

A place of about 500 inhabitants on the Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon R. R., 26 miles west of Marquette. It is the location of the extensive furnace of the Michigan Iron Company, of which Dr. H. J. Colwell is superintendent.

(For business directory see index to names received too late for insertion in proper place.)

CLARKSTON.

Two miles north of Clarkston station on the D. & M. railroad, and some 35 miles from Detroit, lies the pleasant rural town of Clarkston, deriving its name from the celebrated fish breeder, N. W. Clark, one of the oldest residents of the place. Clinton river, which has its rise only five miles from here, furnishes a good power for the flouring and plaster mills of Erastus Stiff, which bear the venerable figures of 1839. A population of 500 or 600 is claimed. The country is gently rolling, and excellent for farming purposes. The Methodists and Baptists have each an organization and good church edifices here. A strong lodge of masons and grangers constitute the secret organizations. There is but one hotel. The manufacturing interests are limited, consisting mainly of the flouring and plaster mills already mentioned and a foundry. Clarkston is in the town of Independence, Oakland county, 10 miles west of Pontiac. Express, Amer-

COLDWATER.

Excepting the city of Adrian the city of Coldwater, the county seat of Branch county, is the largest town in Michigan on the line of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. It lies 132 miles west of Detroit and 155 east of Chicago, and claims a population of about 7,000.

The city is located on a rich level prairie, and with its fine public buildings and beautiful private residences, made more attractive still by nicely laid out and well-worked streets, will pass for one of the pleasantest towns in Michigan.

Its chief manufacturing interests are the stave and cooper works, giving employment to 60 or 70 men, the tobacco factory, running from 25 to 50 hands, wheelbarrow factory, saw mill and machine shop, a linseed oil and oatmeal factory, a handle factory, two large cabinet factories two foundries, a large brewery, besides several minor establishments.

The public buildings consist of the county buildings, hardly creditable to the county, a first-class union school and two ward school houses, two large public halls and seven churches—Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Episcopal, Catholic, Wesleyan Methodist, and Lutheran.

The city is lighted with gas, has good hotels and a spacious public hall. There are two weekly newspapers published here, the Republican and the Reporter, the latter independent in politics. There are also two national banks, and one private bank. Wheat, wool and live stock are extensively marketed at this point. As yet Coldwater has but one railroad outlet, but the Mansfield, Coldwater & Lake Michigan and the Coldwater, Marshall & Mackinac railroads, now in course of construction, will give it valuable connections north and south.

The greatest attraction of Coldwater is the art gallery of the Hon. Henry C. Lewis, on which he has expended in pictures and statuary alone some $75,000. With the buildings his outlay has not fallen much, if any, below $100,000. It is open only on Saturdays, when the public are invited, from far and near, to visit it without charge. More than one-half of the gallery is either the original work of the old masters, or faithful copies of the same. Lovers of art pronounce this collection one of the very finest to be found on this continent, and it is a source of great pride to the citizens of Coldwater.

No philanthropic citizen of Michigan, however, would think of visiting Coldwater without also paying a visit to the State public school recently established here. It stands on a slight eminence overlooking the city, about a mile and a half north of the business street. It consists of a central or principal building, in which are the offices, school-room, dining-hall, etc, and five cottages, standing some twenty feet apart, each one of these constituting the home of a family, consisting of a lady in charge and about thirty children under her special supervision. The institution is under the general charge of Mr. Z. Truesdel as superintendent, some ten years in charge of the public schools at Flint, and nearly all his life a teacher; and Miss Emma A. Hall, formerly in charge of the House of Shelter, in Detroit, as matron. Under their charge the school is in a flourishing condition, fully demonstrating the wisdom of their selection. The first pupils were received on the 22d of May, 1874, and the school was not long in filling up to its maximum capacity, about 150. The school was founded by the State for the care and education of the children who had previously been brought up in wretchedness in the various county poor houses. Proposals for the enlargement of its capacity are already under consideration. The institution cost $100,000. Julius S. Barber postmaster.

COLON.

Colon is a little village of some 400 to 500 souls, pleasantly situated on the air line division of the M. C. R. R., 16 miles east of Three Rivers. Unfortunately, most of the towns along this line of the road have as in this instance been left half a mile or more inland. It is in Colon township, St. Joseph county, and is on the St. Joseph river.

A good water power is furnished by Swan creek, the outlet of Palmer lake, which lies just to the southeast of the village. The soil of the surrounding country is a rich, sandy loam. The manufacturing enterprises consist of a large flouring mill, saw mill, two carriage factories, a cider mill, an Alden fruit drying establishment, which gives employment to some 25 hands in the season of operating; also, a barrel factory, a planing mill, a foundry, and a tannery.

The school facilities of Colon are good, they having appropriated a $12,000 seminary building, erected some years since, to the purposes of a union school, in which they employ three teachers.

There is only a single church in town, and that belongs to the Baptists. The Methodists, who have an organization, but no edifice, occupy the union school building.

The village was first settled in 1829.

CONSTANTINE.

The village of Constantine is one of the oldest towns in southern Michigan. Its first settlement began in 1828. It is located at the junction of the St. Joseph and Fawn rivers, and on the Kalamazoo division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., just north of White Pigeon prairie and four miles north of White Pigeon station on the main line, and eight miles south of Three Rivers. The surrounding country is fine and the general lay of the town is good.

The water power is first class, though only partially developed, Fawn river alone having been utilized. St. Joseph river has been recently dammed, and will furnish one of the best water powers in the country.

The population of Constantine is variously estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000.

The present manufacturing interests consist of a foundry and machine shop, two large flouring mills, a cabinet manufactory, a chair factory, two carriage and wagon shops, and a saw mill.

One of the finest school houses of southwestern Michigan may be seen here. It cost some $32,000, and gives employment to Prof. S. B. Kingsbury and six assistant teachers. The other public buildings consist of four churches—the Methodist, Presbyterian, Reformed and Lutheran.

For 24 years the St. Joseph County Advertiser, published here, has been under the direction of L. T. Hull, its present editor and proprietor. T. H. Calam postmaster.

CORUNNA.

Corunna is an incorporated city, two miles square, and is situated on the D. & M. R. R., 75 miles northwest of Detroit, 22 miles west of Flint and 30 miles north of Lansing, which latter place is reached by the J. L. & S. R. R., an omnibus running to all passenger trains on that road, a distance of 3 miles. It is the county seat, and has a commodious and substantial brick court house, fire proof brick county offices detached from the main building, and a residence for the sheriff of the county—all enclosed within a beautiful court yard and park, occupying one entire quare of the city. The Shiawassee river, which at this point is a beautiful stream, runs through the heart of the city, and at that point affords the most valuable hydraulic power that can be found along its entire length. The surrounding country is one of the best agricultural sections in that part of the state, and it has in its immediate vicinity some of the best farms in the county. Among its palatial residences, some of which are the finest in the county, are those of Hon. H. McCardy, built of Milwaukee brick, Hon. John N Ingersoll, A. T. Nichols, Esq., A. McArthur, Esq., Mrs. S. B. Reynale, and others.

Besides some eighty mercantile establishments, some of them attractive features, that supply the trading wants of the entire northeast quarter of the county, Corunna has among its principal manufacturing establishments, a flouring mill of four run of stone, plaster mill, saw mill, stave mill, woolen factory, hub and spoke factory, fanning mill factory, carriage factory, three blacksmith shops, three wheelright shops, marble cutting yard, two foundries, three sash, door and blind factories and planing mills, brewery, and organ factory. The Corunna Manufacturing Company, with a capital of $100,000, and occupying an immense brick structure 200 feet in length and 80 in width, operates in all sorts of fancy wood work, but principally in the manufacture of gilt and fancy wood mouldings of all sizes, employing at present over fifty hands, and contemplating the employment of three times that number within the year. The greatest product of wealth, however, and which is destined to make Corunna one of the most important manufacturing towns of the interior of the State, is the bituminous coal and fire clay, which are now being successfully worked, just east of the city, to which a first class railroad branch has been laid by the D. & M. Company, running from the depot in the city to the coal banks. The coal vein now being mined is 82 feet below the surface, four feet in thickness, and is reached by an inclined shaft that drops one foot in three, The Engleman Transportation Company has recently bought one-half of the interest for $120,000, and will soon increase their present large force, when they expect to ship 80 to 100 tons a day. The Negaunee Iron and Coal Mining Company, composed of capitalists on Lake Superior, has been organized with a view of establishing smelting works at this point, during the current year. An excellent stone quarry for building purposes is also worked near the coal bed.

Corunna has also one National bank, one private bank, a printing office—the Shiawassee American—and five church edifices—Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Univeralist and Roman Catholic, and an Episcopal church building. Its societies are—Masonic lodge, Chapter, Commandry and Council—Odd Fellows lodge, and Encampment—Grange, Patrons of Husbandry—and Ladies Library Society, with over a thousand volumes. John N. Ingersoll postmaster.

The postoffice designation for the village of Dearborn, a place of 500 inhabitants in the town of Dearborn, Wayne county. It is on the river Rouge, which is improved for water power purposes. It is also on the M. C. R. R., 9 miles from Detroit. It was first settled in 1795 by James Cissne. It is the seat of one of the U. S. arsenals, but a movement is on foot to abolish the same and sell the property, which will no doubt sooner or later be done, The principal manufacturing establishment is the extensive chemical laboratory of Dr. S. P. Duffield. There is also a saw mill and a grist mill and a brick yard. The surrounding country comprises fine rolling land, excellent for farming purposes. The chief products are potatoes, onions and vegetables. Dearborn has two hotels, and Episcopal, Catholic, Methodist and Lutheran churches. Express, American; Telegraph, Western Union. John M. DETROIT.

The chief city of Michigan, though located near the extreme southeast corner of the State. It is on the right bank of the Detroit River, 7 miles below lake St. Clair and 20 miles above lake Erie. Its latitude is 42° 20′ and longitude 82° 58′ west of Greenwich. It is 679 miles west of New York and 284 east of Chicago, by the usually traveled routes, and is 85 miles southeast of Lansing. It is the county seat of Wayne county.

HISTORY.

Detroit was founded in 1701 by a French adventurer, M. De la Motte Cadilac. A fort was here erected and called Fort Ponchartrain. A small military garrison and a few fur traders and jesuit missionaries made up the population. For about a century but little progress was made in growth and population, the interior of the state remaining an unbroken wilderness and the city being dependent for business on its indian trade alone.

In 1763 Detroit with the other French possessions in the north passed into the hands of the British. This was immediately followed by the famous Pontiac conspiracy, by which the indians sought to exterminate the white race throughout the northwest. The projected massacre was defeated at this point by the betrayal of the scheme by an indian girl to Major Gladwin, commander of the post, who was thus put on his guard. A siege of 11 months followed however, the fort holding out nobly against the enraged savages.

In 1796, under the supplementary treaty of peace with Great Britain, Detroit was turned over to the United States.

In 1778 the old fort had been removed, the village enlarged and a new fort erected on the high ground further back from the river. This was named Fort LeNoult and it occupied a space now bounded by Lafayette avenue, Congress street, a line a little east of Shelby street and one a little west of Wayne street. Heavy stockades extended from either side of the fort to the river, forming a rude triangle of which the river was the base. Within this stockade was comprised the village of Detroit. The streets were narrow, the widest being but 20 feet in width and the houses were low and mainly of wood. That in 1805 a fire should break out and sweep away the entire village was therefore not surprising. But a single house remained standing. Two years later Congress authorized the laying out of a city on a much more liberal scale, and made a grant of 10,000 acres of land to aid in defraying the cost of the necessary public improvements. The authorship of the plan of the new city is attributed to Judge Woodward. He was a man of exceedingly fanciful tastes and his plan, only a small portion of which is still retained, was a very remarkable one. Washington avenue was intended to have been extended to the river, terminating in a grand circus similar to the one at its northern extremity. Madison avenue did likewise. There were several squares similar to the present Campus Martius. The streets were of unusual width and access from one part of the city to another was exceedingly ready and convenient. But the objection was the amount of land wasted in streets and the angular shapes of a great proportion of the lots. So at a later period the Woodward plan was abandoned and the rectangular system substituted. Between the two, with the freedom which was accorded to every property-holder to lay out streets and subdivide his property after his own taste, Detroit is to-day perhaps as labyrinthine a city as any in the West.

In June 1812, war broke out with Great Britain, and on the 16th of August following, Gen. Hull, who was in command, surrendered the fort and city to Gen. Brock without any attempt to maintain a defense. Detroit remained in possession of the British till October 1813, when, as a result of the American victory at the battle of the Thames, it was recovered by the United States. The name of the fort was now changed to Shelby. At this time Detroit had a population of less than one thousand, and its growth for a long time continued to be very slow.

In 1831, when the population was something over 2,000, the first real step was taken towards opening up the interior and making it tributary to the city, in the commencing of the construction of the Detroit & St. Joseph (now Michigan Central) railroad. The work progressed slowly and it was February 3d, 1838, before any part of the line was opened for traffic. In the same year the Detroit & Pontiac railroad was opened to Royal Oak, and soon after to Pontiac. In this year or the year following a railroad also was opened to Utica, following the line of the present Detroit & Bay City railroad.

In 1836, and again in 1840, and still again in 1848, disastrous fires swept away large portions of the city,

In 1827 the fort was abandoned by the government, and being made over to the city was demolished, the earth forming its embankments being carted down to the river's edge and there dumped into the shallow water which had previously been a source of great unhealthfulness. The shore line was thus extended out into the river in some places as much as a full block.

In 1847, Detroit lost the prestige of being the capital of the State, the seat of government in that year being removed to Lansing.

In 1854 it secured direct communication with the East at all seasons of the year by the opening of the Great Western railway of Canada, and four years later a competing line in the completion of the Grand Trunk.

The growth of the city up to 1860 will be seen by the following table:

1810	770	1844	13,065
1820	1,442	1850	21,019
1830	2,222	1854	40,137
1834	4,968	1860	45,619
1840	9,102

DETROIT IN 1860 AND 1875.

In, or just before, 1860, though occupying no less an area than at present, it was much more sparsely settled. The 9th and 10th wards were quite suburban in their character, the larger part of the Cass farm was still what its name indicated, and fields abutted on Woodward avenue within the two mile radius. Only a few leading thoroughfares were paved. There were neither street railways nor omnibus lines. Old fashioned drays did all the hauling. There were no public street lamps except in the central part of the city, Michigan avenue, Grand River avenue, Gratiot avenue and Woodward avenue being all in darkness after the first few blocks had been passed. Firemen's Hall, with neither galleries nor stage equipment, was the best public hall the city afforded. There were but three stone business fronts, and these all old fashioned two storied structures on Jefferson avenue. Two still remain in the First National bank and the old Peninsular bank buildings. Captain E. B. Ward's residence on Fort street, and N. P. Stewart's, on Jefferson avenue, were almost the only private residences of any pretensions. The finest stores were the block still standing on the east side of Woodward avenue, between Congress and Larned streets. Where the Merrill block now stands were a group of old gothic rookeries two stories in height. Griswold street was almost purely a residence street. The postoffice building was not yet completed, and the office itself occupied the basement of the Mariner's Church. On Woodward avenue there was little or no business above State street. Twelve hand engines, manned by volunteer companies constituted the fire department. Where the City Hall now stands there were a group of old wooden rookeries, once the depot building of the Michigan Central railroad, but then occupied by second hand dealers and low saloons. The parks were uncared for and overgrown with tall grass and weeds. The Russell House was the only block of any pretensions fronting the Campus Martius. The Bishop School was the only modern school building. One ferry boat, the little Gem, accommodated all the traffic between Detroit and Windsor. There was no police force, no House of Correction, and only a black-hole for a jail.

Since 1860 the progress of Detroit has been very rapid. The population increased to 53,170 in 1864, to 79,577 in 1870, and to 101,255 in 1874.

The valuation of real and personal property increased to $74,509,303 in 1871, and $90,305,485 in 1874.

Large tracts that 15 years ago were open commons are now densely covered with houses. Business has passed the Grand Circus and pushed its way on Woodward avenue as far up as High street. Retail trade has almost entirely deserted Jefferson avenue and the lower part of Woodward. Even aristocratic Fort street has been invaded by stores. Griswold has become a business street second in importance to none other.

A $700,000 City Hall has been erected, which is the pride of Detroit and the envy of the rest of the world. A large opera house has been built and a second is in process of erection.

The school buildings of the city have increased in numbers, to 28 valued at $548.274 and possessing accommodations for 9,477 children. In the way of churches there have been added St. Patrick's, St. Aloysius', the church of Our Lady of Help, St. Joseph's, St. Albert's and St. Vincent de Paul's, all catholic; Christ Church, St. John's and Grace, Episcopal, the Central, Simpson, Tabernacle and Sixteenth Street Methodist. The First and Lafayette Avenue Baptist, the Woodward Avenue Congregational and St. John's German Evangelical, besides numerous others of smaller size and cheaper construction.

The paved streets (mostly wood pavement) now measure 55 miles. Sewers to the extent of 93 miles drain the city. Gas extends on all the leading streets, almost to the city limits. A fire department comprising 8 steam fire engines and a fire alarm telegraph, and second in perfection of equipment and general efficiency to none in the west, has supplanted the old volunteer system. A police force of 115 men, with three stations, and a police telegraph preserves the most perfect order. The Detroit House of Correction has long been regarded as a model prison. A public library of 23,000 volumes has grown up. Six companies operate street car lines, aggregating about 25 miles of travel. Three additional railroads have tapped the city, viz: the Canada Southern, the Detroit, Lansing and Lake Michigan, and the Detroit & Bay City. General business has immensely increased, as the daily bustle and life apparent on the streets attests.

THE CITY DESCRIBED.

Detroit is without doubt the best drained, the best paved, the best shaded, the cleanest, and in general the healthiest city in the west. It covers an area some 6 miles in length, up and down the river, by a depth of about 2½ miles. Having so much ground the dwellings are not crowded together in solid blocks, but are mostly detached, with plenty of intervening space. This with the wideness of the streets, and the prevalence of shade trees, gives the place more of a village than a city air, and contributes much to its pleasantness as a place of residence.

Churches are very numerous in proportion to the population, and are usually well attended. The school system is very perfect, bearing favorable comparison with that of any other city in the union. Society, too, from the less frequent changes that obtain here over other western cities, is more settled, refined and truly genteel. Thus as a place of residence it is unsurpassed by any place west of Boston. Indeed while the business activity and stir of Chicago is lacking, Detroit resembles Boston not a little in its social and literary atmosphere.

The Germans claim a third of the population. The Irish are rather less numerous. There is quite a large colored population, and the old original French element is still quite numerous. There are representatives also in considerable numbers of the various other European nationalities as Hollanders, Poles, Swedes, Norwegians, Swiss, Italians, etc., but this foreign element is eminently industrious, thrifty and orderly. Riots are almost wholly unknown. In general each family owns its homestead. The savings banks are well patronized, and vagrancy and pauperism are perhaps as little prevalent here as in any city of the same size.

In proportion to the population Detroit is quite a wealthy city. Most of the business operations of its citizens are based on real capital, owned by the parties using it and not borrowed elsewhere. This is a result perhaps of the extreme conservatism which borders a little on lack of enterprise, or which at least shuns speculation. This conservatism for which Detroit has been noted has restricted the growth of the city to a strictly healthy and natural one. It has prevented over-trading in any department of business, and thus we find an almost entire absence of inflation. Real estate is relatively cheap, and few branches of business are overdone. This condition of things renders Detroit a peculiarly inviting field for men of enterprise and capital to locate in. Competition has not dried up the vital sources of wealth.

Notwithstanding the admirable condition of all public works, the debt of the city is small, being but $983,751 90; or, including the debt of the water board, $2,084,751.90. Taxes are light, being less than one per cent on the real valuation of property. For a number of years past the financial affairs of the city have been managed with great wisdom and fidelity.

There are few great municipal wants unsupplied. The water supply, though at present ample, is about to be placed beyond a contingency of failure by the erection of new and independent pumping works a few miles above the city, preliminary work for which is now under contract. The next want, a bridge over or a tunnel under the river, for the more ready transfer of freight and passengers, is already agitated and its realization is only a question of time. The one other desideratum, a public park, was on the verge of being a realized fact, a large tract of land just above the city having been purchased for a site, when the enterprise was defeated by an adverse decision in the courts as to the constitutionality of the law authorizing the expenditure. It is still to be hoped that means will be found to secure an adequate park. An annual industrial and art exposition has been agitated and will no doubt be carried into effect. A new and commodious central union depot is expected to follow the settlement of the river transit problem. A strictly first-class hotel is wanted. A handsome library building will be erected during the current year, and a young men's Christian association building in the immediate future.

THE TRADE OF DETROIT.

The trade of Detroit is in a very healthy condition. The principal wholesale houses are old established concerns, with ample means and a secure trade. From figures compiled in June, 1874, by the Daily Post newspaper, it appears that there are in the leading branches of the jobbing trade nearly $9,000,000 of capital, and over 1,000 hands employed, including 126 drummers. This is entirely exclusive of such branches as manufacture their own goods, in whole or part. The aggregate jobbing sales reach nearly $30,000,000 per annum. The Post gives the details as follows:

	Capital.	Employes.	Sales.
Groceries	$2,080,000	175	$9,000,000
Fruits and Oysters.	180,000	60	625,000
Hardware	950,000	100	3,250,000
Dry Goods	1,000,000	84	3,700,000
Clothing	900,000	55	1,825,000
Millinery	115,000	40	510,000
Notions	155,000	24	325,000
Crockery	330,000	75	700,000
Drugs	670,000	74	2,325,000
Books	250,000	19	750,000
Paper & Stationery.	400,000	38	960,000
Leather & Findings	175,000	22	525,000
Ship Chandlery	105,000	85	455,000
Miscellaneous	1,419,000	85	3,640,000
Total	$8,649,000	936	$28,550,000

These figures are of course only approximations, as a large amount of jobbing is always done by the larger retail houses and by others who would not naturally be called upon.

No reliable estimate of the retail trade of the city has ever yet been made.

The Post places the annual produce trade of the city at $24,061,000, giving employment to $1,018,000 of capital and 122 hands. Thus, exclusive of the retail and manufacturing business of the city, nearly ten millions of capital and over one thousand hands are employed and annual sales are made to the extent of over $50,000,000.

DETROIT MANUFACTURES.

Detroit is essentially a manufacturing city, possessing from its easy water communication and its proximity to the inexhaustible mines and forests of the State, peculiar advantages, as yet, however, only very partially improved. There can be no doubt that the time is coming when the banks of the Detroit river will be lined with mills and factories, rendering it the Birmingham of the Northwest.

According to one authority, there are now actually about 400 different concerns in the city engaged strictly in manufacturing. The procuring of exact statistics on the subject is a matter of extreme difficulty. The Evening News, in January, 1875, made an earnest and conscientious effort in this direction, with results epitomized in the following table:

	Capital.	Hands employed.	Products.
Iron and machinery.	$4,500,000	3,000	$6,000,000
Railroad cars	750,000	850	1,925,000
Manufac'rs of wood	4,064,000	3,311	6,206,000
Tobacco and cigars	1,375,000	1,072	3,222,000
Boots and shoes	798,000	916	1,542,000
Clothing	812,000	1,480	1,687,000
Malt, beer and spirits	1,132,000	230	2,740,000
Flour	310,000	58	1,730,000
Pork and beef pack'g	450,000	250	1,120,000
Leather	830,000	260	2,000,000
Hats and furs	350,000	320	1,270,000
Chemicals	340,000	124	870,000
Bricks	100,000	375	360,000
Miscellaneous	765,000	707	2,077,000
	$16,576,000	12,953	$32,749,000

The Northwestern Manufacturers' Journal, in February, 1874, compiled statistics of the manufactures of Detroit, which showed $14,518,500 capital used, 12,157 hands employed, and $28,408,000 in value of product turned out. Though prepared entirely independently of each other, and arrived at in a different way, the nearness of the final results of the two estimates is very significant of approximate correctness.

Taking into account the number of manufacturers who refused to make any return, the large number of small concerns not called on, the extensive interests in Windsor and Wyandotte carried on by Detroit men and with Detroit capital, and the manufacturing of cars and machinery for their own use by the railroad companies, none of which appear in the above statement, and allowing for the fact that 1874 was a year of exceptional financial depression, and that in some branches, particularly in the manufacture of iron, business was almost entirely suspended during the year, it will not be deemed extravagant to place the aggregate manufactures of Detroit at the snug little annual sum of $50,000,000.

BANKS.

Detroit has never enjoyed banking facilities adequate to her extended trade and her manufacturing interests have no doubt suffered in consequence. Banking has nevertheless been profitable, and in the establishment of a few more national banks at this point a good field offers for capital. The present list of incorporated banks is as follows:

	Capital.	Deposits.
First National	$500,000	$1,060,800 26
Second National	1,000,000	667,048 10
American National	400,000	1,500,000 00
Merchants and Manuf'rs.	300,000	472,239 25
Mechanics	100,000	402,892 25
Detroit Savings	200,000	1,435,594 66
German American	100,000	498,274 84
Peoples Savings	125,000	1,001,312 68
Wayne County Savings	50,000	1,128,433 70
Total	$2,775,000	$8,165,595 74

Besides these there are several private banks of considerable financial strength and doing an extensive business. These include A. Ives & Sons, David Preston & Co., Vincent J. Scott, Fisher, Booth & Co., Cromwell & Ralston, W. D. Morton, etc.

There are two insurance companies both in a healthy condition. These are the Detroit Fire and Marine and the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company.

RAILROADS.

The railroads centering in Detroit are 9 in number, as follows:

The Michigan Central, recognized as one of the best managed, and finest equipped roads in the west, extending to Chicago with branches to all important points in the State.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern to Chicago, Toledo, Cleveland and Buffalo.

The Detroit & Milwaukee to Grand Haven and Milwaukee.

The Great Western of Canada to Toronto and Buffalo.

The Grand Trunk of Canada to Port Huron, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and Portland.

The Detroit, Lansing & Lake Michigan to Lansing, Howard City and Stanton.

The Detroit and Bay City to Bay City, Alpena and Mackinac.

The Detroit, Hillsdale & Indiana to Indianapolis.

The Canada Southern to Toledo and Buffalo

Additional lines giving the Flint & Pere Marquette an independent connection with Detroit and establishing a direct connection with Adrian and the southwest, are being more or less agitated.

Hon. James F. Joy, the railroad king of the west, resides in Detroit, and from this point manipulates the destinies of some thousands of miles of road.

THE NEWSPAPERS.

The press of Detroit does credit to the city. There are eight daily newspapers—3 German and 5 English. The oldest and perhaps the most prosperous and enterprising is the Detroit Free Press (Democratic). As a humorous journal, too, the Free Press is rapidly attaining a national reputation. The Daily Post occupies a front rank in ability among the republican political journals of the country. The Tribune possesses sterling merits as a carefully edited, reliable and conscientious newspaper, and its weekly edition enjoys a circulation superior to that of any other political paper in the State. The Evening News, a cheap or two cent afternoon paper, established in 1873, has, in the immense circulation it has attained (12,000 copies daily) and the degree of popularity and prosperity it has reached, proved one of the most striking newspaper successes of the age. The Daily Sun is a newly fledged afternoon paper, sold at one cent. The Commercial Advertiser, a literary and commercial weekly has a very wide circulation, and with the Michigan Farmer, Journal of Commerce and the Leader, and three religious papers creditably represents the field of weekly journalism.

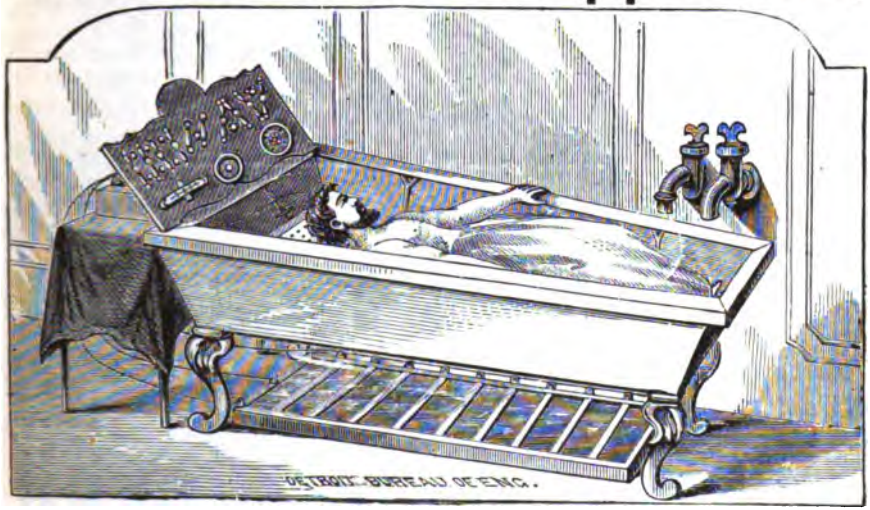
DR. CARR'S
Medical Electrical Apparatus,



And ELECTRO-THERMAL HYDRIC

B | A | T | H | S |.

Electricity has long been used in treating the sick, and if it has ever met with failures the fault was not with the Electricity at all, but owing entirely to the IMPERFECT APPARATUS and the IGNORANCE of the PRACTITIONER. This has been PROVED by the effects of the perfect apparatus now in use at the ELECTRICAL HEALTH INSTITUTE, Cor. State & Rowland Sts., Detroit, Michigan.

A fac-simile cut of which is at the head of this page. This is the most elaborate Medical Electrical Apparatus ever constructed in any part of the world. With this Apparatus, while the patient is in a bath (the water of which may be at any temperature, so as to produce a gentle or a profuse perspiration, or none at all as may be desired), a gentle, soothing, pain-removing, strengthening and toning current of Electricity may be made to permeate through the WHOLE BODY so as to be felt from the TONGUE TO THE TOES AT THE SAME MOMENT, or directed so as to be felt only in any single part or organ of the body, at the will of the operator. These currents are sent through the water, and nothing but the water is touching the body. After this electrical bath, the patient is placed on a couch or stool, and the Electricity from the Perfect Apparatus is applied with a sponge electrode down the spine and over the affected parts; and so patients who have been under treatment for many years, and spent thousands of dollars going from one water cure to another, and from one magnetic or mineral spring to another, are cured in from one to three months.

With this Apparatus and Bath we are especially successful in curing Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Softening of the Brain, and all kinds of Fits, Spinal Curvature and Affections of the Spine, all derangements of the Brain, St. Vitus Dance, General Debility, Nervous Debility, all derangements of the Nervous System, Insanity, diseases arising from a disturbed and imperfect circulation of Vital Forces and Impure Blood, from a diseased Liver or Kidneys, IMPOTENCY, in both sexes, and all FEMALE COMPLAINTS, Constipation, Dyspepsia, diseases of the Heart, and first stages of Consumption. And all diseases where the conditions of Torpor, Weakness and Congestion exist, thus covering all forms of Chronic Diseases, and all pains in every part of the body. In from one day to thirty every case will see a decided change for the better, and in three months, cases who have been as many years hunting health, are cured.

Invalids from abroad accommodated with board and rooms in the immediate vicinity of the INSTITUTE.
The cost of this Apparatus complete is $350.00, manufactured and sold by DR. L. W. CARR, Detroit, Mich.

The following is from well-known citizens: We believe that in the interest of an afflicted public, Dr. Carr's system of treating Chronic Diseases deserves the widest publicity and patronage. We speak from a practical knowledge:
F. M Merick, B. Hubbard, Ray Haddock, E. S. Barbour, J. E. King, Aronet Richmond, Geo. Hargraves, James Donaldson, E. Wolfenden, J. S. Stridiron, C. Schulenburg, Horatio Crain, Prof. Karl Heintz, R. W. Linn, Gibraltar, C. J. Kruger, Grand Rapids, J. H. Giuley, M. D., Battle Creek, and one hundred and fifty others. For further particulars, call on or address

Permanently established for the cure of all diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest, viz: Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption and all forms of Lung Diseases, Loss of Voice, Sore Throat, Enlarged Tonsils, Croup, Diptheria, Whooping Cough, etc. Also diseases of the EYE and EAR, through the most approved System of Inhalation Steam Atomizer and Silver Showering Syringe.

EXAMINATION of the Throat with the reflected light of the Larnycoscope revealing each and every part

☞ CONSULTATION FREE. ☜

In connection with the above, we have established the

ELECTRIC AND MEDICATED BATHS,

Thus making this the most complete and perfect Institution west of New York City. These Baths are particularly adapted to all NERVOUS, BLOOD and SKIN DISEASES. Also, DISEASES and WEAKNESSES of Women, and the cures that have been made with these Baths are truly wonderful, especially in Nervous Diseases of Women.

Persons from the country, who desire, can secure board in the Institute at very reasonable rates, or they can use the remedies at home.

If possible call personally for an examination, otherwise write for "List of Questions" and "Circular," both of which will be sent free of charge. Address

BERKSHIRE

Life Insurance Company,

OF PITTSFIELD, MASS.

Incorporated 1851. Twenty-four years successful Business. One of the Oldest and Most Reliable Companies in the Country.

Why should you Insure in the Berkshire Life Insurance Company?

Because it is a First-Class Company in every respect. Because, in addition to being sound and responsible, its policies are absolutely non-forfeitable. Because, under the laws of its organization, policy-holders are secured against loss in the event of a failure to pay premiums when due.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Policy No. 5,869. Bernard O'Grady, of Detroit, Mich., insured October 7, 1867, for $3,000. Life, 10 payments. Premium, $173.10.

This policy lapsed for non-payment of premium, October 7, 1868. Mr. O'Grady died at Detroit, August 18, 1871, and the Company paid the claim less three premiums and interest. Mr. O'Grady would have remained insured until December 3, 1871.

Policy No. 4,717. Lawrence Byrnes, of Boston, Mass. Insured January 2, 1867, for $5,000. Endowment 15 years.

This Policy lapsed for non-payment of premium January 2, 1871. Mr. Byrnes died at Worcester, Mass., March 29, 1874, and the Company will pay the claim, when due, less four premiums, with interest. Mr. Byrnes would have remained insured until November 10, 1886.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

BETHESDA

MINERAL WATER.

WAUKESHA, - WISCONSIN.

We claim Bethesda to be a sure cure in all cases of Diabetes, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder and Urethra, Inflammation of the Bladder, Dropsy, Gouty Swellings, Stoppage of Urine, Albumenuria, Ropy or Cloudy Urine, Brick Dust Deposit, Thick, Morbid Bilious and Dark Appearing Urine, Burning Sensation with Sharp Pains when voiding Urine, Hemorrhage of the Kidneys, Pain in the Kidneys and Loins, Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Calculus, and Female Weakness.

There is no remedial agent known to man that can cure the foregoing diseases as effectually as Bethesda Water. This fact has been demonstrated wherever the water has been used according to directions, which can be had at the General Agents, by application to him. The water is sweet and pleasant to the taste. It can be drank at all hours. Why should any one suffer while this water is so easily obtained.

DETROIT JUNCTION.

Locally known as Grand Trunk Junction, a suburb of Detroit, at a point just west of the city, whence six different railroad lines radiate, 5 of the 6 running into Detroit from thence over the M. C. R. R. track. The various roads are the Canada Southern, the L. S. & M. S. R. R., the M. C. R. R., the D. L. & L. M. R. R., the Detroit & Bay City and the Grand Trunk railway of Canada. The number of trains passing and repassing this point daily is enormous, and as all stop here, this is one of the busiest railroad centers in the west. The cheapness of land hereabouts is fast luring manufacturers from the city. The Detroit Bridge and Iron Works have long been located near by. The Michigan Car Company removed thither a year or two since, and in 1874 all the car and repair shops and engine houses of the Michigan Central were removed to this point. Besides these there is an extensive slaughter and packing house and several extensive brick yards in the immediate vicinity. It is also the location of the railroad cattle yards. Considerable property has lately been platted and sold, and the Junction is destined ere long to become a populous and busy quarter of Detroit. A postoffice has been established under the title of Detroit Junction. Augustus R. Sink, postmaster.

DEVEREAUX,

A postoffice and railway station in a thickly settled farming country in the town of Parma, Jackson county. It is on the Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., 6 miles north of Albion and 31 from Lansing. The nearest express and telegraph offices are at Springport, the next station north. There is a settlement of about 100 people about the depot. Wheat, live stock, poultry and apples are shipped. L. H. King, postmaster.

DEXTER.

Dexter is a handsome little village of some 1,500 inhabitants, on the M. C. R. R., 48 miles west of Detroit. It is in the town of Scio, Washtenaw county, 9 miles northwest of Ann Arbor.

It is located at the junction of the Huron river and Mill creek, on a high and dry gravelly soil, rendering its streets almost equivalent to a pavement and easy to be kept in repair. The town is well laid out and well provided with fine residences.

Its school accommodations are first-class. Its other public buildings consist of four churches—Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal and Catholic, the latter being a fine brick edifice just completed.

The manufacturing enterprises of the town consist of the two flouring mills and plaster mills of Evarts & Co., and R. P. Copland, the cider and planing mill, sash, blind and door factory of Phelps & Sill Bros., woolen mill and saw mill of L. Palmer & Son., carriage and wagon factories of J. Bailey and William Kerns & Co.

The town has one local paper, the Dexter Leader, independent republican in politics, published by A. McMillan.

Dexter was settled about 1823, by Hon. S. C. W. Dexter, from Boston. For a long time it was the frontier settlement in this State, beyond which all was wilderness, traversed only by Indian trails. The Michigan Central was opened to Dexter on July 4th, 1841.

EAST SAGINAW.

This thriving city is one of the wonders of the State in the rapidity of its growth, the aggregation of its capital, its enterprise, and the aggregate of its manufacturing and commercial interests.

LOCATION.

East Saginaw is situated on the right or east bank of the Saginaw river, about 16 miles above its mouth. It is 200 miles from Detroit by river and lake and 98 by rail.

This city, the site of which was a wilderness 23 years ago, now contains a population of 17,084 within its chartered limits, and from 3,000 to 5,000 more in the suburbs connected with it. The city extends along the river, nearly north and south, a distance of three miles or over, and at points extends over a mile back, covering an area of four to five square miles, and is now pretty well built over. There are some very fine streets, many of which are paved with wood pavement or substantially planked.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the most important features in this line are the water works, known as the "Holly System." The water is taken from the Tittabawassee river, three miles above the business centre of the city, and is distributed through about 20 miles of iron pipes, furnishing an abundant supply for all public and private purposes. Over 100 fire hydrants are provided, which furnish efficient protection from the devouring element. The total cost of the water works was about $350,000.

The sewerage system of the city is another most important feature. At present there are about five miles of substantial brick and pipe sewers, which furnish good drainage and add largely to the good health and convenience of the people. The cost of sewers up to the present time has been about $160,000.

No city in the State is probably better provided with school facilites than this. There are twelve school houses, under the control of the Board of Education, with a seating capacity for nearly 3,000 scholars. The expenditures for school purposes for the year 1874 were upwards of $65,000 and the cash value of the school property is put at about $200,000. The public library contains about 3,500 volumes.

The assessed valuation of the city is about $3,500,000 and its total bonded debt is about $750,000.

BUILDINGS, ETC.

East Saginaw has no public buildings except such as have been built by its municipal authorities or by private enterprises. Among the former are the water works buildings, two large brick and four frame fire department buildings, and the public school buildings, six of which are brick.

In the way of churches, the Baptist, Congregationalist, Methodist, Lutheran, Presbyterian and German Methodist societies have substantial brick edifices, and the Episcopalians and colored Baptists have frame buildings.

The very large number of elegant private residences is a most notable feature of this place.

The business portion of the city is mostly of brick three and four story buildings, having a substantial appearance. There are several fine stone structures, such as the Merchants' National Bank, the new Hoyt Block, and the railroad buildings.

There are two places of amusement, the "Academy of Music," one of the pleasantest and neatest public halls in the State, capacity for seating 1,800 people, and the "Opera House," which is smaller, both situated on Washington street.

East Saginaw is well supplied with good hotels, among them the far famed Everett House, the Bancroft House, the Sherman House, the Irving House, and others.

There are about twenty saw and shingle mills within the city limits, among which are some of the most complete in the State.

MANUFACTURES AND TRADE.

East Saginaw is the principal center of the immense lumber trade of this section of the State, which aggregates over 500,000,000 feet of pine lumber annually, besides lath, shingles, etc., and a large quantity of oak timber and staves, and a large product in butternut, walnut, cherry and ash. The manufacture of salt has increased very largely, the total product for 1874 being over 1,000,000 barrels, fully one-half of all produced and marketed in Saginaw county. Many of the heaviest lumber and salt operators reside here, and direct their operations from this point, and this makes East Saginaw not only the center of an immense lumbering supply trade, but its general wholesale trade reaches for long distances out upon the railroad lines and up the Lake Huron shore to Mackinaw.

Four extensive planing mills, three cabinet factories, four breweries, two flouring mills, four foundries and machine shops, one brass foundry, two lime kilns, one large car shop, and three ship yards, comprise the leading manufacturing interests.

RAILROADS.

The following are the lines of railroad now in operation and centering here: The F. & P. M., from Toledo to Ludington; the J., L. & S., from Jackson to Otsego Lake, and Saginaw Valley & St. Louis; the Chicago, Saginaw & Canada railroad soon to be added, which will give a direct route eastward, now greatly desired.

MISCELLANEOUS.

East Saginaw has the usual quota of associations and societies, among which are the Masonic, in its several degrees and subdivisions, the I. O. O. F., the German clubs and associations, Good Templars, etc.

Two daily newspapers are published here, the Republican and the Courier (Dem.), and one German paper, the Weekly Zeitung.

The government is now engaged in improving the navigation of the river, which has been somewhat obstructed by bars, and for the season of 1875, it is anticipated, a good channel with 10 feet of water will be opened the whole length of the river.

There are two hospitals, one built by the city, and one under the management of the "Sisters of Charity." The "Home for the Friendless," is a worthy benevolent institution.

East Saginaw has three National and two private banks, and a savings bank organized under the State law. The capital engaged in this department is considerably in excess of $1,000,000.

Among the public institutions of the place are its splendid driving park and the fair grounds. These are beautifully situated and have a track one mile long and level as a floor.

The East Saginaw Lumber Exchange, the Young Men's Library Association, the German Syra Musical Association, are among other local institutions of prominence and note.

SETTLEMENT AND GROWTH.

East Saginaw was practically begun in 1850. The tract of land forming the original "Hoyt plat," first taken up by Charles Little, of Saginaw, but at the time held by the Michigan State bank, was purchased in 1849 by Hon. Norman Little, as agent of Jesse Hoyt and others, of New York. The location and building of a village was immediately commenced. The land, up to that time a wilderness, with only one cabin, occupied by a fur trader, was platted, a portion of it cleared, a saw mill, a few dwellings and offices erected, a few families and boarders sheltered, and the embryo city sprang into life, soon to outgrow the expectations of its most sanguine founders. A flouring mill was erected, buildings, dwellings and stores added. During the succeeding year, 1851, a plank road, projected and mostly built through the enterprise and capital of the founders of East Saginaw, was opened to Flint, opening up to the Saginaw valley an avenue of travel and supplies for the lumber woods, not before enjoyed. Within two years it had from 1,000 to 1,500 inhabitants. Within five years it received a village charter, within ten became a city, and now, with a growth of 25 years, has a population of 17,000, rapidly increasing, and presenting all the signs of modern improvement and progress.

The indications for the future growth of East Saginaw are good, the immense wealth of the timber and salt basin of which it is the center, the opening of new lines of railroads and the improvement of the water ways, the rapid development of the farming interest, and the superior facilities for manufacturing, are points in its favor that are too prominent to be ignored. Starting from nothing in 1850, in the short space of a quarter of a century it has risen to a prosperous and wealthy city, distancing all competitors, with two exceptions in the State.

There is no good reason why its future growth should not equal, if it does not excel the past. With its sister "City of Saginaw," and the adjoining village of Carrollton, there is an aggregation of nearly 40,000 population, upon a space of territory averaging six miles long by four miles wide.

When the time shall come that all these people and interests shall be merged together, it will rank as the second in population, wealth and productive industry in the commonwealth.

EATON RAPIDS.

Eaton Rapids is a flourishing incorporated village of some 2,500 inhabitants in the township of the same name in the southeast corner of Eaton county. It is situated at the intersection of the Grand River Valley division of the M. C. R. R., and the Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. On the former road it is 24 miles west of Jackson and on the latter 20 north of Albion, and 17 south of Lansing. It is 10 miles from Charlotte the county seat. Grand river flows through the village and furnishes power for one large flouring mill. Besides this there are a carding mill, a sash, door and blind factory, a foundry and a stave factory. There are a number of stores, and the place enjoys a fine trade with the surrounding country. But the place is chiefly famous for its mineral waters, it claiming indeed the appellation of the Saratoga of Michigan. Artesian wells are sunk a few hundred feet, when the waters possessing strong magnetic properties flow from the surface in copious streams. They are slightly cathartic in their effects, and are highly extolled for their cures in cases of dyspepsia and also rheumatic affections. The great number of people that flock to Eaton Rapids for the benefit of the waters, led to the erection of several large hotels. The largest of these, the Vaughan House, was recently destroyed by fire. The Anderson House is a large four story brick, with all the modern improvements, and handsomely fitted up. The Frost House is a less pretentious but comfortable hotel. Besides the drinking and bathing on the spot, large quantities of the water are bottled or barreled for shipment to all parts of the country. The village has Methodist, Congregational, Baptist and Episcopal churches, good schools and other features making it a desirable place of residence. It is reached by both the American and United States Express Companies. Telegraph, Western Union. H. N. Hamilton, postmaster.

F. A. ROCKWITH, M. D.,

General Operative and Ophthalmic Surgeon,

Consulting Physician and Specialist in the Diseases of the Mind and Nervous System.

Formerly a Professor in the Homeopathic Medical College of New York; as also in the New York Medical College for Women; active and honorary member of various medical and other learned societies in this country and Europe, etc.

N. B.—Dr. R. has permission to refer to many of the most eminent medical gentlemen in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Chicago, and is well known as a medical writer throughout all homeopathic literature.

The Chicago Medical Investigator of Sept., 1873, Vol. X. says: Removals.

"Frank A. Rockwith, M. D., from Newark, N. J., to East Saginaw, Mich., the sea air being detrimental to his health. We congratulate the medical fraternity of Michigan in this acquisition to their ranks. They will find him scientific in any department of medicine, and an excellent counselor.

From The Medical Union of New York, June, 1873:

Dr. Frank A. Rockwith, is about to remove from Newark, N. J., to resume practice again in East Saginaw, Mich. The Doctor will be welcomed after his long absence by many of his old friends. He carries with him a ripe experience as a physician and a reputation as a skillful and successful surgeon. As one of the most indefatigable workers in the profession, whether as physician, professor or scientist, we predict a success for him in his new home and congratulate our Michigan friends upon this accession to their ranks of one of the most accomplished men in the profession.

The Newark, N. J. Evening Courier, of May, 1872, in an article on "homeopathy" by Dr. W. W. Tuffts, speaks of Dr. R, in the most flattering terms as a surgeon, and relates a large number of his operations, as published in various medical journals.

ESCANABA.

The county seat of Delta county, an incorporated village of 3,185 inhabitants, situated in Escanaba township, on the west shore of Little Bay du Noquet, an arm of Green Bay. It is also on the Peninsula division of the Chicago & Northwestern R. R., 356 miles north of Chicago, and 76 south of Marquette. It is one of the three shipping points for the upper peninsula iron ore, and rivals Marquette in the extent of these shipments. It has two extensive iron docks, with facilities for receiving and shipping 700 loaded cars of ore per day. There are 1,950 of these cars employed between the iron mines and Escanaba, and each carries 7½ tons at a load. The shipments for four years past have been:

1871	439,775	gross tons.
1872	488,821	"
1873	486,929	"
1874	341,273	"

The other material interests of Escanaba comprise an iron furnace, a planing mill and brewery, 3 hotels, 3 churches, 2 school buildings and a weekly newspaper, the Escanaba Tribune Good farming land lies within a few miles of the village, and the Escanaba river, which rises in the iron region, and here flows into the lake, furnishes water power. The village was first settled in 1863. Express, American. Telegraph, Northwestern. E. P. Royce, postmaster.

FENTON,

An incorporated village in Genesee county.

(See Fentonville.)

FENTONVILLE,

A thriving incorporated village in the township of Fenton, Genesee county. It is on the D. & M. R. R., 50 miles from Detroit, and 5 miles west of Holly. The north branch of the Shiawassee river flows through the village, affording a good water power. The village contains a population of 2,446. It was first settled in 1834, and named after Hon. Wm. Fenton, one of its early settlers, and father of the late Col. Wm. M. Fenton, of Flint. It became incorporated in 1863. It is surrounded by a good rolling farming country, in which all the products of the State grow in abundance. Wheat, wool, pork, butter, eggs and apples form the leading articles of shipment. Fentonville numbers among its manufacturing interests a woolen factory, extensive flouring mills, a saw mill, two planing mills and sash factories, a knitting factory, a pump factory, a foundry and machine shop, an agricultural implement factory, etc.

There are two local papers, Gazette and Independent.

In educational advantages Fentonville is second to few towns in the State. In addition to a large union and two ward schools, the Baptists of Michigan have here a seminary which has cost somewhere from $30,000 to $40,000. The Episcopalians have also erected to seminaries in different parts of the village, one for gentlemen and one for ladies. The former, though not entirely completed, has been in use a portion of the past year. The latter is not yet ready for occupancy.

There are five churches—Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Catholic, the two former of which are fine edifices. The Universalists contemplate building.

There is a beautiful lake about two miles from Fentonville, which is becoming a great resort for pleasure seekers. There are two steam pleasure boats and a number of yachts upon it. Abundance of fish are found in it.

Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. Wm. Guest, postmaster.

FLINT.

The county seat of Genesee county and one of the most beautiful and thrifty of the smaller cities of Michigan. It is situated at the intersection of the F. & P. M. R'y, with the Chicago and Lake Huron R. R., and is 64 miles northwest of Detroit, 34 miles southeast of East Saginaw, 66 miles west of Port Huron and 108 north of Toledo. It contains by the last census a population of just 4,200. It is situated on the Flint river, a branch of the Saginaw, which affords the facilities for an extensive lumber business at this point. There are 9 saw mills and as many planing mills, with 5 sash, door and blind factories. The saw mills cut in 1874 about 52,000,000 feet of lumber, 15,000,000 shingles and 8,000,000 lath. About $1,600,000 of capital is used and employment is afforded for 428 men. From an elaborate report of the business interests of Flint, published December 31st, 1874, in the Flint Globe, the following table showing the manufactures of Flint is compiled:

No.	Manufactures.	Capital.	Hands.	Product.
3	Brick	$10,000	34	$21,000
4	Harness	8,000	10	25,200
3	Carriages	23'000	33	54,550

1	Gas works	50,000
2	Cooper shops	3,000	11	11,000
1	Soap works	8,000	3	6,000
	Breweries	12,000	6	19,000
	Bottling works	3,800	6	9,000
1	Broom factory	5,000	5	5,000
	Tanneries	15,000	10	35,000
	Staves and heading	9,000	21	27,800
1	Paper mill	15,000	11	9,375
2	Woolen mills	110,000	53	160,000
	Marble works	10,000	7	10,500
9	Pine lumber	1,590,000	412	873,910
	Hard-wood lumber	27,000	16	79,075
9	Planing mills	191,000	149	348,000
	Pumps	4,000	4	9,000
	Total	$2,234,800	834	$1,948,170

The trade of Flint is very large for the size of the place. The Globe summarizes it as follows:

Thayer House,

L. H. ROBERTS, Proprietor.

FLINT, - - MICHIGAN.

	Annual Sales.
Dry goods	$598,700

Flint has three banks, two national and one savings. Aggregate capital $375,000, average deposits $320,000.

The produce handled at Flint includes 170,000 bushels wheat, 262,500 bushels oats, 62,000 bushels corn, 24,350 bushels potatoes, 5,558 barrels apples, 19,500 pounds poultry, 17,300 dozens eggs, 190,000 pounds butter, 1,090 tons hay, 227,000 pounds wool, 10,300 hogs, etc., aggregating in value $1,103,000.

Flint has 8 churches and 6 hotels. The Thayer House, which is decidedly the best Hotel in the city, is centrally located and in close connection with the railroad depot. Every attention is paid to guests by its clerks, and the table is supplied with every delicacy the season affords. Its schools have always been excellent. They employ 29 teachers and have 1,974 scholars on their rolls.

Not less than $250,000 worth of building was done during the year 1874.

Flint has three excellent weekly newspapers, the Globe and the Citizen, republican, and the Democrat. It also has a scientific institute, a ladies' library association, a riding park association and various Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges.

The Michigan institution for the education of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, now in a very flourishing condition, is located a short distance southwest of the city. John Algoe, postmaster.

FLUSHING.

Flushing is a thriving village in Flushing township, Genesee county. It is situated on the Flint river, 10 miles northeast of the city of Flint. The river here affords abundance of water power, which has been improved to some extent. The surrounding country is fertile, and produces wheat, corn, oats, barley, potatoes, etc. Flour, lumber, shingles and rakes are shipped. There are in the vicinity a number of quarries of excellent building stone, the beauty and utility of which will in time bring it into very general use. A fine specimen of it can be seen in the Episcopal church at Flint. Builders will do well to visit Flushing before deciding on their material. The manufactories include a grist mill, a foundry, 2 saw mills, an ashery, a rake factory, two cider mills, etc. There are three churches and excellent schools in the place. Population about 1,000. There is a daily mail to Flint. Mrs. Mary M. Hills, postmistress.

GRAND HAVEN.

It is situated on the shore of lake Michigan, at the mouth of Grand river, in the northwest corner of Ottawa county, for which it is the seat of justice. Grand Haven is the western terminus of the D. & M. R. R., by which it is distant from Detroit 189 miles; it is also a station on the Michigan Lake Shore R. R., and is 9 miles west of the junction of D. & M. R. R. with the C. & M. L. S. R. R., being 185 miles from Chicago by the latter route. Two other roads are in process of construction, the Fruitport, Saginaw & Canada R. R., and the Michigan and Ohio R'y. Besides its excellent railroad facilities, Grand Haven is also one of the important ports of lake Michigan. It is accessible by the following lines of steamers: Engleman's day and night line from Milwaukee; Goodrich's line from Chicago; Engleman's daily line from Manistee, Pentwater, Ludington and Muskegon, and by Ganoe's daily line from Grand Rapids.

EARLY HISTORY.

Rix Robinson, an agent of the Northwestern Fur Company, who established a trading post here in 1825, was the first white settler. The village was laid out by Wm M. Ferry, better known as "Father Ferry," who came here in 1835, and who built the first frame house. The first store and warehouse was established by Robinson, White & Williams, in 1836: the first saw mill by Butts & Hutchins, in 1835; and the first steam saw mill was constructed by Mr. Ferry in 1836. The population of the village at this time was about 200, and there was no material increase till 1840, when a colony of Hollanders arrived, about 350 of whom settled here. Grand Haven was chartered as a city in 1867, and George Parks was its first mayor. The present population is estimated at 6,000.

MANUFACTURES.

The principal manufacture is lumber. There are several saw mills, which turn out an aggregate of 1,500,000 per week; an extensive shingle mill, with a capacity of 200,000 per day. A agricultural implement factory, a sash, door and blind factory, a foundry and machine shop are the other principal manufactures.

PROMINENT BUILDINGS.

Within the corporate limits are 11 churches, 2 good ward schools, and a fine union school building which cost $50,000. The Cutler House, erected at a cost of $200,000, is a beautiful structure, and a hotel first-class in all its appointments. The Kirby House, erected in 1874, at a cost of $50,000, is a substantial and well kept hotel.

NEWSPAPERS.

Two weekly newspapers are published here—the "Grand Haven News," by John H. Mitchell, and the "Grand Haven Herald," by Morris & Dubois.

ATTRACTIONS AS A SUMMER RESORT.

One of the most attractive features of the place, and one which tends to make it more widely known, is its celebrated Magnetic Mineral Spring. It is said that not less than 15,000 persons visited Grand Haven during the past summer for the benefit of these health-giving waters. Spring lake, which lies adjacent, is a beautiful sheet of water, nine miles in length; it affords fine opportunities for fishing and sailing. In addition to these attractions, and to the broad area of lake Michigan, with its surf-bathing, Grand Haven is in the center of the great fruit-belt of Michigan. Asa Reynolds, postmaster.

GRAND RAPIDS.

The second in size and importance of the cities of Michigan, and the county seat of Kent county. It is situated on Grand river in the western part of the State, 157 miles northwest of Detroit, 70 miles a little north of west of Lansing, and 48 miles about due north of Kalamazoo.

It is reached from the east by the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. and the Grand River Valley branch of the Michigan Central R. R., both connecting it with Detroit. Two railroads extend southward, the Grand Rapids & Indiana connecting at Fort Wayne with the Pennsylvania system of roads, and the Kalamazoo division of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern connecting with the main line of that important road at White Pigeon. Another road, a branch of the Chicago & Michigan Lake Shore railroad, extends in a southwesterly direction to Holland on the shore of Lake Michigan, and the Detroit & Milwaukee extending westward connects it with Grand Haven, at the mouth of Grand river. In a northwesterly direction a road extends to the Muskegon river at Newaygo, and northward the G. R. & I. R. R., reaches to Grand Traverse and Petoskey, stretching further to the north than any other road in the lower peninsula. Grand Rapids thus has railroads radiating in eight different directions, rendering it a really important railroad center — excepting Detroit, the most important in the State.

RAILROADS CENTERING IN GRAND RAPIDS.

The city lies on both sides of Grand river, at this point 800 feet wide, 30 miles above its mouth, and at the head of navigation. The river here has a fall of some 10 feet, affording probably the finest water power in the west, and which is giving Grand Rapids a leading position as a manufacturing city.

From the river banks the ground rises rapidly into high bluffs, the summits of which afford most magnificent views and the most healthful of atmospheres.

The growth of the city has been very rapid, as the following figures show:

Population per census of 1860.....	8,085
" " " " 1870.....	16,507
" " " " 1874.....	25,989

It enjoys great natural resources for wealth, being surrounded by a splendid agricultural country, being the location of inexhaustible beds of gypsum, and being the natural outlet for the immense quantities of pine and hardwood timber grown on Grand river and its tributaries, and on the lines of railroads leading north.

MANUFACTURES.

The natural water privilege is improved by the construction of dams at the head of the rapids, 6½ feet high, and two canals, one on either side of the river, carrying the water to the mills and factories along the river banks. The east side canal is half a mile in length, and from 30 to 140 feet wide. It is completely lined with factories. The west side canal is 3300 feet long, from 50 to 100 feet wide and affords a head of water of 15 feet. The principal manufacturing establishments may be tabulated as follows:

	Hands employed.	Product.
7 Furniture factories	720	$1,350,000
1 Barrel factory	200	300,000
1 Stave factory		120,000
3 Agr'l implement factories	75	210,000
1 Brush factory	160	75,000
6 Wagon & carriage factories	140	300,000
6 Foundries and machine shops	182	362,000
9 Sash, door & blind factories	250	400,000
2 Burial case factories		75,000
1 Axe factory		20,000
2 Boot & shoe factories		55,000
1 Saddlery & trunk factory.		50,000
2 Cigar factories		55,000
1 Chair factory	130
Lumber		800,000
Plaster		400,000

Altogether some 3000 hands are employed and fully $6,500,000 in value of manufactured product turned out. Among the leading items turned out may be mentioned 60,000,000 feet of pine lumber, 100,000 tons of plaster, etc. One manufacturer, Wm. Harrison, ships away annually 1500 wagons. The Union Stave Co do an immense business in the manufacture of coopers' stock, their sales amount to $160,000 annually.

BUILDINGS AND PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the principal buildings of Grand Rapids may be noted, 9 churches ranging in cost from $30,000 to $80,000 with a $100,000 catholic cathedral, in process of erection; the central school building, a fine brick structure with tower 130 feet high, and 11 other school buildings, 7 of them permanent brick structures; Sweet's hotel a five story building, covering half an acre of ground, and first class in all its appointments; Ledyard's block, etc. There are 128 stores which boast modern plate glass fronts.

There are over three miles of stone pavement, besides some wood. A street railway extends the entire length of the city, north and south. The city is lighted with gas. Water works have lately been inaugurated at a cost of $260,000, employing a 6,000,000 gallon reservoir, 12 miles of pipe, and 137 hydrants. A system of sewers has also been commenced. Three fine covered bridges span the river.

TRADE AND INSTITUTIONS OF THE CITY.

There are 4 exclusively wholesale grocery houses in Grand Rapids, one wholesale drug house, and several in other branches of trade which job only, besides a great number which combine wholesaling with a retail trade.

There are two national banks, one savings and three private banks.

The public schools are in a highly prosperous condition, having 4,819 pupils enrolled, and a free library of over 6,000 volumes.

There is also a very flourishing business college and telegraphic institute under the control of Mr. C. G. Swensberg. It has lately moved into the new Ledyard block, rooms having been fitted up expressly for its accommodation, which are probably unsurpassed by those of any institution of the kind in the country. The college is highly and deservedly popular, and has a large patronage from the entire western part of the State.

The churches include one Congregational, one Episcopal, two Methodist, one Baptist, one Presbyterian, one Dutch Reformed, one Universalist and three Catholic—all but one or two of which possess permanent and handsome church edifices.

Grand Rapids has 4 daily newspapers, the Eagle, republican, the Democrat, the Times, independent, and the Evening News, also independent. There are also seven weekly papers, prominent among which is the Saturday Evening Post, one of the spiciest papers in the State.

Grand Rapids has the free postal delivery system, and employs 8 letter carriers. The general government has now in hand the subject of the erection of a government building at this point.

Neither the city nor county are yet provided with suitable buildings for offices, but their speedy erection is looked forward to.

The fire department consists of 3 steam fire engines, with a fire alarm telegraph.

HISTORY.

In 1821 the tribe of Ottawas ceded to the United States a mile square of land on the present site of Grand Rapids for a mission station, the government agreeing to maintain a teacher and a blacksmith, thereon, at an expenditure of $1,000 a year. The mission was established in 1824 by Rev. L. Slater, a Baptist clergyman, and a few other white men. Soon after Lewis Campau, an indian trader removed thither from Detroit at the instance of the North Western Fur Company. When in 1833 the land in this vicinity was brought into market, Mr. Campau secured the tract now the site of the city of Grand Rapids. In that year settlers began to pour in, and by 1837 it had become quite a village. The well known Father Baraga, afterwards Catholic bishop of Lake Superior, was about this time conducting a mission among the indians on the west side of the river. In 1834 the first town meeting was held there being just 9 voters present. In the same year a portion of the present Rathbun house was erected. The place grew rapidly, shared in the speculation of 1836, and for several years after the collapse of 1837 suffered a severe depression. The first newspaper was printed here in 1837. The first bridge across the river was built in 1843. In 1854 a plank road was completed to Kalamazoo. In 1857 the city was first lighted with gas. The first train of cars entered Grand Rapids on July 10th, 1858. This was upon the completion of the D. & M. R. R. Nine years later the section of the G. R. & I. R. R., extending north to Cedar Springs was opened for business, and in 1870 completed southward to Fort Wayne. The Kalamazoo, Allegan & Grand Rapids road, now the L. S. & M. S. R. R., came in in 1869, and the G. R. V. in 1870. In 1872 the roads to Holland and Newaygo were completed. The city is looking forward to a highly prosperous era in the immediate future.

For much of the information contained in this sketch the editors are indebted to a pamphlet sketch of Grand Rapids in 1874 published by J. D. Dillenback.

THE GREAT PHYSICIAN AND SPECIALIST

DR. AIKIN,

Has permanently established elegant Offices and Dispensary at

45 Monroe St., Opp. (just above) Rathbun House, Grand Rapids,

And will continue to give the best scientific treatment for the cure of all varieties of Chronic Diseases, Medical and Surgical.

SPECIALTIES.—Diseases of the EYE and EAR, THROAT, LUNGS, HEART and NERVES, LIVER AND KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, DEFORMITIES, and all important, special cases that physicians in general practice have neither time to thoroughly investigate nor facilities to properly manage: such as Catarrh, Sore Eyes, Nervous Blindness, Deafness, Ear Discharges, Enlarged Tonsils, Loss of Voice, Consumption, Nervous and Physical Debility, Scrofula, Goitre, Hare-Lip, Fistula, Piles, Dropsy, etc., which his surpassing skill and experience enable Dr. Aikin to treat with almost universal success.

MEDICATED INHALATIONS, Dr. AIKIN'S improved Inhaler and Remedies for Catarrh, Asthma, Pain in the Chest, Hemorrhage, Weak Voice, Ulcerated Throat and any Disease of the Respiratory Organs, give immediate relief and are the most efficient known.

LADIES, Married or Single, can confidently consult the Doctor with certainty of easy, safe and speedy cure of Irregular, Painful or Surpressed Menses, Weakness, Leucorrhoea or Whites, Ulceration, Irritation, Ovarian and other diseases that make life miserable. Also the best Supporters, Preventives and Syringes supplied by mail or personally.

CANCERS, Tumors, Wens, etc., cured and eradicated, without the knife, by the mildest, quickest means. Call in season. Disfiguring Marks, Hair, Moles, Warts, etc., easily effaced.

Young Men, Middle-Aged and Old Men, Suffering from any debility or disease wearing on body and mind, whatever read or doctored, permanently cured of all symptoms and effects of early habits or excesses, and all private diseases. Seminal Weakness, Loss of Memory and Impotence, also, Stricture and Chronic Veneral diseases, soon and radically cured. Gentlemen will find Dr. AIKIN most skillful and trustworthy in all special cases. No Mercury or Quackery. Everything confidential. DR. AIKIN'S Treatment, Sanitary Rules and advice are worth $1000 capital to the unfortunate.

Call, or Address, N. J. AIKIN, M. D., 45 Monroe St., Grand Rapids, Mich.

IF YOU have any serious, obstinate disease or annoying symptoms, no matter how discouraged or how often disappointed, go and see the doctor, as you can rely upon him for most careful attention and certain cure. Do not suffer or delay. Remedies sent to any part of the country. Write for circulars.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Stephenson's Patent Truss Supporters,

For Deformities of the Spine, Hip, Knees, Ankles and Feet.

We guarantee satisfaction in every case, where remedies or instruments are availablet Those suffering from impaired health, need not despair, but apply at the institute, where they will receive treatment, and improve after from one day to one week's medication, or being fitted with instruments.

This institute was established for the express purpose to supply the afflicted with scientific and reliable treatment, and is not to be classed with the numerous Quacks and Imposters that infest all larger cities.

All those requiring treatment will do well to call at the institute, or address

HANCOCK.

A large and thriving mining and manufacturing village, situated on the north shore of Portage lake, in Houghton county, just opposite the village of Houghton, with which it is connected by steam ferry. The village was first laid out in 1858, and its rapid growth and prosperity were occasioned by its being the location of the famous Quincy mine, being the most productive and prosperous in the upper peninsula, and still surpassed only by the wonderful Calumet and Hecla. Besides the Quincy, two other dividend-paying mines lie within the village limits—the Franklin and the Pewabic, now operated under one management as the Franklin-Pewabic mine. The amount of capital invested in these mines, with the dividends paid and the product for 1874, have been as follows:

	Capital invested.	Total dividends paid.	Product for 1874.
Quincy	$200,000	$1,660,000	1,811 tons
Franklin	380,000	240,000	771 "
Pewabic	240,000	400,000

Like Houghton, Hancock is situated on a side hill which rises to a height of 500 feet above the lake. It contains the extensive stamping mills of the Quincy mine, and 4 other stamp mills belonging to different mines in the vicinity, one large foundry and machine shop, copper smelting works, 2 steam saw mills and 4 churches, Congregational, Methodist, Catholic and Lutheran, and a large graded school.

Hancock is the southern terminus of the Mineral Range railway, a narrow or 3 foot gauge road, 12½ miles in length extending to Calumet, and a road, which for its financial success, has hardly been equaled by any railroad in the country.

Hancock contains a population of about 3,000. It is 36 miles northwest of L'Anse, the terminus of the M. H. & O. R. R., and about 100 from Marquette. Mail daily. Telegraph, Northwestern. Express, American. Thos. N. Lee, postmaster.

HILLSDALE.

The city of Hillsdale, the county seat of Hillsdale county, is a thriving place of some 4,500 inhabitants, situated at the junction of the Detroit, Hillsdale & Indiana railroad with the L. S. & M. S. railroad, 91 miles from Detroit, 65 miles from Toledo, and 178 from Chicago.

The county, as the name of the county and town indicates, is richly diversified with hills and dales.

One of the chief interests of the town is the Free Will Baptist college located here, and known as Hillsdale College. This institution, the only one this society has, was originally located at Spring Arbor, eight miles southwest of Jackson, but was subsequently removed to this place, where it was formally opened in November, 1855. It is beautifully located on what is now known as College Hill, a tract of 20 acres of land, lying about 100 rods north of the city proper, donated to the society by Mr. Blackmar. During the winter of 1873-4 the college buildings came near being entirely destroyed by fire, only a portion of the east wing having been saved. The loss was a heavy one, some $60,000 to $70,000, but nothing daunted by their misfortune, the society resolutely set to work to rebuild, on even a grander scale than before, and are (1875) vigorously pushing forward to completion three of the five distinct edifices hereafter to constitute the college buildings. The institution numbers between 300 and 400 students, and is under the presidency of Rev. Dewitt C. Durgin.

The manufacturing interests of the town are not very extensive, though the chair factory of Crowell & Hubbard is one of the largest enterprises of the kind in the State, employing at times fully 300 hands. There are also 2 foundries and machine shops, a table manufactory and planing, sash, blind and door factory, and an extensive flouring mill.

The St. Joseph river, which passes through the city, has its rise only a couple of miles or so distant, but affords no water power of any account.

The city schools are first-class, consisting of a good union and four ward schools.

The churches consist of a Methodist, Presbyterian, Catholic, Episcopal, Advent and Free Will Baptist, the latter being the finest church edifice in town. The Baptists have an organization but no building.

The local press consists of the Standard, republican, the Democrat and Weekly Business, independent, all in a prosperous condition. It also has 2 national banks. Settled 1832. Reached by the railroad, 1843. Incorporated a city, 1869. Detroit & Hillsdale railroad completed, 1871. Express—United States. Telegraph—Western Union. Eli Van Vakenburg, postmaster.

HOLLAND.

A flourishing little city of 2,469 inhabitants at the head of Black lake, in Holland township, Ottawa county. It is situated at the intersection of the C. & M. L. S. R. R. with the M. L. S. R. R. and at the junction of the Grand Rapids branch of the former road with the main line. Thus trains leave in 5 different directions, making it quite a railroad center. It is 90 miles north of New Buffalo, 20 south of Grand Haven, 25 southwest of Grand Rapids, and 23 northwest of Allegan. As its name indicates, the place was settled by a colony of Hollanders, and still this nationality largely predominate. The first settlement was 1846. In 1867 Holland became a city. In 1871 it was almost destroyed by fire, over 300 buildings being consumed. It has since been rebuilt in a substantial manner. Holland is the seat of Hope College, an educational enterprise of the Hollanders settled in this country. It has an endowment fund of $70,000, and is supported in part by the board of education of the Reformed (Dutch) Church of North America. The president of the college is Rev. P. Phelps, D. D., and it has a full faculty.

Holland has a good harbor, and carries on a large trade in cordwood and hemlock bark. Its principal manufacture is leather. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American and United States. William Verbeek, postmaster.

HOLLY.

A thriving village in the township of Holly, Oakland county. It derives its importance from being the point of intersection of two important railway lines, viz; the D. & M. R. R., and the F. & P. M. R'y. It is 21 miles northwest of Pontiac, 47 miles from Detroit, 91 miles from Toledo, and 17 south of Flint. The Shiawassee river flows through the village affording some water power. A good farming country surrounds it, and all kinds of farm produce are marketed here. Its manufactures are confined to flouring mills, and sash, door and blind factories.

Settled 1836, incorporated 1865. Present population about 2,000. Express, American.

HOMER.

An incorporated village in the township of Homer, Calhoun county, 13 miles southeast of Marshall, 23 west of Jackson, 99 from Detroit, and 46 south of Lansing.

It is but a few years since the advent of the M. C. air line and the Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., transformed Homer from an inland town to a railroad center.

The country was originally a burr oak plains, and is one of the richest sections of the State. The railroads have given an impetus to its growth, and transformed it into a sprightly town of some 1,200 inhabitants.

The Kalamazoo river, which takes its rise only about 10 miles to the southeast, and the St. Joseph, which approaches it within a mile, furnish a good water power.

The manufacturing enterprises of the town consist of a carriage factory, 2 planing mills, sash and blind factories, a foundry, 2 flouring mills, a saw mill and 2 barrel factories.

Homer is said to be one of the best wheat markets in that section of the State, no less than 70,000 bushels having been purchased and shipped during the season of 1874. It is also somewhat noted as an egg and butter market.

Its public buildings consist of a good brick union school house, and 3 churches—Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian, the latter being a fine brick structure. The others are good wooden buildings. The Freewill Baptists have a good church only 2 miles west of the village, on what is known as Cook's plains.

Homer is well supplied with secret societies, having organizations of Masons, Odd Fellows, Grangers and Orangemen.

The Homer Index is a stirring local sheet, edited and published by Dr. W. A. Lane.

Settled 1832. Incorporated 1870. Express American and United States. Telegraph, Western Union. Edward Henderson, postmaster.

HOUGHTON.

The county seat of Houghton county, a thrifty incorporated village of 2,500 inhabitants on the south shore of Portage lake, 10 miles from lake Superior on the west, as reached by the new canal opened through from Portage lake, and 14 miles from the mouth of Portage river. By water it is about 90 miles a little north of west from Marquette. By rail and stage it is 106 miles. The village is located on quite a steep hill side, and being almost isolated by a wide expanse of wilderness; from settlements to the south, the place presents to the eye of the stranger a peculiar aspect from the almost entire absence of vehicles in the streets. The village was first settled in 1854, and was incorporated in 1861. It contains the court house and jail, 3 churches, Methodist, Episcopal and Catholic, a bank, 4 hotels, of which the Douglass House is quite a first-class establishment, a large union school building, an excellent weekly newspaper, a copper rolling mill (capital $250,000), 2 stamp mills, 2 steam saw mills, a hemlock extract factory, and some other institutions. A ferry connects it with Hancock, just opposite. Both places are within the bounds of the mineral range of Keweenaw point, a strip from 4 to 6 miles in width extending in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction through the entire length of the Keweenaw peninsula, and beyond indefinitely. This mineral range is very rich in copper, and all the Lake Superior copper mines are included within its bounds. The mines located in the immediate vicinity of Houghton on the south side of Portage lake are the:

HOWARD CITY.

A new but growing incorporated village, of about 1,000 inhabitants, at the intersection of the D. L. & L. M. R. R. with the G. R. & I. R. R. It is in Reynolds township, Montcalm county, 164 miles from Detroit, 79 northwest of Lansing, 44 above Ionia and 35 north of Grand Rapids. It is the present terminus of the D. L. & L. M. R. R., but eventually the road will no doubt be pushed through to the lake shore at Pentwater. The village has water power from Tamarack river. The country around embraces both pine and farming lands. Wheat, hay and potatoes are the staple crops. The village contains 1 flouring mill, 4 saw mills, 10 shingle mills, 1 stave factory, 2 sash, door and blind factories, and three planing mills. Lumber, shingles, lath and staves form the great bulk of the shipments from this place. The village supports one weekly newspaper—the Record—2 churches, a good school and Masonic and Odd Fellows' lodges. It was first settled in 1869, incorporated 1873. Express—United States and American. Telegraph—Western Union and Atlantic and Pacific. Mrs. K. Robinson, postmistress.

HOWELL.

The county seat of Livingston county, is a pleasant village lying nearly in the center of the county, and on the D. L. & L. M. R. R., 32 miles from Lansing, and 53 from Detroit. A population of some 2,500 is claimed. Howell is located in one of the richest wheat-growing sections of the State, the crop in good seasons ranging from 20 to 40 bushels per acre. One mile north of the village a pretty fair water power is obtained by damming the outlet of Thompson's lake, on which are situated the flour and saw mills of Wilcox & Skilbeck. The principal manufacturing establishment is the large foundry and machine shop, and agricultural implement factory of Wykoff, Clark & Immen. In addition to this institution there are a sash, door and blind factory and a steam flouring mill. The public buildings consist of the usual county buildings, which are of a good quality, 3 churches, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian, and a $32,000 union school building. In addition to the usual organizations of Masons and Odd Fellows, there is a large and flourishing lodge of Grangers. The local press is represented by the Livingston Republican and the Democrat. The village was laid out in 1835, though the first settlers came in 1828. In 1863 it was incorporated. The railroad was opened to it in 1871. Express, American. Telegraph, Atlantic and Pacific. W. W. Kenyon, postmaster.

HUDSON.

The village of Hudson (its modesty has so far restrained it from asking for a city charter) is certainly one of the most stirring business towns along the line of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., on which it is situated, 18 miles west of Adrian, and an equal distance from Hillsdale. It is also 92 miles from Detroit, 52 from Toledo, and 192 from Chicago. It is in Hudson township, Lenawee county. Bean creek or Tiffin river, which has its rise in Devil's lake, 11 miles distant, furnishes the town with a respectable water power. It is said to have 100 feet fall from its source to the village. A population of 3,000 is claimed. The farming country about is first-class. The manufacturing enterprises of Hudson consist of a flouring mill, a saw mill, an extension table factory, a sash, blind and door factory, and a large burial case factory, a tobacco pail and butter tub factory, a large spoke and hub factory, 2 foundries and machine shops, a chemical works of Chapman, Dunks & Co., 2 extensive carriage and wagon factories, a pump factory, a stave and barrel factory, a bowl factory, and a large brick yard. The school advantages of Hudson are first-class. It has 7 good churchs, Episcopal, Congregational, Catholic, Methodist, Baptist, and Freewill Baptist and Presbyterian. There are 2 papers published here, the Post and Gazette. In addition to this the rector of the Episcopal church is publishing a very creditable sheet, representing the general interests of that denomination at large, and the Michigan interests in particular. There are but few towns, whose manufacturing interests show off to better advantage than those of Hudson. They are all, or nearly so, located on the east side of the town, and compactly built on either side of Main street. Settled 1834. Incorporated 1854. Express United States. Telegraph, Western Union. Edward Southworth, postmaster.

IMPERIAL MILLS.

Imperial Mills is located at the mouth of Bear creek on Grand river, and is on the township line between Plainfield and Cannon, in Kent county. It has an abundant water power at all seasons of the year. The Imperial mills (from which the place derives its name), is the principal merchant flouring mill for the surrounding country. It has three run of stones, and is capable of manufacturing 60 barrels of flour per day. The proprietor, M. B. Hine, has also a grocery store in connection with the mill, where is also located the postoffice. Population about 60. The village is surrounded by a good and fertile farming country adapted to all the productions of this latitude, but especially for the growth of the best Michigan white wheat, and as a fruit growing region, it has but few equals east of the lake shore belt. It is on the line of the proposed Grand Rapids & Saginaw R. R., nine miles northeast from Grand Rapids. Was first settled by Andrew Watson in February, 1837. The name of the postoffice is Austerlitz.

INDIAN CREEK.

A postoffice in Alpine township, Kent county, 5 miles northwest of Grand Rapids, and 3½ west of Mill Creek on the G. R. & I. R. R. IONIA.

Ionia the county seat of Ionia county is a city of 3,251 inhabitants, situated at the intersection of the D. & M. and D. L. & L. M. railways, 123 miles northwest of Detroit, 34 east of Grand Rapids, and 39 northwest of Lansing. It is beautifully located on the north branch of Grand river, and is noted for its fine residences and costly churches. The river affords no water power at this point. The soil in the vicinity is gravelly, and the surrounding country excellent for every branch of farming.

Ionia was settled by an eastern colony which moved in under the leadership of Samuel Dexter in 1832. Its growth for many years was slow. In 1857 the D. & M. R. R. was completed to this point, and in 1869 the Ionia & Lansing, now part of the D. L. & L. M. R. R. In 1865 the village was incorporated, and four years later it acquired a city charter.

The manufacturing interests of Ionia include 2 foundries and machine shops, a woolen factory, a boiler shop, a furniture factory, 2 flouring mills, a pottery, a large brewery, a stave and barrel factory, a planing mill, one saw mill, a sash and door factory, and an extensive brick yard, which turns out a famous white brick, resembling somewhat the well known Milwaukee brick. The shops of the D. L. & L. M. R. R. are also located here.

The public buildings, the jail and county offices, a $35,000 union school building, and 2 ward schools, 8 churches, Methodist (building costing $60,000), Baptist, Presbyterian, Christian, Congregational, Catholic, Dutch Reformed and Episcopal.) Just west of the city is now in course of erection the new Intermediate state prison, an institution designed to relieve the Jackson prison of the less heinous class of offenders.

There are two newspapers published here, Sentinel, republican, and the Standard, democratic. Besides its two intersecting railroads, a branch line connects Ionia with Stanton, commanding thereby an immense lumber business. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union. Express, American. M. L. Smith, postmaster.

ISABELLA CITY.

(See Longwood.)

ISHPEMING.

An important mining city in the iron district of Marquette county, 15 miles west of Marquette, and 3 miles west of Negaunee. Its population is 4,682. It is on the M. H. & O. R. R., and is the northern terminus of the peninsula division of the C. & N. W. R. R. It is the location of some of the most important iron mines on lake Superior, including:

	Product for 1874.
Cleveland mine	108,580 tons.
New York "	77,010 "
Lake Superior mine	114,074 "
Barnum mine	41,403 "
Winthrop mine	8,242 "

And in the immediate vicinity of Ishpeming are the:

	Product for 1874.
Pittsburgh & Lake Angeline	32,888 tons.
Shenango mine	7,549 "
Saginaw mine	45,486 "
Goodrich mine	3,100 "
Williams mine	593 "

A furnace was established here a few years since for the smelting of iron by the use of peat, but it seems to have been but a partial success. But 450 tons of pig iron were turned out during 1874. There is also a large foundry and machine shop located here.

Ishpeming boasts a $40,000 union school building, the most conspicuous object in the place. There are also 4 churches, Catholic, Baptist and 2 Methodist, also 2 good hotels, a weekly newspaper, the Iron Home, and Odd Fellows and Masonic Lodges. Express, American. Telegraph, Northwestern. Settled 1853. Incorporated 1873. Julius Ropes, postmaster.

JACKSON.

The city of Jackson, the county seat of Jackson county, is situated on the M. C. R. R., 76 miles west of Detroit, 208 east of Chicago, and 37 southeast of Lansing. It is, next to Grand Rapids and Detroit, the greatest railroad center in the State, roads diverging from it in seven different directions. These include the M. C. R. R., east to Detroit and west to Chicago; the Air Line, reuniting with the main line at Niles; the Ft. W. J. & S. R. R., south to Fort Wayne, Ind.; the L. S. & M. S. R. R., southeast to Adrian and Toledo; the G. R. V. branch of the M. C. R. R., northwest to Grand Rapids, and the J. L. & S. branch to Lansing and Saginaw.

The city had a population, according to the census of 1874, of 13,860, but it is claimed now (1875) to be fully 16,000. Its business interests are among the heaviest in the State.

MANUFACTURES.

Its extensive railroad facilities, together with its coal mines, four of which are now operated, afford it great advantages as a manufacturing center. An estimate recently made of the extent of its manufacturing interests is shown in the following table:

	Yearly Products.
Two agricultural implement factories	$450,000
Eight wagon and carriage factories	800,000
Four furniture factories	340,000
Three foundries and machine shops	1,650,000
One car factory	500,000
One handle factory	25,000
Three coopering establishments	50,000
Five planing mills	300.000
Two box factories	60,000
One wood pulp factory	100,000
One chemical works	800,000
Five breweries	40,000
Four flouring mills	1,000,000
Two plaster mills	50,000
One sewer pipe factory	50,000
One pottery	25,000
Two brick yards	40,000
One cigar factory	50,000
Aggregate about	$6,330,000

Besides all these the principal car shops of the M. C. R. R. and branches are located here, the works being very extensive, and including a round house with a capacity for 54 engines. These give employment to a large number of hands.

TRADE AND SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

An estimate of the trade of Jackson shows:

	Annual Sales.
Ten boot and shoe houses	$500,000
Seven dry goods houses	1,400,000
Forty grocery houses	1,600,000
Five clothing houses	360,000
Two crockery houses	100,000
Eight drug houses	160,000
Two music and musical merchandise houses	177,000
Eight hardware houses	$360,000
Four millinery and fancy goods houses	400,000
Aggregate not less than	$5,057,000

Jackson has 4 incorporated and 2 private banks. These are:

The First National, capital	$100,000
The People's National, capital	100,000
The Jackson County Bank, capital	250,000
Jackson City Bank, capital	100,000

There are two daily newspapers, the Citizen, republican, and the Patriot, democratic, also the People's Champion, a weekly temperance paper.

In the way of churches and schools no city of its size in the State has more to boast of. Of the former there are 4 Baptist, 2 Congregational, 3 Methodist Episcopal, 2 Independent Methodist, 1 Evangelical Association, 1 Christian, 2 Protestant Episcopal, 1 German Lutheran, 1 Adventist, 1 Catholic and 1 Jewish Synagogue. The school system comprises 2 large union schools and 8 ward schools, also a German Lutheran school and a business college. Number of scholars in attendance, 3,827. Teachers, 49. The Young Men's Library contains about 4,000 volumes.

There are many excellent business structures and two fine hotels, the Hibbard and Hurd houses. A cut of the former (which does not do the building justice), may be seen on the following page. Both are well kept hotels, the Hibbard house being first-class in every particular.

The city is lighted with gas and supplied with water by the Holly system.

THE STATE PRISON.

The Michigan State Prison is located here, and for its admirable management deserves mention, being in no wise behind the other State institutions in their acknowledged perfection. At the close of the last prison year, Sept. 30, 1874, there were 703 convicts confined in the institution. Only 450 were employed on contract work, for which the State received an average of 64¾ cents per day. The rest have been employed in improving the prison property. Notwithstanding the great number of men not employed on productive labor, the prison earned in excess of its expenditures, $10,255.14. The prisoners are treated with the greatest humanity possible, and the lash was not used during the year in a single instance.

JONESVILLE.

A thriving village on the main line of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., in Hillsdale county, 5 miles west of Hillsdale. It is also the point from whence the Lansing branch diverges, and likewise the crossing of the Ft. W. J. & S. R. R. It is 95 miles from Detroit, 71 from Toledo, 173 from Chicago, 25 southwest of Jackson and 59 south of Lansing. It is finely located amid an excellent farming section of country, is an energetic thriving business place, and has a population of over 2,500.

The chief manufacturing enterprises are the large woolen mills of H. R. Gardner & Co., and the cotton mills owned and operated by a stock company. These institutions employ each a large force of hands, and have resulted in a large accession to the population, and have had much to do with the present prosperity of the town. Of other manufacturing enterprises, as mills, carriage shops, marble shops, foundries, etc., it has its full share for a place of its size. The St. Joseph river furnishes abundant water power. Its public buildings consist of a first-class school house and 4 churches, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal, and one public hall.

It supports one good weekly newspaper, the Independent. Jonesville was settled about 1832 or 1833, and at an early day was the county seat of Hillsdale county. Robert A. Sinclair, postmaster.

KALAMAZOO.

The largest village in Michigan, Kalamazoo having always refused a city charter. It is the county seat of Kalamazoo county, and is on the main line of the M. C. R. R., 144 miles west of Detroit and 140 east of Chicago. It is the point of divergence of the Kalamazoo & South Haven branch, and is intersected by two roads running north and south—the Grand Rapids & Indiana, and the Kalamazoo division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. It is thus as a railroad center surpassed only by Detroit and Grand Rapids and is equalled only in this State by Jackson. It is 48 miles south of Grand Rapids, 39 miles east of the lake Michigan shore at South Haven, 37 miles north of White Pigeon, and 35 north of Sturgis. It is beautifully situated on the Kalamazoo river, and has the reputation of being one of the most charming places in Michigan.

Kalamazoo has a population claimed to be about 10,000. It is chiefly famous as being the location of the State Insane Asylum, Kalamazoo College, a Baptist educational institution, the Michigan Female Seminary, an institution under Presbyterian auspices, and the Kalamazoo Business College, a popular institution under the management of W. F. Parsons, also as being the market for a wealthy agricultural region, and for its fine stores and private residences, and in general for the culture, enterprise and wealth of its inhabitants. Its main street is unsurpassed by but few even in cities of much superior size.

MICHIGAN FEMALE SEMINARY.

It has three incorporated banks—the First National, capital $100,000; the Michigan National, capital $100,000; and the Kalamazoo City Bank, capital $60,000. Prominent among its manufacturing enterprises are a large paper mill, an agricultural implement factory operating on a $200,000 capital, the Kalamazoo Emery Wheel Co., and a number of industrial establishments of lesser magnitude.

The Insane Asylum is very extensive and complete—in fact is a model institution, both in its appointments and management. It numbers 528 inmates, and costs for annual maintenance $114,000. The college is in a prosperous condition, and numbers 177 students. It is under the presidency of Rev. Kendall Brooks. The Michigan Female Seminary, also known as the Mt. Holyoke Seminary, from its being modeled after the famous institution of that name in Western Massachussetts, is perhaps unsurpassed in the west as a training school for young ladies. It has about 70 students on its rolls. Of course its public schools are not neglected. Kalamazoo has 3 public libraries—the Public Library proper, with 4,024 volumes on its shelves, the Ladies' Library, with 2,600 volumes and with a suit of rooms handsomely fitted up, and the Young Men's Library, with 1,784 volumes.

Kalamazoo has one daily newspaper—the Telegraph, republican, and the Gazette, a democratic weekly. The Michigan Free Mason, a Masonic monthly, is also published here.

It has 13 churches, to-wit: 1 Presbyterian, 1 Methodist, 1 Baptist, 2 Congregational, 2 Episcopal, 1 Unitarian, 1 Lutheran, 1 Dutch Reformed, 1 Catholic, and 2 colored churches —Methdist and Baptist.

Kalamazoo was originally settled in 1829, and was at first called Bronson, from its founder, Titus Bronson. In 1836 its name was changed to that of the river upon which it is situated, an Indian appellation signifying "boiling pot." In 1846 (Feb. 2) the Michigan Central was opened to Kalamazoo, and for some time this remained its western terminus. Its other railroads are all of comparatively recent date. L. B. Kendall, postmaster.

LAKE LINDEN,

A village of 600 inhabitants, on the west bank of Torch lake, the northern arm of Portage lake, in Houghton county. It is the southern terminus of the Hecla & Torch Lake Railroad, a line five and one-half miles long (four-foot gauge), built and owned by the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. for the conveyance of their ores from the mine to the stamps, which are located at Lake Linden, for the advantage derived from the abundance of water over what would be enjoyed at a point nearer the mine. There are two stamp mills, both fitted up with Ball's stamps and the most approved appliances throughout. The amount of copper produced by the Calumet & Hecla Mine and stamped at this point during 1874, was 12,296 tons, or over half of the entire product of all the mines on Lake Superior. The immense wealth of this mine may be judged from the fact that during 1874 $1.600,000 was divided to the stockholders, with $4,000,000 still in the treasury at the close of the year. The village contains also a saw-mill, two churches, Methodist and Catholic, and a school-house. Settled 1857. Telegraph—Mineral Range. Charles Briggs, postmaster.

L'ANSE.

L'Anse is the western terminus of the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon R. R. It is situated in L'Anse township, Houghton county, near the head of L'Anse bay, 63 miles northwest of Marquette. The place takes its name from the beautiful bay upon which it is situated, and which was named L'Anse. "the bay," by the early French discoverers, by way of pre-eminence, from its being the best, safest and most beautiful harbor on the lake. Until 1872 the only settlement here was that of the Methodist mission, located a little further down the bay The completion of the railroad to this point has given life to a village already numbering about 1,000 inhabitants, with the prospect of becoming a place of considerable importance. The village contains an extensive iron dock, from which all the product of the more western mines of the iron region is shipped. There is also a merchandise dock, a blast furnace, a saw mill, a machine shop, three hotels, a bank, several stores, churches schools, etc. Fall river, which here empties into the bay, furnishes ample water power. A boat plies daily between L'Anse and Houghton, 28 miles northwest. The finest whitefish in western waters are caught here, and with the iron, lumber and slate from the beds recently opened in the vicinity, make up the leading exports. L'Anse will be the county seat of the new county of Baraga. Telegraph—Western Union. Express—American. P Crebassa, postmaster.

LANSING,

The capital of Michigan, a flourishing city, located in the northwest corner of Ingham county, near the geographical center of the lower peninsula of the State. Its longitude is 84° 32′ 40″ west of Greenwich, and latitude 42° 32′ 40″ north. Railroads radiate from the city in six different directions. Southeast the D. L. & L. M. R. R. connects Lansing with Detroit, 85 miles distant; south the J. L & S. R. R. connects it with Jackson, 37 miles, and the L. S. & M. S. R. R. with Albion and Jonesville, 37 and 59 miles distant respectively; southwest the C. & L. H. R. R. connects it with Battle Creek, 45 miles; northwest the D. L. & L. M. R. R. connects it with Ionia, 38 miles; and northeast the J. L. & S. R. R. with Saginaw and Bay City, 64 and 79 distant respectively.

HISTORY.

When in 1847 under the constitution it became necessary for the legislature to permanently locate the capital, there were so many places found to be competing for the honor, that it was absolutely impossible to secure an agreement on any. After a long and bitter contest the present site of Lansing, then an unbroken wilderness, was fixed on as a sort of a truce measure, the idea no doubt being that when the excitement quieted down somewhat it would be easy to secure the transfer of the capital to some more eligible point. But that time never came. The same jealousies which led to its location here prevented its subsequent removal. Each competing city felt bound, if they could not get the capital themselves, that at least none of their rivals should have it. By such an accident was located the capital of a great State.

The place was first called Michigan, but later took the name of the township in which it is located. In 1848 the first meeting of the legislature was held here, the site having within a year been cleared, the state house built, and sufficient accommodations provided for boarding the members. Lansing was incorporated as a city in 1859, but it was not till 1863 that it was accessible by rail. It has since grown rapidly, and bids fair to become a place of considerable commercial importance aside from its prestige as being the seat of government. Its growth may be seen from the following statement of population at different dates:

1854	" "	.....	1,556

THE STATE BUILDINGS.

The legislature of 1871 voted an appropriation of $1,200,000 for the erection of a new State capitol, and this structure is now (1875) in an advanced state of progress. It is to be wholly of stone, brick and iron, and as nearly fire proof as possible. It is in the palladian style of architecture, and is 345 feet in length, 191 feet in width, and 265 feet in height to the top of the lantern. A rotunda and dome occupy the center of the building. The basement will be used for the State armory and for storage purposes. The first floor will be fitted up for the various State offices; the second and third stories will be thrown together in part for the hall of representatives, senate chamber and State library, part of the third story being used for Supreme Court room. The whole structure will be very elegant and complete, and will be a credit to the State. It is to be ready for occupancy in 1878.

The State library contrains over 20,000 volumes, and is in a flourishing condition.

The State Reform School is located on a farm of 139 acres, just northeast of the city. There are at present (1875) some 220 inmates in the institution.

The State Agricultural College is located 3 miles east of Lansing. It had an endowment from Congress of 240,000 acres of land, much the larger portion of which remains unsold. The number of students in the college (1875) is 121.

BUSINESS INTERESTS.

Lansing is situated on Grand river, which is susceptible of improvement as a water power to a very considerable extent, there being two privileges affording each a fall of nine feet The manufacturing establishments include 3 sash, door and blind factories, an extensive chair factory, a bending factory, 2 large coopering establishments, 2 agricultural implement factories, a large machine shop, etc.

There are 2 national banks—the Second, capital $100,000, and the Lansing, capital $75,000, also 2 private banks.

One of the three stock insurance companies of Michigan, the "State," has its headquarters here. Capital, $100,000 There are several exclusively wholesale houses in Lansing. The State printing office, W. S. George & Co., proprietors, is one of the most extensive and complete establishments of the kind in the State.

OTHER INSTITUTIONS.

Lansing boasts 15 churches of the various denominations common in this State. It has likewise an admirable school system. A new high school building has recently been erected at a cost of $60,000.

The Odd Fellows of the State here maintain an extensive institute for an orphan asylum and home for decayed members of the order, the value of the property being about $300,000.

Valuable mineral waters are found here, and a large hotel has been built at the springs for the convenience of invalids and others using them. Among the other hotels is the Lansing House, a large and first-class hotel in every respect.

The newspapers of Lansing are the Republican, published semi-weekly, one of the most carefully edited papers in the State, and the Journal, an excellent weekly, liberal in politics.

Lansing has several fine blocks of stores, a good opera house, paved streets, and is lighted with gas. The river is crossed by six bridges, one of them a splendid iron structure erected in 1873. The bonded debt of the city is $138,000, including the aid voted to railroads.

Both telegraph lines—the Atlantic & Pacific and the Western Union—run into Lansing, and there are also offices of both the American and United States Express Companies. Stephen D. Bingham, postmaster.

LAPEER,

The county seat of Lapeer county, a thrifty young city of 2,887 inhabitants, situated at the intersection of the Chicago & Lake Huron, and the Detroit & Bay City railroads, 60 miles from Detroit, 45 from Port Huron, 20 from Flint, and 48 from Bay City. A branch of the D. & B. C. R. R. here diverges to Fish Lake, 5 miles distant.

The site of the village was taken up by A. N. Hart, in 1831, and the village platted by him in 1833. In 1836 the county was organized, and Lapeer became the county seat. In 1860 it received a village charter, and in 1868 became a city. In 1871 it secured a railway outlet via Port Huron, and in 1872 was tapped by the D. & B. C. R. R.

The manufactures of Lapeer include machinery and castings, lumber, sash, doors and blinds, woolen cloths and flour. It derives water power from the Flint river. Lumber, shingles and staves still form the chief articles of shipment. Lapeer has two weekly newspapers, the Clarion, republican, and the Democrat. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Shad N. Vincent, postmaster.

LA SALLE.

A small village on the L. S. & M. S. R. R. and C. S. R. R., in La Salle township, Monroe county, 5 miles south of Monroe. At an early day La Salle promised to become a place of considerable importance, but trade has flowed into other channels and left it a stranded village, so to speak. Except for the business created by some three or four saw mills, it would have no interests worthy of mention. It has 3 churches, but all pastorless. W. H. Kief, postmaster.

LATHROP.

Locally known as Centerville, a village of about 80 inhabitants, on the line of the C. & N. W. R R., in Maple Ridge township, Delta county, 31 miles north of Escanaba. The station is known as Centerville. It is in a very heavily timbered country, with considerable swamp lands mixed in. Charcoal burning, with some farming, are the principal industries. Settled in 1864. Telegraph, Northwestern. Azel Lathrop, postmaster.

LAWRENCE.

A lively village of Van Buren county, situated in the township of the same name, on the Paw Paw river, 9 miles due west of the village of Paw Paw, and 6 east of Hartford, which is its nearest railway station. It was first settled in 1837, incorporated as a village in 1869, and now numbers about 1,000 inhabitants. It does but little manufacturing, but is surrounded by a splendid farming and fruit country, and is the collecting point for large amounts of wheat, apples and peaches. It has a daily mail. G. A. LAWTON.

An incorporated village on the M. C. R. R., at the junction of the Paw Paw branch, 160 miles from Detroit, 124 from Chicago, 16 west of Kalamazoo, and 4 southeast of Paw Paw. It is situated in Antwerp township, Van Buren county, and is surrounded by Oak openings and black ash swamps. Grain and fruit are cultivated, and these with pig iron form the principal shipments from this station. The leading business interest of the place is the blast furnace of the Michigan Central Iron Company. Capital, 250,000, in which president U. S. Grant is the principal stock holder. The ore is brought by water from Lake Superior to New Buffalo, thence by rail to Lawton. About 20 tons of pig iron per day are produced. Other manufacturing interests include a fanning mill manufactory, 2 machine shops and 2 wagon and carriage shops. The village was first settled in 1848, was incorporated in 1859, and now numbers 1,200 inhabitants. It has two churches, Methodist and Baptist, and a good union school. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. William H. Smith, postmaster.

LELAND.

The village of Leland is on the shore of lake Michigan, in Leelanaw county just opposite the North Manitou island. It is situated on a level plat of land lying between two high hills on the north and south, and extending back to Carp lake. Carp river, the outlet of this lake, runs through the village, giving it a water communication back into the interior some 15 miles. Leland is a fine place of summer resort, the scenery being beautiful and diversified, the atmosphere pure and healthful, and the fishing not to be excelled. A first-class hotel is needed. The population of the village is 434. It contains three churches—Catholic, Lutheran and Congregational—two saw mills and a blast furnace, the iron ore for which is brought across the lake from Escanaba. The furnace was the property of the late Capt. E. B. Ward, of Detroit. Leland is 11 miles southwest of Northport, the county seat, and 30 miles northwest of Traverse City, its nearest railway station. It was settled in 1854. It has a semi-weekly mail. LESLIE.

The village of Leslie is pleasantly situated on the J. L. & S. R. R., 15 miles north of Jackson, and 24 south of Lansing. It is in Leslie township, Ingham county, and has a population of 1,600. The village has no water power, though it has the finest supply of artesian wells in the State. At a depth of 170 feet, and a cost of only $400, flowing water is obtained in great abundance. There are 8 of these wells, all having medical properties, something similar to the waters at Eaton Rapids. The possibility of using this water as a motive power has been suggested. The manufacturing establishments of Leslie include a large stave and barrel factory, a flouring mill, a tannery, 2 planing mills, a foundry and machine shop, a saw mill, and some others. Leslie boasts a $20,000 school house, employing six teachers. There are also 4 churches, Methodist, Baptist, Congregationalist, and Free Will Baptist. The Leslie Herald is a lively local newspaper. Settled, 1836. Incorporated, 1869. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. James Blackmore, postmaster.

LUDINGTON.

The capital of Mason county, is a thriving city of about 2,177 inhabitants, situated at the mouth of the Pere Marquette river, having one of the finest and safest harbors on lake Michigan. Ludington, the western terminus of the F. & P. M. R. R., is distant from Detroit, 236 miles, and is 15 miles north of Pentwater, and 25 miles south of Manistee. The F. & P. M. R'y was completed and the first train run into Ludington in December, 1874. The village plat was recorded Sept. 10th, 1867, at which time there was but one store in the place and nothing worthy of the name of a village. The late Capt. E. B. Ward of Detroit bought property here and commenced extensive improvements and his estate has here now one of the finest saw mills in the State. Lumber, lath and shingles are largely manufactured and shipped. There is also some tan bark shipped. Ludington contains altogether 7 saw mills, a planing mill, a machine shop, 2 banks, 5 hotels and 2 weekly newspapers. Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. G. W. Clayton, postmaster.

LYONS.

The village of Lyons, in Ionia county, is situated about midway between the D. & M. R. R., at Muir, and the D. L. & L. M. R. R., at Lyons Station, the distance to either place being about one mile. It is located on the south bank of the Grand River, 5 miles a little south of east of Ionia, and 118 miles from Detroit. Its population is about 800. Grand River furnishes what is claimed to be the second best water power in the State. The manufacturing interests of the place include a woolen mill, a foundry and pump manufactory, a flouring mill, a wooden bowl factory, a plaster mill, a saw mill, 2 wagon and carriage factories, etc. It has a good union school, employing 4 teachers, and 2 churches, Methodist and Baptist. Telegraph, Atlantic and Pacific. Express, American. Postmaster, ——.

(See index to names received too late for insertion in proper place.)

MACKINAW.

The county seat of Mackinac county, a village of about 600 inhabitants, situated on the south shore of the island of Mackinac, in the straits of the same name, 40 miles northeast of Petoskey, the northern terminus of the G. R. & I. R. R., 18 northwest of Cheboygan and about 350 from Detroit by water. The island is hilly and rocky, and for the most part covered with second growth timber. The village consists mainly of a single street running along the shore with a steep hill rising abruptly in the rear surmounted by the old fort still garrisoned by a company of United States troops. Considerable fish is shipped here, the chief business of the place, grows out of its popularity as a place of summer resort. There are several good hotels in the village which are, during a part of the year, thronged with guests. The walks and drives about the island are very romantic and the air pure, bracing and healthful. A daily boat connects Mackinaw with Petoskey, and it is supplied with a daily mail. MACKINAW CITY.

A settlement of about 100 inhabitants, at old point Mackinaw, the most northern point of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan. It is in Beaugrand township, Cheboygan county, 18 miles northwest of Cheboygan. A city was laid out here on a large scale some years ago by one Edgar Conkling, of Cincinnati, but the enterprise was premature, and up to this time but little development has taken place. There can be no doubt, however, that sooner or later this will be the focal point for the railroad lines reaching out towards the Upper Peninsula, and where the Straits of Mackinac will one day be bridged, tunneled or ferried. Mackinaw City at present has a small trade in wood and telegraph poles. It has a weekly mail. Lewis I Willets, postmaster.

MACOMB.

The village of Macomb and township of Macomb, in Macomb county, is situated on the middle branch of Clinton river, and was first settled in 1830 and '31, by Dan'l Kniffen, Dan'l Miller, Lester Giddings and Calvin Davis Sen, and has now 60 inhabitants. This village is 30 miles north from Detroit, and 10 miles from Mt Clemens. Traffic reaches this place by way of Mt Clemens. It is located in the central part of the county, and the surrounding country is very level. It has a tri-weekly mail. E. S. Axtell, postmaster.

MACON.

A village of 400 inhabitants in Macon township, Lenawee county. It is 7 miles northeast of Tecumseh, and 16 miles from Adrian. Clinton is its usual shipping station. The surrounding country is rolling and fertile, and wheat, oats, corn and farm produce generally are shipped. Settled 1830. Macon has a weekly mail. G. W. Burdett, postmaster.

MANCHESTER.

The third place in population and importance in Washtenaw county. Located in the southwestern corner of the county in the beautiful valley of the river Raisin, at the intersection of the D. H. & I. R. R. with the Jackson branch of the L. S. and M. S. R. R., 24 miles from Ypsilanti, 54 miles from Detroit, and 51 miles from Toledo. The river affords water power for 2 flouring mills, a saw mill, a woolen factory, wagon and carriage manufactory, and a foundry and machine shop. Besides these there are two planing mills, and a large brewery run by steam. It has also a large manufactory of perfumes and extracts. Manchester has a weekly newspaper, the Enterprise, two good hotels, a state bank, capital $50.000; a large union school building, costing over $25,000, with accommodations for over 300 scholars; also a German school and six churches, Methodist, Universalist, Lutheran, Baptist, Presbyterian and Catholic. The Riverside Mineral Springs are considered some of the best in the State. The village is built mostly of brick and boasts some of the finest business blocks and residences in the State. The population of the village is about 2,000. The inhabitants are about one-half Germans. The products of one of the richest agricultural regions of the State are marketed at this village and the two railroads offer excellent competition on freights. MANISTEE.

The county seat of Manistee county, is a city of 4,894 inhabitants, located in the southwest part of the county, on the shore of lake Michigan and at the mouth of the Manistee river. It is distant from Detroit by rail and stage via Ludington 270 miles, from Chicago by water 175 miles, from Ludington 31 miles by stage and 25 by boat and is 28 miles south of Frankfort. Manistee was first settled about the year 1846 and received a city charter in 1869, never having had any village charter. The character of the surrounding country is varied, some portions of it being very good for agricultural purposes, the productions being winter wheat of a very good quality, potatoes, corn &c. There is also some fruit raised about here and it is probable that Manistee will shortly export large quantities of small fruits. Lumber in its various forms is the principal article of export, there being about 20 saw and shingle mills in and about the city, most of them being located on an expansion of the river, known as Manistee lake.

There is also a tannery, a sash, door and blind factory, 2 foundries and machine shops, 2 boiler shops, and two weekly newspapers, The Manistee Times and the Standard and Times of Manistee. Manistee has suffered from destructive conflagrations during the past 3 years, but nothwitstanding this fact is a thriving place and growing rapidly, and has now several very fine private and public buildings. The Temperance Hall, built by the Women's Temperance Association (a society of ladies organized for the purpose of suppressing intemperance) at a cost of $15,000 is a splendid public hall, with reading room attached and is one of the finest buildings on the east shore of lake Michigan north of Grand Haven. There being no railroad facilities, Manistee has as yet no express line doing business here. The Western Union telegraph has an office here.

MARQUETTE.

The county seat of Marquette and the commercial metropolis of the Upper Peninsula. It is situated on a beautiful bay of the same name, about midway between St. Mary's river and the Wisconsin boundary line, 170 miles from the head of the canal and about 450 miles, by water, from Detroit. The building of the Marquette & Mackinac railroad will lessen the distance necessary to be traveled nearly one hundred miles. It has direct railway communication with Chicago and Milwaukee, and in fact with all the cities of the West except those of the lower peninsula. It is the eastern terminus of the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railway, now completed a distance of 65 miles to L'Anse at the head of Keweenaw bay.

The real discovery of the iron beds of Marquette county occurred in 1845, at which time the Jackson company was organized. The settlement of the present city of Marquette dates from about the same time. In 1854 a plank road was constructed to the mines and the first iron dock built for convenience of shipment. The railroad was completed to the mines in 1857, and in 1865 the C. & N. W. R. R., opened to Escanaba. The city has since grown steadily and now numbers a population of 5,242.

Marquette is the great center of the iron interests of Lake Superior. There are altogether 36 mines and 17 furnace companies, the aggregate product of the former for 1874 being 935,490 tons of ore, valued at $5,058,979, and of the latter, 90,494 tons of pig iron, valued at $2,533,832, making a total product of $7,592,811. Of the 1,025,982 tons of ore and pig iron Marquette shipped 469,942 tons, Escanaba, 305,074 tons, and L'Anse 250,966 tons.

The manufacturing interests of Marquette include 3 large blast furnaces, a rolling mill, 2 large foundries and machine shops and two extensive brown stone quarries with mills for sawing the stone into merchantable shape. The extensive car and machine shops of the M. H. & O. R. R., are also located here and at these shops all the cars employed on the line are constructed and locomotives rebuilt and repaired.

The city is lighted with gas and supplied with water by Holly water works, three well organized hose companies, constituting its fire department. The main street contains a number of very handsome blocks and an air of thrift and prosperity pervades every feature of the city. There are 7 churches, some of them very fine structures. A new Episcopal church is in process of erection to cost, completed, $50,000. The school buildings number 4, with a $75,000 brown stone high school in course of construction; number of children attending school, 1,523. There are 3 public halls and a $50,000 opera house is now (1875) building. There are several good hotels among which the Northwestern is in all respects first-class, and enjoys a great popularity with summer visitors and tourists.

There is only one newspaper at Marquette, but this one, the Mining Journal, for its enterprise and ability merits the monopoly it enjoys. The financial interests of the city are represented by 3 banks with an aggregate capital and surplus of $1,500,000. The city has several mercantile establishments that do a business of $250,000 each annually.

In the event of the upper peninsula being set off as a separate State, Marquette will no doubt become its capital. Telegraph—Northwestern. Express—American. Samuel Billings, postmaster.

MARSHALL.

Marshall is the county seat of Calhoun county, and a thriving city on the M. C. R. R., 108 miles from Detroit and 177 from Chicago. It is also on the Kalamazoo river which supplies it with a valuable water power.

The site was selected for a village in 1830 by a colony from New York State. The place advanced rapidly under the impulse of speculation which for the next few years carried everything before it. Then in 1836 came the collapse and a long period of reaction. The Central railroad was completed to Marshall in 1844, and the village was incorporated a city in 1859. Its present population, according to the census of 1874, is 4,623.

There are 10 churches in Marshall: Christian, Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregational, Evangelical Association, Lutheran Catholic and African Methodist. There is also a Spiritual association. In 1873 the Presbyterians erected a $60,000 church edifice. The public schools comprise a $60,000 central building—one of the finest in the State—and 4 ward schools. There are over 1,300 scholars enrolled, and 20 teachers employed at an aggregate of $8,500 for salaries.

In 1874 the county erected here a new court house, one of the finest in central Michigan. Its cost was over $50,000.

The manufacturing enterprises of Marshall include 5 flouring mills, a paper mill, a windmill and pump factory, a hoe factory, (capital $100,000), 2 planing mills, a foundry, 2 machine shops, etc., etc. There are 3 banks, the First National, capital $200,000; the National Bank of Michigan, capital $100,000; and the National City Bank, capital $100,000.

Two live newspapers are published here, the Statesman, republican, and the Expositor, liberal. The city is lighted with gas. The fire department consists of a steamer and two hand engines, supplied with water from 22 artesian wells, located in different parts of the city.

Marshall has long been an important station on the M. C. R. R. It is the dinner station of the road where all day trains stop twenty minutes for meals. The Coldwater, Marshall & Mackinac railroad is graded from Coldwater through Marshall to Elm Hall, a distance of 110 miles, and bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 have been issued and are now (1875) being negotiated for the iron and rolling stock which will be put on early in the year 1875. The Michigan & Ohio railway extends from Grand Haven to Portsmouth, on the Ohio river, a distance of 400 miles, also passes through Marshall. Work is rapidly progressing on this road and it is expected to be completed early in 1875, when Marshall will no longer lack the advantages of being a railroad center. Indeed it seems safe to say that with its three competing roads added to its many other advantages, Marshall is likely to become a place of leading importance in the interior of the State. Samuel J. Burpee, postmaster.

MASON.

The county seat of Ingham county, an incorporated village of 1,600 inhabitants, in the township of Vevay, on the line of the J. L. & S. R. R., 25 miles north of Jackson, and 12 south of Lansing. By rail it is 96 miles from Detroit. The first settlement was made here in 1838, and the village was incorporated in 1865. The place undoubtedly derived its name from Stevens T. Mason, the first Governor of the State of Michigan. It is situated in a good rolling farming country, producing wheat, corn, and all kinds of farm produce. Pork, wheat, butter and eggs form leading items of shipment. The village contains 2 flouring mills, 2 planing mills, 2 stave and barrel factories, 2 saw mills, a handle factory, 2 pump factories, a foundry and machine shop, a carriage factory, a cheese factory, a brewery and 2 brick yards. There are three churches, Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist, and a $22,000 union school house. The county has a good brick court house and a brick jail. In the court house square is one of the flowing artesian wells becoming so common in this State. There is but one newspaper published here, the News, an excellent Republican journal. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Frank T. Albright, postmaster.

MENOMINEE.

The county seat of Menominee county, a village claiming a population of 3,000, on the west shore of Green Bay, at the mouth of the Menominee river. It is on the C. & N. W. R. R., 50 miles north of the city of Green Bay, and 63 south of Escanaba. Menominee is an important lumber, manufacturing point having in the village and immediate neighborhood several large saw mills. The streets of the place are constructed wholly with sawdust. Besides its extensive lumber interests, Menominee aspires to become an iron manufacturing point. Already a blast furnace is in full operation, its product for 1874 being 4,942 tons of pig iron, and extensive beds of iron ore have been developed in Menominee county, and only a branch railroad line to the site is awaited to commence active operations. Four mines have been located, the Breen-Ingalls, the Little Sturgeon Falls, and 2 others. The railroad to the same will probably be completed before the close of 1875.

The harbor formed by the mouth of the river is being improved by the General Government, and when the bar is removed, vessels drawing 12 feet of water will be able to enter. During 1874 a $30,000 court house was built; also a brick town hall erected at a cost of $8,000. The village has a well organized fire department, equipped with a steamer and two hand engines. There are 4 churches, Catholic, Methodist and Lutheran. Also a graded school employing 6 teachers. There is also published here a good weekly paper, the Herald. Telegraph, Western Union. Express—American. Samuel A. Abbott, postmaster.

MIDLAND CITY

Is the county seat of Midland county, also of Gladwin and Roscommon counties, which, for judicial purposes, are annexed to Midland county. The place was first settled in 1833, was incorporated as a village in 1869, and has now a population of 2,100. It is situated on the Tittabawassee river, which at this point is joined by the Chippewa. Midland is a station on the F. & P. M. R. R., and the Grand Rapids & Bay City R. R., when finished, will pass through here. It is distant from East Saginaw 20 miles, and from Detroit 118 miles. The surrounding country is level, and when improved makes good farms. Lumber is the principal article of manufacture and export. The village has 2 saw mills, 1 planing mill, 2 shingle mills, a hemlock extract factory, and a grist mill. There are two weekly newspapers published here—the Times and the Independent. The village contains 5 churches, viz Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist, and Catholic. There is also a fine school building, built of brick at a cost of $30,000. The Masons and Odd Follows both have lodges here. Telegraph—Western Union. Express—American. B. F. Bradley, postmaster.

MONROE.

The county seat of Monroe county, a thriving little city near the southeast corner of the State, 41 miles a little west of south of Detroit, and 24 northeast of Toledo. It is on the river Raisin, near where it empties into lake Erie. It has 2 railroad connections with Detroit and Toledo, the L. S. & M. S. R. R., and the Canada Southern. The main line of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. also connects it with Adrian and Chicago and the F. & P. M. R. R., extending northward with Saginaw and Ludington. It is thus quite a railroad center.

Monroe has a population of about 6,000. It has 13 churches, 3 Catholic, the rest Protestant of the different denominations. There is a very fine union school building and several ward schools, also an excellent private academy and collegiate institute for young ladies, of which Rev. E. J. Boyd is principal, and which has about 100 pupils constantly in attendance. The newspaper press is represented by the Commercial, Republican, and the Monitor, Democratic, both enterprising weekly journals.

The business interests of Monroe embrace 5 flouring mills, a stave factory, a spoke factory, a glass sand mill, 2 foundries, a plaster mill and a tobacco factory, the latter employing 80 hands, and doing a business of $500,000 a year. The nursery business is also carried on extensively at Monroe and in the vicinity. Express, United States. Telegraph, Western Union.
Wm. A. Noble, posmaster.

MONTAGUE.

The beautiful village of Montague is situated in Muskegon county, 17 miles north of the city of Muskegon, and about 6 miles from the Michigan shore, and on the north bank of White lake, a picturesque sheet of water of some 7 miles in length by an average of two miles in width; it is navigable the entire length for the largest of lake vessels.

Montague has a population of 1,356, according to the State census of 1874, and is a live enterprising town of but eight years standing. It has already attained a considerable importance as a lumber manufacturing point, there being located in Montague proper 7 saw mills, and 2 shingle mills, while on the south shore of White lake, the suburbs of Montague, there are fifteen or twenty more, making a total of some thirty mills having an aggregate capacity of about 100,000,000 feet of lumber per season.

The citizens are ensuring the future success of the town by the introduction of manufacturing establishments. This interest is already quite large, and is steadily increasing. Under this head comes a large sash, door and blind factory, the Montague iron works, a curtain stick, slat and map mounting factory, a steam flouring mill, a boiler shop, and a wagon manufactory.

Many of the citizens are turning their attention to fruit growing with good success, the peaches being of as fine a flavor as those of the St. Joseph region. There are three peach orchards, of about 5,000 trees each, under an advanced state of cultivation. These shipped in 1874 over 5,000 baskets of peaches. In addition to the above an orchard of 10,000 trees was to be set out in the spring of 1875. This region, it is believed, is destined to become, at no distant day, the center of the great fruit growing belt of Michigan.

The lumber, manufacturing products, crops, etc., are easily placed upon the Chicago, Milwaukee, eastern and interior markets by means of the Engleman Transportation Company, and the C. & M. L. S. R. R., both of which lines make Montague a point.

The buildings completed and commenced during the season of 1874 foot up an aggregate value of $144,000, among which is the Franklin House, built at a cost of $30,000; the German Lutheran church, erected at an expense of $8,000; the Presbyterian church, at $10,000, still unfinished; the public school house, $15,000, still unfinished; Lorenson's opera house, and the Presbyterian parsonage, and a score of other buildings.

Of course the town boasts a newspaper—The Montague Lumberman, the only paper in Muskegon county printed entirely at home.

Montague is one of the liveliest of the many live towns of Western Michigan, and has a promising future before it.

MORGAN.

Morgan is a village of some 700 inhabitants, and is located upon the line of the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railroad, 7 miles west from Marquette, and 5 miles east of Negaunee. It is the most pleasant location upon the line of the railroad, and is the site of the well known Morgan furnace, from which it derives its name. This furnace was built in 1863, and has been the most successful enterprise of the kind in this region, having paid for itself in the first four months of its run. The iron from it is and has been the standard for all other lake Superior charcoal irons. The Morgan, together with the Champion furnace, which was burned in 1874, was projected and built under the immediate supervision of C. Donkersley, its President and Treasurer, and who now operates the same under lease. Connected with the furnace is a bloomery, where charcoal blooms are made in quality equal, and, for many purposes, superior to the famous Swedish and Norway iron. In every respect these works are most complete, having their own foundry, machine, blacksmith, and carpenter shops. The product of the Morgan furnace amounts to about 6,000 tons of pig iron annually. Nothing but iron and a little lumber is shipped. The surrounding country is hilly, and very much broken. Express, American. Telegraph, Northwestern. Wm. E. Perry, postmaster.

MOUNT CLEMENS.

The county seat of Macomb county, a flourishing incorporated village on the Clinton river and Grand Trunk railway, 23 miles northeast of Detroit. It has a population of about 2,600, and is probably in as thrifty a condition as any other place in eastern Michigan. Within the short space of six months in 1874, as many as 125 buildings were erected, and property is rapidly advancing in value. The manufacturing interests of Mount Clemens include a saw mill, salt works, a foundry, a woolen mill, a tannery, 3 carriage factories, 2 barrel factories, 2 breweries, etc. A mineral well here is reported to work wonders in the cure of rheumatic affections, and a new and commodious hotel and bath house are on the point of being erected for the convenience of visitors. The village has Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Catholic and Lutheran churches, and first-class school accommodations. There are two newspapers, the Monitor and the Press. The village was settled in 1818, and was named after Christian Clemens, one of its pioneers. Express—Canadian; Telegraph—Western Union. Jas. H. Shook, postmaster.

MUIR.

When the D. & M. R. R. was built it was carried a mile to the north of Lyons, Ionia county, and around the Lyons depot soon grew up a thriving little village which was named Muir after the popular superintendent of the road, William K. Muir. It lies 7 miles east of Ionia, and 116 miles from Detroit, and has a population of about 1,000. In 1869 it secured a village charter. It is the outlet for a considerable tract of pine country lying north, and is largely interested in the lumber business. It also has a foundry, planing mill, shingle mills, etc. Muir supports a weekly newspaper, the Grand

MUNISING.

This village contains about 1,000 inhabitants, and is most beautifully situated on Grand Island bay, an indentation of lake Superior, in Schoolcraft county. It is 40 miles east of Marquette, and 130 miles west of Sault Ste Marie. It boasts of the best harbor on lake Superior and most famous trout fishing grounds, while wild game of every description abound. Lying, as it does, in the immediate vicinity of the Pictured Rocks, it is already patronized to a considerable extent as a summer resort for the tourist and invalid, and with its pure air and great natural attractions, bids fair to become the "Saratoga" of lake Superior. Located here is the extensive chorcoal blast furnace of the Munising Iron Co., producing and shipping nearly 10,000 tons of pig iron each year. Munising will be a point on the contemplated Marquette & Mackinaw railroad. The Munising river here has a fall of 100 feet, affording an excellent opportunity for water power. The country around is rolling and covered with hardwood timber. Pig iron and brick are shipped. Telegraph—Western Union. Mail semi-weekly. W H Dack, postmaster.

MUSKEGON.

Muskegon, the county seat of Muskegon county, a flourishing city of 9,000 inhabitants, is situated at the debouchment of Muskegon river into the beautiful lake of the same name, It is 192 miles by rail from Chicago, and 196 miles in a westerly direction from Detroit. In 1836 the first settlement was made here by Henry Penoyer, as agent of a Chicago company. The following year (1837) a small frame house was built by Theodore Newhall. The great wealth of the lumber region north and west of Muskegon, which has since been wonderfully developed, was then just beginning to be realized, and a few enterprising men had established lumber mills at various points along the banks of the Muskegon river, some distance in the interior. Before Muskegon itself attained any importance as a lumber manufacturing place its convenient location made it a considerable depot of supplies for the surrounding lumber interests. In the same year a lumber mill was established at Muskegon, known as "Wheelock's mill," and during the next few years several others were built. The first cargo of lumber was shipped from this place in 1838, to Chicago. The growth of the village was now rapid, and among those who took up land at this time, and who may be termed "old settlers" were Martin Ryerson, Wm. Lasley, Horace and Erastus Wilcox, Geo. Woodbury and Samuel Rose. The village was platted in 1853, incorporated as a village in 1861, and as a city in 1870.

Muskegon is on the C. & M. L. S. R. R., and is the terminus of the M. & B. R. & M. L. S. railroads; while the Grand River Valley railroad has a running arrangement with other roads, so that through trains are run between this city and Detroit. It has a daily line of steamboats to Chicago and Milwaukee, and is a stopping place for the east shore line of steamers. The shipment of lumber from this place annually amounts to about 400,000,000 feet, requiring about 100 vessels of various kinds, while a large amount also is shipped by rail. The saw mills, of which there are a large number on Muskegon lake, are mostly of large size and of good construction, containing all the labor-saving machinery usually found in first-class mills.

In other departments of manufacture there are 2 flouring mills, 3 large steam engine works and foundries, a saw factory, 2 boiler factories, and 3 planing mills, with two of which are connected sash and blind factories.

The lake on which the city is situated, is about 5 miles long, and 2 wide, and being entirely land locked, affords a safe harbor for the large fleet of vessels trading here, and the same is of the greatest value for booming logs. The channel leading from Muskegon lake to lake Michigan, is about one half of a mile in length, and the current in it is so strong, that the water never freezes over, thus affording better advantages, for a winter harbor, than almost any port on lake Michigan. The largest sized vessels trading on lake Michigan can now enter this port, and when the improvements now in progress are completed, Muskegon harbor will be surpassed by none on lake Michigan, for safety and convenience of access.

The land immediately around Muskegon, although rather sandy, is well adapted to gardening, and fruit raising, particularly to that of peaches and grapes, to which considerable attention has of late been given, and with abundant success. Luther Moulton, one of the most successful fruit grocers in Western Michigan, in 1874 shipped 40 tons of grapes from a vineyard in the vicinity of this city.

Muskegon has a fine union school building, scarcely excelled in the State, in beauty of architectural design and convenience of internal arrangement, and has also 5 ward schools, affording accommodation to nearly, 1,800 children.

There are 11 churches, comparing favorably in appearance with other churches in the State, 8 hotels, of which the Occidental is the best. There are also 2 National Banks, the Muskegon National, having a capital of $200,000, and the Lumbermen's First National, having $100,000 capital. The first named has lately erected a very large and elegant bank building, at an expense of about $50,000.

The city is supplied with gas and a first class system of water works is being constructed.

The newspapers published in the city, are the Chronicle, the Lakeside Register, and the News and Reporter. They are all weeklies.

The present (1875) mayor of the city is Hon. S. H. Wagner.

NASHVILLE.

The village of Nashville is a sprightly little village of nearly 1,000 inhabitants, situated on the G. R. V. R. R., 45 miles east of Grand Rapids, and 50 northwest of Jackson. It is in Castleton township, Barry county, and its existence dates only from the completion of the railroad to this point. The Thornapple river affords a moderate water power. The manufacturing enterprises of Nashville include a flouring mill, a carding mill, a saw mill, a stave mill, a foundry, and a brick yard. An additional flouring mill is to be erected this year (1875). There are but 2 churches, Methodist and Christian. A weekly newspaper, the News (independent), is also published here. The projected Michigan & Ohio Railroad, connecting Grand Haven with Columbus, O., will make Nashville a point. Lumber, heading stock and farm produce are shipped from this station. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. H. H. Wood, postmaster.

NEWAYGO.

Newaygo is the county seat of Newaygo county, a thriving village of 1,400 inhabitants in the township of Brooks. It is the present northern terminus of the G. R. N. & L. S. R. R., being 36 miles north of Grand Rapids. It is also on the Muskegon river, 30 miles above Muskegon, which here furnishes immense water power, and this makes Newaygo an important lumber manufacturing point. One mill here ranks among the largest in the west, having a capacity for 20,000,000 feet per annum. There is also another smaller mill, 3 shingle mills, a sash and blind factory, and a large flouring mill. All are run by water power. The village also contains two hotels, a $7,000 school house, 2 churches, Methodist and Congregational, etc. Newaygo derives its name from an Indian word signifying "much water." It was incorporated in 1867, and was reached by the railroad in 1872. E. O. Shaw, postmaster.

NEW BUFFALO.

New Buffalo is the most southwesterly village of Michigan. It is in New Buffalo township, Berrien county, and is on the shore of lake Michigan, at the mouth of Galien river. It is a station on the M. C. R. R., and is the southern terminus of the C. & M. L. S. R. R. New Buffalo is 66 miles from Chicago, 218 from Detroit, and is 27 west of Niles. Population between 800 and 1000. New Buffalo was settled in 1834 and for some time was the western terminus of the M. C. R. R., a line of boats connecting it with Chicago. When the road was extended around the head of the lake the village lost its prestige, and its growth since has been very gradual. The site is rough and disfigured with sand hills washed up from the lake. The country around is heavily wooded and staves from a leading item of manufacture and shipment.

(See index to names received too late for insertion in proper place.)

NILES.

The city of Niles, in Berrien county, is one of the most prosperous places on the line of the M. C. R. R. It is situated at the western junction of the main and air lines, and at the junction of the South Bend branch. It is 93 miles east of Chicago, 179 west of Detroit, and 10 miles north of South Bend, Ind. It is on the St. Joseph river, at the head of navigation, and possesses a water power surpassed but by few places in this State.

The population of Niles, according to the census of 1874, was 4,588, but it has the elements of prosperity in a large degree, and may be expected to double or treble within a few years.

The enterprise of this city is seen in its gas works, its fine rows of business houses, and its large iron bridge connecting the western side of the river with the main town. Though not the county seat, Niles is by far the largest and most important town in the county of Berrien. Its manufacturing interests are numerous, including 5 large flouring mills, 4 carriage and wagon shops, one employing 60 hands, a furniture company with a capital of $50,000, a pulp company, a paper mill, a paper box factory, 2 foundries and machine shops, a planing mill, fanning mill and cornsheller factory, a basket factory, an Alden fruit drying establishment and a steam bakery.

The educational wants of the city have not been neglected, as would seem from the fact that they have a fine union and four ward school houses, giving employment to 19 teachers.

Eight churches, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Methodist, Catholic, Baptist, Lutheran, and two colored churches, Methodist and Baptist, afford a sabbath home for church going people.

The press of Niles consists of the Republican, the Democrat, and the Independent, a democratic sheet. Niles was settled in 1828, and took its name from Hezekiah Niles, the editor of Niles' Register, a famous publication in its day. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union. Express, American. E. J. Bonine, postmaster.

OLIVET.

A delightful little village in the town of Walton, Eaton county, the seat of the widely known Olivet college. It is 15 miles north of Marshall and 2½ south of Olivet station on the C. & L. H. R. R. It is also on the line of the proposed Coldwater, Marshall and Mackinaw railroad. The village is located on a stream known as brook Kedron or Indian creek, which affords water power for a grist and saw mill. The streets are pleasantly shaded with the natural forest trees and it quite reminds one of the classic groves of Cambridge, Mass. Of course the college is the institution of the place. It is under the auspices of the Congregational denomination, admits both males and females to its classes, cultivates a high moral tone and is in all respects an institution of learning worthy of the highest confidence. For a long time it struggled against great financial embarrassments, but of late these have been surmounted and an adequate endowment fund secured, which places the college on a firm and prosperous basis, Settled as a religious and educational colony in 1844. ONTONAGON.

The county seat of Ontonagon county, a village of about 600 inhabitants, on the shore of lake Superior, and at the mouth of Ontonagon river. It is 52 miles west of L'Anse, its nearest approach by rail. It is surrounded by a well timbered country, with a good soil, growing hay, grain, fruits and vegetables. The village contains lumber, grist and shingle mills, but its principal business interests are in connection with the copper mines located a few miles back in the interior. There are just a dozen of these mines which were productive in 1874, the best being as follows:

	Product for 1874.
Ridge	282 tons.
Minnesota	130 "
National	114 "
Nonsuch	42 "
Rockland	38 "
Flint Steel River	34 "
Aztec	10 "
Mass	9 "
Knowlton	5 "
Adventure	5 "
Lake Superior	4 "
Bohemian	4 "

The Ridge in 1874 divided $20,000. Several of the others levied assessments on their stockholders. Altogether the Ontonagon mines have been so eclipsed by those at Portage Lake as to have come to be considerably neglected. The village supports an excellent weekly newspaper, the Miner. OWOSSO.

Owosso is a city having a population of 2,448 inhabitants (according to the census of 1874) in Shiawassee county, a little to the northwest of the geographical center. It is on the D. & M. R. R., at the intersection of the J. L. & S. R. R., and is 78 miles from Detroit, 3 west of Corunna, the county seat, 79 east of Grand Rapids, 28 northeast of Lansing, and 36 southwest of Saginaw. The Saginaw river flows through the place, and furnishes a moderate water power. The first settlement was made here in 1835, when the village was laid out. The next year a colony from Rochester, N. Y., moved in, improved the water power, and established slack water navigation with Saginaw. The D. & M. R. R. was completed to Owosso in 1855, and the road to Lansing in 1863. Owosso is now looking forward to the construction of a third railroad, the Owosso & Northwestern, striking for some point on the shore of lake Michigan north of any existing east-and-west roads.

Owosso contains Congregational, Baptist, Methodist, Lutheran, German Methodist and Catholic churches, first-class school accommodations, a library association, 3 newspapers, the Northern Granger, the Press, and the Crusader, a mineral spring, 2 flouring mills, 2 foundries, 2 planing mills, 1 chair factory and several other manufactories of various sorts, more or less extensive, also 2 grain elevators, and numerous elegant private residences. PARMA.

The village of Parma is a place of about 1,000 souls, located in Jackson county, on the main line of the M. C. R. R., 10 miles west of Jackson and 87 miles from Detroit. Its close proximity to Jackson prevents a very rapid growth, notwithstanding it has some very fine brick stores and pleasant residences. In the absence of water power its entire manufacturing interests are operated with steam, and consist of a planing mill, a foundry, an Alden drying establishment, and an extensive cooper shop. The large flouring mill of O. Gillett & Sons, which was blown up in 1874, has been repaired, and is doing a thriving business. An extensive business is done here in the purchase and shipment of fruit. The public buildings consist of a $20,000 union school building, to which is attracted a large number of foreign pupils, and three churches—Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian—the former a $10,000 brick edifice. Thos J Stimson, postmaster.

PAW PAW.

The county seat of Van Buren county. It is an incorporated village of 1,700 inhabitants, in the township of Paw Paw, a little southeast of the geographical center of the county. It is 4 miles northwest of Lawton, on the M. C. R. R., a short line of road, known as the Paw Paw railroad, connecting it with the Michigan Central. Distances—from Detroit, 164 miles: from Chicago, 128 miles; from Lansing, 88 miles. It is also on the Paw Paw river, which affords water power. Paw Paw is one of the pleasantest villages in the State. Its streets are wide and level, and are lined with large and beautiful maples. Most beautiful drives and picturesque lakes surround it on all sides. In common with so many of its sister villages of Michigan, it has mineral springs possessing undoubted medicinal properties. The country around was originally oak openings, but is now under a high state of cultivation. Cereals, fruit and live stock are the great staples. The manufacturing interests of Paw Paw include 3 flouring mills, a saw mill, a planing mill, 2 foundries, etc. There is also a national bank, the First National—capital, $100,000. Paw Paw was settled in 1832, by Messrs. Peirce, Barber and Rodney. It was incorporated in 1867. Telegraph—Atlantic & Pacific; Express—American. Geo. W. Matthews, postmaster.

PETERSBURGH.

The village of Petersburg, in Summerfield township, Monroe county, is a smart little town of 600 to 700 inhabitants, 3 miles east of Deerfield, and 17 west of Monroe, on the Monroe & Adrian division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. For a town of its size it has some very creditable brick stores. The surrounding country is well adapted to the raising of all kinds of farm produce. A good water power is found in the Raisin river.

The chief manufacturing interests of Petersburg consist of a flouring mill, a saw mill, a shingle mill, an Alden fruit drying and condensing establishment, a cheese factory, (200 or 300 cow-power), and a large stave factory.

The public buildings consist of 2 churches, Methodist and Presbyterian, and a $10,000 school house.

The Canada Southern railroad has a depot about a mile and a half to the northwest. First settled, 1824. Incorporated, 1869. Express, United States. Telegraph, Western Union. George Peters, postmaster.

PETOSKEY.

Formerly Bear River, a young but rapidly growing village, and one likely to become a place of some importance as the northern terminus of the G. R. & I. R. R. It is located on the south shore of Little Traverse bay, at the mouth of Bear river, in Bear Creek township, Emmet county, 10 miles south of Little Traverse, the county seat, and 14 east of Charlevoix. Until the completion of the railroad, in the summer of 1874, Petoskey was but a small hamlet of perhaps 50 souls, but it at once rose to a place of 300 inhabitants, and will yet rapidly increase. It derives its name from an old Indian chief who resides there and carries on a large mercantile business. The surrounding country is a dense forest, and is an Indian reservation. Potatoes and maple sugar are the staple products. The village has two good hotels, and a number of stores. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, United States. Wm. Little, postmaster.

PLAINWELL.

A thriving incorporated village, in the township of Gun Plain, Allegan county, 12 miles southeast of Allegan, and 11 north of Kalamazoo. It is situated at the intersection of the G. R. & I. and L. S. & M. S. railroads, and is on the Kalamazoo river, which affords an excellent water power, only a portion of which is utilized. The following manufactories are driven by water power: 2 flouring mills, 2 planing mills, 1 sash and blind factory, 3 turning and handle factories, 1 saw mill and 1 paper mill. Plainwell is located in the midst of a rich agricultural district, and is an excellent grain market, the shipment of flour alone amounting to over 100,000 barrels per year. Paper, wooden wares and general produce are also shipped in large quantities. It has 4 churches—Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal—a fine central and primary school building, a ladies' library association, and an incorporated literary society; also is the headquarters of the Union Agricultural and Industrial Society of Allegan, Barry and Kalamazoo counties, which has its grounds located here. A weekly newspaper, the Plainwell Republic, is published here. The village was incorporated in 1869, since which time it has advanced rapidly, and now has a population of 1,600. No place in the State offers better inducements for manufacturing enterprise than Plainwell, with its railroad facilities, and at least 13,000 inches of water power unimproved. Express—United States and American; Telegraph—Western Union. F. A. Hayes, postmaster.

PONTIAC.

Pontiac is the county seat of Oakland county, and is situated on the D. & M. R. R., 26 miles northwest of Detroit. It is a city of 3,651 inhabitants, according to the census of 1874. It has a large trade with the rich agricultural country that surrounds it, though this has been much restricted by the numerous railroads that have been built around it, and which have drawn away its business to other points. It has always been famous for the shrewdness and success of its business men. It is an important wool market, and also handles grain heavily and manufactures flour on a large scale. Besides its flouring mills it has one or more each of foundries, breweries, planing mills, plaster mills and tanneries, also a woolen mill. It has 2 national banks, 2 first-class weekly newspapers —the Gazette and the Bill Poster, a steam fire department, a $70,000 union school building—one of the finest in the State, Episcopal, Catholic, Presbyterian, Methodist, Congregational and Baptist churches, good public halls, and a number of very fine residences. The country around is famous for its charming lakes and beautiful drives.

A short distance west of the city is now being erected the new State Insane Asylum, which will cost some $400,000, and will no doubt prove of considerable advantage to the place in the disbursement of public funds it will occasion. Pontiac is also expecting during the present year (1875) to secure another outlet by rail in the completion to this point of the Chicago & St. Clair Air Line R. R. Ultimately it will no doubt be extended westward to Jackson.

Pontiac was first settled in 1818 by the Pontiac Land Company. The following year a wagon road was opened to Detroit, and in 1820 it became the county seat of Oakland county. The railroad was completed to Pontiac in 1843, but was not extended further westward till 1856. In 1857 it obtained a village charter, and it 1861 became a city.

The Clinton river flows through the place, furnishing a fair water power. Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. S. S. Mathews, postmaster.

PORT HURON.

Port Huron is the county seat of St. Clair county, and an important commercial point. It is situated at the foot of lake Huron, or where that lake finds its outlet into the St. Clair river. Black river, a logging stream, also here joins the St. Clair, giving Port Huron great advantages as a lumbering point. It is 618 miles west of New York, 347 east of Chicago, 62 northeast of Detroit, and 110 from Lansing. The Grand Trunk and Great Western railways, starting from just across the river, connect it with Buffalo, Montreal and the east; the Grand Trunk crossing by ferry just above the city, is continued on to Detroit, and the Chicago & Lake Huron R. R, when finished, will connect the city directly with Chicago by way of Lapeer, Flint, Lansing, Battle Creek, etc. At present the section between Flint and Lansing is uncompleted. Ferries connect Port Huron with Port Sarnia, on the opposite side of the river, and two street railways extend northward to Fort Gratiot, the place of crossing of the Grand Trunk. Railroads are projected to Lexington & Saginaw, but the depression in railroad interests that has existed for a year or two past has prevented any active progress being made with them.

According to the census of 1874, Port Huron has a population of 8,240, a liberal supply of churches, schools and societies, a daily newspaper, the Times, republican, a semi-weekly, the Commercial, democratic, and 2 weeklies, the Farmer's Visitor, and the Saturday Morning Journal, an efficient fire department, gas works, sewerage, water works, and a fine court house. Two elegant iron bridges cross Black river.

The heaviest branch of trade in Port Huron is in lumber, there being some half dozen saw mills in operation, and half as many planing mills. There are also 3 foundries and machine shops, 2 or 3 breweries, a flouring mill, a barrel factory, a tannery, and an extensive dry dock and 2 ship yards. A large trade is also done in fish. Port Huron is a port of entry, and, in the number of emigrants who first tread on United States soil, is surpassed by no other port in the country, New York only excepted.

The site of Port Huron was taken up by Hon. D. B. Harrington, in 1819. Fort Gratiot had been established since 1812. The Gratiot road was cut through, giving it land communication with Detroit, in 1833. Two years later the village was incorporated under the name of Port Huron. In 1857 it secured a city charter, and in 1859 was connected with Detroit by rail. Its growth has been steady and healthy, with nothing of inflation about it, and in time, no doubt, Port Huron will become a large city and an important trade center. William Harstuff, postmaster.

READING.

The village of Reading lies 10 miles southwest of Hillsdale, in Hillsdale county, on the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw road, 6 miles south of the junction with the Detroit, Hillsdale & Indiana road.

It is claimed to be on one of the highest points of land to be found in the lower peninsula of Michigan. Streams have their scource in the township, which diverge to the east and west, and finally empty their waters into lakes Michigan and Erie. In fact, it is said that the water falling from the eaves of the dwelling of Mrs. Gates diverge—that from one side swelling the waters of lake Michigan, while that from the other pours into lake Erie.

This is one of the richest farming sections of Michigan, the soil being of a rich, sandy and gravelly loam. Its timber is beech, maple, whitewood, black walnut, oak, etc.

The elevated position of the village of course forbids its having any available water power. The population of the village is 900. Its manufacturing enterprises include a foundry, a planing mill, a saw mill, a flouring mill, a stave factory, a sash, door and blind factory, a glove and mitten factory, a cheese factory, one of the largest in Michigan, 2 pump factories and a manufactury of washing machines and wringers, operating on a capital of $60,000.

Reading is claimed to be the heaviest shipping point on the Fort Wayne road between Fort Wayne and Jackson.

Its public buildings consist of a good $10,000 union school house, and 4 churches, Presbyterian, Methodist, Freewill Baptist and Baptist. The latter is a new and very tasty little brick edifice, and cost some $10,000.

Among other enterprises Reading is not without its local paper—the Reading Press formerly the Rough Notes. Settled 1835. Incorporated 1872. Express, American. Telegraph, Atlantic and Pacific. L. S. Parmelee, postmaster.

ROMEO.

The village of Romeo, though not the county seat, is the principal town of Macomb county, in the northern part of which it is located, on the line between Bruce and Washington townships, and on the Chicago & St. Clair railroad, 14 miles west of Ridgeway. It claims a population of 2,500, and is surrounded by a splendid farming country.

The soil is gravelly and well adapted for the construction of good streets at a moderate expense. Romeo has become well known to the sporting world through its annual and well-attended horse fairs, having here one of the very best half-mile tracks in the State. The public buildings consist of a central union and two primary school buildings (all of wood), and Methodist, Christian, Congregational, Episcopal, Baptist, and Lutheran churches. The Methodist church, which is a new one, is one of the finest in the interior of the State, having cost some $40,000. The Romeo Observer, a well-conducted local sheet, is the only paper published here. The manufacturing interests of Romeo include (in and close around the village), 4 flouring mills, 4 carriage factories, a planing mill, 2 foundries, a machine shop, an agricultural implement factory, and extract and perfumery works. There are also 2 banks. The leading shipments from Romeo consist of flour, grain, pork and potatoes. The village was platted in 1834, incorporated in 1838, and secured an outlet by railroad in 1870. Telegraph—Western Union. Express—Canadian. M. Thompson, postmaster.

SAGINAW.

Commonly known as Saginaw City, the county seat of Saginaw county, an incorporated city of 10,064 inhabitants, situated on the west branch of the Saginaw river, 18 miles above its mouth. It is 100 miles from Detroit, 64 from Lansing and 2 above East Saginaw which is on the opposite side of the river. The J. L. & S. R. R. passes through the business portion of the city by which line Saginaw is distant 36 miles from Owosso, 64 from Lansing and 101 from Jackson. The F. & P. M. R. R. passes within a short distance of the northern boundary of the city and the S. V. & St. L. R. R. extending 36 miles due west into the interior opens an extensive region to the trade of Saginaw.

The city fronts on the river some 4 miles and has an average depth of 2 miles. A street railway connects it with East Saginaw and the river is crossed by three substantial swing bridges. Washington street, a fine avenue, extends from a point opposite East Saginaw through the whole length of the city, parallel with the river. Between this street and the river are the hotels, stores, mills, and business places generally. On the other (the west) side, are situated the court house square and county buildings, most of the churches, school buildings and residences. The city has a splendid central school building, with five ward school houses, and a well organized public school system. The churches are, the German Lutheran, the Presbyterian, the Catholic, the Episcopal, the Methodist, the Baptist, the Reformed Lutheran, and a Free Church. The Taylor House, a first-class hotel, and a number of large and elegant brick business blocks are worthy of mention. Holly water works, erected at a cost of $100,000, supply the city with water. There is a Young Mens' Christian Association and various Masonic and Odd Fellows' lodges, also two weekly newspapers, the Saginawian, democratic, and the Saginaw Valley News, republican. There are 2 banks (one National), some 8 or 10 large saw mills, and as many salt manufactories, a foundry and machine shop, a flouring mill, a boiler shop, a planing mill, a stave factory, a sash and door factory, and various other manufacturing enterprises, more or less extensive, all of which give employment to 1,500 hands or more. Saginaw has also an immense trade in furnishing supplies to the lumber regions north and west. Large lake vessels ascend the river to this point, and load at docks directly in the heart of the city.

Various attempts have been made to consolidate East Saginaw with Saginaw City, and thereby erect, under a single municipal government, a city of between 25,000 and 30,000 inhabitants, but local jealousies have hitherto stood in the way. These will no doubt in time be overcome, and Saginaw will vie with Grand Rapids for the position of second city in Michigan in population and importance.

The history of Saginaw dates back to 1819, when Gen. Cass here negotiated an important treaty with the Indians by which a large tract was ceded to the government. Two years later a military post was established at this point. In 1822 Dr. Charles Little entered the land embracing the present site of the city, and a village was started. It was 1841 before a wagon road was opened to Detroit, and 20 years more before railroad communication was established. James A. Hudson, postmaster.

ST. CHARLES.

An incorporated village of 500 inhabitants in St. Charles township, Saginaw county. It is on the J. L. & S. R. R, 14 miles south of Saginaw City and 22 north of Owosso. It is situated on Bad river, a branch of the Shiawassee. The surrounding country is low and unattractive, but controlling a large area of pine country drained by Bad river, St. Charles is a very eligible point for lumber manufacturing. It has 3 large saw mills and a shingle mill, also 3 churches, Methodist, Presbyterian and Advent. The place was settled in 1854 and was incorporated in 1869. Telegraph—Western Union. Express—American. R. S. Case, postmaster.

ST. CLAIR.

The former county seat of St. Clair county, a beautifully located little city on the St. Clair river, at the mouth of Pine river, 12 miles below Port Huron. According to the census of 1874 it had a population of 2,003. It is the eastern terminus of the C. & St. C. Air Line R. R., soon to be completed westward to Pontiac, and ultimately to Chicago, serving as a feeder to the Canada Southern, which already extends eastward from St. Clair to Buffalo.

The loss of the county seat a few years since, and the rapid growth of Port Huron, its successful rival in the long contest for the honors of being the shire town, together with the natural decline of lumbering interests, have somewhat dampened its former aspirations and materially checked its growth. The improvement of the agricultural interests surrounding the town, however, and its railroad connections will, in part, if not fully, restore it in time to its former degree of prosperity. The old court house has been christened a city hall, and the old jail still serves the county in its former capacity. A fine union school house and five churches, Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Baptist and Catholic, constitute the other public buildings of the city.

The manufacturing interests of St. Clair include a large saw mill, a woolen mill, a large tannery, a shingle mill, 2 flouring mills, a foundry, an extensive carriage factory, and several brick yards. There is one national bank, and a weekly newspaper, the Republican.

St. Clair was laid out in 1828 by Thomas Palmer, of Detroit, and was for some years known as the village of Palmer. It was subsequently changed to St. Clair, and at one time promised to become a place of leading importance, its lumber business alone employing 6 mills. The exhaustion of the pine accessible was the first blow to St. Clair's prosperity, which other circumstances have followed up.

It has a daily mail. Telegraph—Western Union. Express—Canadian. Robert H. Jenks, postmaster.

ST. JAMES.

The county seat of Manitou county, a county made up from the scattering islands near the lower end of lake Michigan. St. James is a small village at the northern extremity of Beaver Island, the largest of the group. It is about 40 miles due west of Mackinaw City, and 70 due north of Traverse City. It has but little trade, and only a small population.

ST. JOHN'S.

St. John's is the county seat of Clinton county, and a flourishing village of 2,000 inhabitants on the D. & M. R. R., 98 miles from Detroit, 20 west of Owosso, and 26 east of Ionia. The village was platted in 1853, when the railroad was located, by a party of Detroit speculators who purchased the school section of Bingham township as a site, paying therefor $4 per acre. The railroad was completed to this point in 1857, when the county seat was established here, and the village incorporated. It is situated in a slightly rolling country with good agricultural advantages. Grain of all kinds is raised. The village is substantially built, its business street being mostly of brick. It contains one or more each of saw mills, flouring mills, furniture factories, sash, door and blind factories, and wooden bowl factories, also has 2 large union schools, 6 churches, a fine cemetery, and one of the best court houses in central Michigan. There are 2 weekly newspapers published here, the Republican and the Independent, also a national bank. Wheat, oats, pork, bent work and staves, etc., are among the leading articles of shipment. Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. J. M. Carter, postmaster.

ST. JOSEPH.

St. Joseph is, next to Niles, the most important place in Berrien county. It is on the shore of lake Michigan, at the mouth of the St. Joseph river, and is the great center of the fruit trade of Western Michigan. It is on the C. & M. L. S. R. R., 27 miles above New Buffalo, and 93 from Chicago by rail and 62 by lake. It claims a population of 3,400.

The village is situated on a peninsula formed by the lake and river, the surface of which forms a plateau elevated 48 to 55 feet above the water level, rendering the location a peculiarly beautiful one. The public buildings consist of 7 churches—one the Methodist Episcopal, being a very fine structure—and a large union school. There are 2 first-rate hotels, several brick business blocks, and many elegant private residences. The principal item of manufacture is the article of fruit packages and baskets, the demand for which is immense. Two establishments are very extensively engaged in this business. Then there are a sash and door factory, a planing mill, a flouring mill, and several wagon and carriage factories. A small side-wheel steamer plies regularly between St. Joseph and Chicago, making daily trips. Numerous sail vessels also trade from this port. Fruit packages and baskets are shippd hence to all parts of the United States, besides which the exports include peaches, apples, cranberries, backberries, raspberries, etc.

The fruit region par excellence of Berrien county extends about 10 miles up and down the lake shore, and for 4 miles back into the country. Within this district small fruits never fail, and are grown in immense quantities. The peculiar location of this region, in its relation to the lake, adapts it also especially to peach culture. The temperature here never falls below 3° or 4° Fah. below zero, while peach buds will stand several degrees severer cold.

The modern village of St. Joseph was first settled in 1829, Calvin Brittain and Augustus B. Newell building the first houses, though French Jessuit missionaries had occupied the location more than a century before. The village was laid out in 1831, and incorporated in 1834. It was at first called Newburyport. In 1836 the harbor piers were commenced. The Detroit & St. Joseph, now the Michigan Central, was chartered in 1831, and St. Joseph was its intended terminus till after its sale by the State to the present company in 1846, at which time it was completed only to Kalamazoo, when it was deflected southward to Niles and New Buffalo, proving a great detriment to St. Joseph. From this backset the place has been slowly but steadily recovering.

St. Joseph has a national bank, capital $100,000, and 2 newspapers--the Herald & Traveler and Republican. Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. Charles Stewart, postmaster.

SAUGATUCK.

This is an incorporated village boasting some 1,200 inhabitants and situated on the Kalamazoo river, 3 miles above its mouth, though in a direct line only ¾ of a mile from the shore of lake Michigan. The river here widens into a small lake, on the opposite shore of which is the village of Douglas. Saugatuck is in Allegan county 25 miles southwest of the county seat and 5 west of Richmond station on the C. & M. L. S. R. R., its railroad shipping point. By lake it is 87 miles from Chicago, 28 miles south of Grand Haven and 42 north of St. Joseph. It is surrounded by a rolling country possessing a light sandy loam soil admirably adapted to fruit culture. Peaches, apples, grapes and berries are cultivated. The village contains one or more each of tanneries, saw mills, planing mills, breweries, furniture factories, sash and blind factories, shingle mills, etc. Also Congregational, Episcopal and Reformed Dutch churches, and a weekly newspaper, the Lake Shore Commercial. Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. Mail—daily. V. W. Johnson, postmaster.

SAULT DE STE. MARIE.

The county seat of Chippewa county, an incorporated village of about 2,000 inhabitants, situated on St. Mary's river, the outlet of lake Superior abreast of the famous falls or rapids. It is about 350 miles from Detroit, and 170 east of Marquette. The great object of interest at the Sault is the ship canal, by means of which vessels overcome the rapids. This was completed in 1855, but the increasing trade with the lake Superior country has already outgrown its capacity, and a much more capacious lift lock is now being constructed alongside of the old canal. It is excavated in the solid rock, and will be arranged to receive two of the largest vessels and transfer them at one lift from the lower to the higher level, or vice versa. The old locks take but one vessel and two lifts are required. Both sets of locks will be employed.

Fort Brady is located just below the village, and here a small garrison is usually kept.

There is little or no manufacturing carried on here, though the unlimited water power offers rare advantages. On the Canadian side of the river, however, a large flouring mill has been erected, to be stocked with Minnesota wheat brought down from Duluth to be manufactured here for the eastern market. If this experiment proves successful it will doubtless be extended, and the Sault may in time rival Rochester, N. Y., as the "flour city" of the Union. Two saw mills are the extent of its manufactures at SOUTH HAVEN.

South Haven is an incorporated village on the shore of lake Michigan, at the mouth of Black river, in South Haven township, Van Buren county. The mouth of the river affords an excellent harbor for shipping. South Haven is the western terminus of the K. & S. H. branch of the M. C. R. R., it being 39 miles west of Kalamazoo, and 183 from Detroit. It has a population of about 2,000. Its manufacturing interests comprise 2 saw mills, 2 planing mills, a flouring mill, a woodenware factory and a basket factory. Lumber, baskets and fruit are the leading items of shipment, the soil and climate of the vicinity particularly adapting it to the culture of apples, peaches and small fruits. An incorporated nursery association has recently been organized, with a capital of $50,000. South Haven has one weekly newspaper, the Sentinel. Express—American Telegraph—Western Union. B. H. Dyckman, postmaster.

STURGIS.

Sturgis is a flourishing village, located at the intersection of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. and the G. R. & I. R. R., in the southern part of St. Joseph county, 131 miles east of Chicago, 113 west of Toledo, 152 from Detroit, 57 miles north of Fort Wayne, Ind., and 85 south of Grand Rapids. It takes its name from the late John Sturgis, a Philadelphia Quaker, who settled here in 1827. Sturgis became an incorporated village in 1855, and now boasts a population of 3,000. It possesses Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Spiritualist, Lutheran, German Reformed and Catholic churches, a very efficient school system, two excellent weekly newspapers—the Journal and the Times, a national bank, two first rate hotels, and its streets are wide and pleasantly shaded. Until recently it gave but little attention to manufacturing but its railroad advantages have attracted the notice of capitalists numerous industrial enterprises have taken root there. These include an extensive furniture factory, employing when full 75 hands and turning out 300 bedsteads a week besides other furniture; a foundry, a flouring mill, a factory for the Walker patent heat multiplier, employing when in full operation some 90 men; an Alden fruit drying establishment and one for the manufacture of fruit flour, with a capacity for producing 1,300 pounds per day, a planing mill, a sash and blind factory and some others. The revival of business activity in Sturgis is due very largely to a large capitalist who has recently located there and is devoting himself to the development of the natural advantages of the place. This is Mr. Jean H. Broadus, who has laid out an addition to the village of 140 acres and is donating manufacturing sites. An extensive chair factory is about to be erected on this plat, also a manufactory of grain scourers and prospectively an edge tool factory. Mr. Broadus will also during the current year (1875) erect 50 cottages on his addition. The future of Sturgis is hence very promising. It is surrounded by one of the finest agricultural regions in the State. Telegraph —Western Union. Express—United States.

TECUMSEH.

Tecumseh is an old wealthy and substantial settlement in the northeastern part of Lenawee county, and is one of the handsomest places in the interior of the State. It was once the county seat of Lenawee county, but the more rapid growth of Adrian took from it the county buildings. It is located on the Jackson branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., 9 miles north of Lenawee junction, and 33 miles south of Jackson. The railroad passes through the center of the town, so that the ears of the weary traveler are not saluted with the busman's cry, "hotels and private houses." Tecumseh is 38 miles from Toledo, and 66 from Detroit (via Manchester). It is on the river Raisin, which is improved for water power. It has a population of about 2,000, superior school advantages, 6 churches, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, Baptist, Univeralist and Friends, 2 weekly newspapers, the Gazette and the Post, also a monthly religious (Episcopal) journal, and a number of manufacturing establishments, including a handle factory, 2 foundries and machine shops, 2 sash, door and blind factories, a wringer factory, a stave factory, 3 flouring mills, 2 saw mills, 2 carriage factories, a horse rake factory, a tannery, a paper milll, a cider mill, and a boot and shoe factory. The surrounding country is undulating, and embraces one of the richest farming sections of the State. The finest Michigan white wheat is grown here, and the flour made from it reaches the most distant parts of the country. Telegraph—Western Union; Express—United States. Edgar A. Tribon, postmaster.

TEKONSHA.

This is a little village of about 600 inhabitants on the M. C. R. R., air line about midway between Jackson and Three Rivers. It is in the township of Tekonsha, Calhoun county, 108 miles from Detroit and 12½ due south of Marshall. The St. Joseph river affords a moderate water power. The village contains a flouring mill, two saw mills, a sash and blind factory, a weekly newspaper—the Reporter, an $18,000 union school house and three churches, Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist. In a short time Tekonsha will have another railroad in the Coldwater, Marshall & Mackinaw, now ready for the iron. Joseph Failing, postmaster.

THREE RIVERS.

Though not the county seat, Three Rivers is the leading town of St. Joseph county. It has a population of 4,000. It takes its name from the fact that it is located at the junction of the Portage, Rocky and St. Joseph rivers, which the improvements have made one of the best water powers in the country. Here, as in nearly every portion of southwestern Michigan, the quality of the soil is unsurpassed.

The town is located at the intersection of the Kalamazoo division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. and the M. C. R. R. air line, 12 miles north of White Pigeon and 25 south of Kalamazoo, 145 miles from Detroit and 127 from Chicago.

Three Rivers had railroad connection with the Southern road some 20 years ago, but proving unprofitable, the track being worn out, was taken up, and Three Rivers again became an inland town only as it was connected with Niles and St. Joseph by a small steamboat. The old road was succeeded by the Gardner road, which was subsequently sold to L. S. & M. S. R. R.

The extensive water power of Three Rivers gives it a great advantage as a manufacturing town. The principal enterprises of this nature are a mill, with $150,000 capital stock, giving employment to some 30 to 50 hands, an extensive vibrator threshing machine and agricultural implement factory, the Three Rivers manufacturing company, with a capital stock of $50,000. This company are runuing a foundry and machine shop, and making a specialty of an elevated railroad sawing machine, a parallel gang-edger and a gang lath mill, four pump factories, 3 flouring mills, a saw mill, 3 carriage and wagon factories, a corn sheller and smut machine factory, 2 planing mills, sash and blind factories and fruit drying establishments.

Three Rivers also has its mineral springs, said to possess mineral properties well calculated to restore the victims of rheumatism and dyspepsia to soundness again.

The public buildings consist of two good union and one ward school building, giving employment to some 16 or 18 teachers, and 7 churches—Presbyterian, Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal, Lutheran, Baptist, Protestant Methodist and Reformed—several of which are very fine edifices. The Reporter and Herald furnish the local reading. Wilber H Clute, postmaster.

TRAVERSE CITY.

Traverse City is the county seat of Grand Traverse county. It has a population of about 1,500, and is situated at the head of the west arm of Grand Traverse bay, and at the mouth of the Boardman river, which furnishes a first-rate water power at this point. The village is in Traverse township, in the northwest part of the county, and is reached by both rail and water. There are several lines of stages diverging from it to the various towns around. Traverse City is distant from Detroit 269 miles, from Grand Rapids 140 miles, and is about 40 miles east of Frankfort, on the shore of lake Michigan. It has enjoyed railway facilities but a short time, the Traverse City branch of the G. R. & I. R. R. having been completed and put in operation only since Jan. 1, 1873. The place was first settled in 1851, and now contains one large saw mill, an extensive flouring mill, both owned by Messrs. Hannah, Lay & Co., the founders of the village, who have here also an extensive general store. There are also a foundry and machine shop, a planing mill and sash factory, the usual complement of stores and shops, and two enterprising and well conducted weekly newspapers—the Traverse Bay Eagle and the Grand Traverse Herald.

The village has 5 hotels, one splendid one, the Campbell House, lately built and adapted equally to the wants of the traveling business community and the summer tourists and pleasure seekers, large numbers of whom are annually drawn hither by the many attractions to be found in the Grand Traverse region. It is also the location of the U. S. Land Office for the Traverse City district. The surrounding country is fertile and produces large quantities of winter wheat and potatoes, also oats, corn, etc. Pine and hardwood lumber is manufactured to some extent here and in the vicinity. The shipments consist mainly of lumber, flour and potatoes. Express—United States. Telegraph—Western Union. Samuel C. Fuller, postmaster.

TRENTON.

One of the most promising little towns in eastern Michigan is the village of Trenton, situated in the township of Monguagon, Wayne county, on the Detroit river, 15 miles below Detroit. The banks rising about ten feet above the river, give it a beautiful river front, with a fine view of Grosse Isle lying right across the American channel. It has a present population of 1,100, with fair prospects of a continued growth. Its communication with the outer world is ample, with its boat line, the L. S. & M. S. and the Canada Southern railroads, both of which pass along side by side by its western border. All that is needed to make it a first-class village is a few more large manufacturing interests, and there are few places where they would be more encouraged. J. M. McPhee & Bro, builders, who own a large amount of river front, offer to put up all the necessary buildings, and ensure a free lease of the same and all the river front needed for ten years, to any manufacturing enterprise that will bind itself to employ from 150 to 400 men. The present manufacturing enterprises consist of a large shipyard, two saw mills, a large cheese hoop factory, a picture back manufactory, a sash, blind and door manufactory, a large flouring mill, a potash manufactory, and an agricultural handle and general agricultural works.

The public buildings consist of two public halls, school edifices, and three churches, Episcopal, Catholic and Methodist. Trenton is the point at which the C. S. R. R. crosses the Detroit river, the American channel being bridged and the Canadian ferried. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific, and Western Union. Express, American and United States. Jonathan Hudson, postmaster.

UNION CITY.

Union City, in Union township, Branch county, is a thriving village of 1,200 inhabitants, situated at the junction of the St.

Joseph and Coldwater rivers, and 41 miles west of Jackson on the M. C. R. R. air line. It is 13 miles northwest of Coldwater and 117 miles from Detroit. Of the surrounding country the same may be said of it as may be said of the entire country traversed by the Air Line division from Jackson to Niles. It is certainly one of the richest portions of Michigan, well adapted to the growth of every class of farming products.

The rivers forming a junction here furnish a good water power, which has been very well utilized. The manufacturing enterprises of the town consist of a foundry and machine shop, an extensive clothes-pin factory, 2 flouring mills, a saw mill, 2 planing mills and sash, door and blind factories, a stave factory, an artificial leg manufactory, also a large carriage factory.

In school buildings the town is rather behind the age, having nothing but an old wooden building. The religious wants of the people are carefully looked after by the Congregationalists, Methodists, and Episcopalians, each of whom have good edifices, the first being a very fine brick. A good weekly newspaper is published here, called the Register. Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. Jerome Bowen, postmaster.

UTICA.

Utica is a growing village on the D. & B. C. R. R., in Shelby and Sterling townships, Macomb county, 24 miles north of Detroit, and 9 west of Mt. Clemens. It is on Clinton river, and on the line of the old Clinton & Kalamazoo canal, which though not now used for navigation purposes, affords a magnificent water power, upon which 2 flouring mills are maintained. The place was settled as early as 1817, and was years ago connected with Detroit by railway, known as the Detroit & Shelby R. R. It was a strap rail. The ties rotted out, and the road was abandoned, the traffic of the country not warranting its renewal. The road bed is now used in part by the D. & B. C. R. R. Utica now contains a population of 800. It ships flour, lumber and cheese. Express, American. Telegraph, Atlantic & Pacific. Alex. Grant, postmaster.

WALLED LAKE.

Walled Lake is a village of 200 inhabitants, in the town of Commerce, Oakland county, 14 miles southwest of Pontiac, and 2¼ east of Wixom, on the F. & P. M. R. R., with which a line of stages connects it. The place takes its name from the lake upon which it is situated, which in turn derives its name from a curious rock formation at its lower end, which the antiquarians and geologists have never yet come to a satisfactory conclusion in regard to—as to whether it is a natural formation produced by the action of ice on a remnant of the work of prehistoric man. It has excited a good deal of discussion, and drawn to the locality many curious visitors. This, with the natural beauty of the place, the fine fishing in the lake, and its ready accessibility by rail, have made Walled Lake quite a popular place of summer resort, and an excellent hotel is maintained there. There are Methodist and Baptist churches in the village, a saw mill, etc. It has a daily mail. Roswell Weaver, postmaster.

WHITEHALL.

Whitehall is prettily located on the east shore of White lake, in the northern part of Muskegon county, 5 miles from lake Michigan, and 14 miles north of Muskegon. White lake is a beautiful sheet of water, 5 miles in length by one or two in breadth, formed by a widening of White river near its mouth, and it affords one of the safest and best harbors on that shore. Prior to 1870 this lake was closed to navigation on account of the shallow water at its mouth, but a congressional appropriation of $112,000, with $20,000 additional of private capital, opened a new channel to the lake of sufficient depth to admit the largest steamers. On the banks of White lake there are located 25 steam saw mills, having an aggregate capacity of 100,000,000 feet of lumber, 30,000,000 shingles, and 15,000,000 lath. The C. & M. L. S. R. R. passes through Whitehall, via which the place is 28 miles south of Pentwater, and 142 north of New Buffalo. It was platted in 1859, and originally called Mears. In 1867 its name was changed to Whitehall, and it was incorporated. It now numbers some 1,500 inhabitants. It has 5 churches, a graded school employing 5 teachers, a bank, a weekly newspaper, the Forum, a tannery doing a business of $100,000 a year, 9 saw and 4 shingle mills. The building improvements made during 1874 alone reached bout $250,000. Considerable fruit is raised n the vicinity of Whitehall, and enters into he shipments from that port. Express, American. Telegraph, Western Union. Paul J. Hedges, postmaster.

WRIGHT'S BRIDGE,

A postoffice in Midland county, 3 miles north of Sanford, on the F. & P. M. R. R., from whence it receives a semi-weekly mail. It is in a heavy lumbering country.

WYANDOTTE.

The second city in importance in Wayne county, is situated on the Detroit river, 12 miles below Detroit and near the head of Grosse Isle. It is in the township of Ecorse, and was platted in 1854 by the Eureka Iron Company, who had here established a blast furnace. In 1867 it became incorporated as a city, and now numbers over 3,500 inhabitants. The secret of its growth has been the manufacturing enterprises established here. A second blast furnace was erected by the late Capt. E. B. Ward, and extensive rolling mills were put in operation by the Wyandotte Rolling Mill Company, the capital of which is $1,000,000, and which employs constantly some 500 hands. At these mills every branch of the business is conducted, including merchant iron, railroad iron and boiler plate. Extensive stove works have been established within the past few years, also a ship yard for the construction of iron vessels. Very extensive silver smelting and refining works are also carried on here, the supply of ore for which is brought from Lake Superior and Utah. Besides these there is a saw mill and three lumber dressing establishments. Its material interests also include a savings bank, $50,000 capital, a good hotel, a weekly newspaper, the Wayne County Courier, a public hall, 2 union schools of brick, and 7 churches (Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, 2 Catholic and 2 Lutheran). The L. S. & M. S. R. R. and the Detroit branch of the Chicago & Canada Southern R. R., give connections with Detroit and Toledo, and all points North South, East and West. O. D. Hibbard, postmaster.

YPSILANTI.

Ypsilanti is on the Huron river and the M. C. R. R., 30 miles west of Detroit. It is in he east central part of Washtenaw county and 8 miles east of Ann Arbor, the county seat. It is the point of divergence of the D., H. & S. W. R. R. from the Michigan Central, connecting it with Hillsdale, Logansport and Indianapolis.

At an early day the present site of Ypsilanti was a popular trading ground with the Indians, and in 1811 Godfroy, Pepin and Le Chambre, a firm of French fur traders procured a grant of 2,500 acres at this point from the general government. It was 1823 before a road was cut through from Detroit to the location and before any regular settlement was made. It was then called Woodruff's Grove. Two years later parties in Detroit bought out the interests of Godfroy, Pepin and Le Chambre and platting the village named it in honor of the then famous Greek revolutionary leader, Ypsilanti. It was chartered as a village in 1832. In 1838 the Michigan Central was opened to it. In the same year crime became so prevalent in it from its frontier position that a vigilance committee had to be organized and sharp measures threatened if not carried out. In 1849 Ypsilanti secured the location there of the State Normal School, the consideration being the site and $13,500 in money. The city has since enjoyed a steady, healthy growth and by the census of 1874 was shown to number 5,211 inhabitants, though the population is popularly claimed to be over 6,000.

Ypsilanti possesses a fine water power and this has given it great advantages for the manufacture of paper, a branch in which, it is stated, it is surpassed by but one or two other places in the entire country. There are three paper mills, having a united capacity of 15 tons per day. There is also a machine shop for the manufacture of paper mill machinery, 10 flouring mills, a woolen factory, 3 sash, door and blind factories, an extensive carriage factory and a number of smaller manufacturing interests.

There is a national bank, capital $75,000, and one private bank of large means, and 2 newspapers—the Commercial republican, and the Sentinel democratic. Besides the Normal School, Ypsilanti has a large union school and 8 churches, distributed among the Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal denominations. The city is lighted with gas and water works are talked of. In the distant future Ypsilanti looks forward to becoming the county seat of a new county to be carved out of the eastern tier of townships of Washtenaw and a considerable slice of Wayne county. Clinton Spencer, postmaster.

Brown Sheetings,

Under the Brands of

"GARDNER A," and "MICHIGAN A."

Western Merchants should examine these NEW STANDARD SHEETINGS, made at Jonesville, Mich. These Goods are far superior to Indian Head and other Eastern Standards, being made of the BEST QUALITY of LONG staple COTTON, upon the NEWEST and MOST IMPROVED MACHINERY, producing a SOFT TWIST yarn and even threaded goods, which are more durable than the "HARD TWIST" sheeting, made from SHORT staple Cotton. For Sale by all leading Western Jobbers.
